The Weather
—o—
Cloudy Showery Weather Tonight and Tuesday.

"FLOWING GOLD"
By REX BEACH
Now Appearing in The Bee

The Bee.

THE HOME PAPER
2,500 MORE BEES SOLD DAILY THAN THERE ARE HOMES IN DANVILLE

Daily Comic Page

FOUNDED FEBRUARY, 1899. NO. 7,747. DANVILLE, VA., MONDAY AFTERNOON, JUNE 11, 1923 PRICE: TWO CENTS

PAR CLEARANCE SYSTEM APPROVED

U.S. Supreme Court Decision Rendered In Virginia's Case

Justice Brandeis Disapproves Legality of Claims Made by Contesting Country Banks.

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, June 11.—Methods used by the Federal Reserve banks in Georgia and Virginia to compel banks which are not members of that system to cash at par checks drawn on them by depositors which reach Federal Reserve banks for collection or clearance were approved by the Supreme court today in cases brought against the Federal Reserve banks at Atlanta and Richmond, Va.

Justice Brandeis delivering the opinion, said that Congress had not imposed on the Federal Reserbe bank the duty to collect all checks at par and did no impose on such banks a duty to introduce par clearance against the wishes of some of the banks affected. Justices Van Devanter and Sutherland dissented. The American Bank and Trust Company and other banks of Georgia, and the Farmers and Merchants' banks, of Monroe, and other North Carolina banks contested the authority of the Federal Reserve banks at Atlanta and Richmond to require them to cash checks drawn on them without charging any commission or exchange for their services. The Federal courts in Georgia and the North Carolina state courts, declared that under the Federal Reserve act, the Federal Reserve bank had authority to sustain the position they had taken and that the 'country banks', not members of the Federal Reserve system, must cash at par all checks drawn on them and cleared through the Federal Reserve banks. Justice Brandeis declared in his opinion, said that in North Carolina cases, the law of that state with regard to method of payment was valid and that the state statute was constitutional.

France Rebuffed In First Test Of Ship Liquor Edict

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, June 11.—The first international complication to result from enforcement of the new ship liquor regulations developed today when the French embassy took up with treasury officials the question of releasing from customs seals enough wine to supply the regular ration to the crew of the liner France in New York harbor. The embasy is understood to have taken the position that since the France sailed from her port prior to June 10th, the effective date of the new regulation, these regulations do not apply to her and the ship is permitted to serve wine to her crew under the same practice as obtained before the ship liquor edict of the Supreme Court was put into effect.

After a hurried conference of customs and "dry" officials at the Treasury it was indicated that the French construction of the regulations did not accord with that of the American government and that there would be no relaxation.

Factor's Presence At Bandits' Camp Was a Godsend

By J. B. POWELL
(Copyright, 1123, Chicago Tribune.)

PAOTZUKU, BANDIT CAMP, SHANTUNG, June 10—Via Tsaochwang, June 9—Father Rudolph, a medical missionary left here today on the bandits objection to his presence here any more. His visit was a godsend. The camp was turned into a hospital as soon as it was learned that a doctor was here. The missionary became so busy that he disrupted the camp discipline.

Almost every possible form of disease has been treated here during the two days the doctor was here since the Chinese captives were also brought from the mountaintop to the temple camp. Women and children appeared with ailments pitiful to behold. One boy had pleurisy, another had hernia, a dozen had skin diseases and there was a bandit who had blood poison following a gunshot wound. One captive had a cancer on his back while two lepers were included among the patients.

The bandits are developing intense anti-foreign feeling and are treating the captives like dogs, showing their contempt in many ways and making it difficult to stand the situation much longer. Although Father Rudolph came primarily at the pope's bidding to relieve the captives, he interested himself in procuring the release of the children who had long been captive—some of whom were nearly dead from starvation.

Owing to the influx of Chinese from the mountain top, the sanitary situation is steadily growing worse with the intense heat. The camp is swarming with disease-carrying flies which devour everything. The bandits tonight procured an unlimited supply of samshu, making the night hideous with their revels and further displaying their contempt of foreigners.

Our jailers seem to be the worst of all the bandits, being totally indifferent to our release or the terms offered. Our food supplies failed to arrive today again. Every case is opened by the bandits in search for hidden arms. Our failures to receive our food was despite the increased supplies for the bandits which the American relief mission is sending them in an effort to save us from starving.

John Dix Lands In Joils Again

John Dix seems to find it difficult to keep his name off the police court blotter. This time, Dix, who some time ago, completed a twelve months' term in jail which he served, rather than be exiled from Danville for thirty years, is charged with engaging in a fight with his wife. The case has been set for a hearing on Thursday. The charge for which he served the year was on a general charge of bad fame and character, including bootlegging and maintaining a disorderly house. Dix appeared in court today with a bad cut on his face.

Officers stated this morning that Dix was the first man who preferred being in jail to being out on bond. Dix, it is said insisted on going to jail Saturday night, because he said, he dreaded to return home to his wife.

Rumanian Queen Sends Her Thanks For America's Aid

Mme. Marie Jonescu, Delivering Her First Address at Spray, N. C., Reads Message From Ruler.

(Special to The Bee.)

SPRAY, N. C., June 11.—More than three hundred people from North Carolina and Virginia attended a lecture here on Saturday afternoon given by Madame Marie Jonescu, of Rumania, personal emissary in the United States of Queen Marie of Rumania and who spent the week-end with Mrs. B. Frank Mebane. Madame Jonescu is sister-in-law of Take Jonescu, late premier of Rumania and a sister-in-law of the Rumanian ambassador to Belgium. She arrived in America at the end of last week proceeding from New York to Mrs. Mebane's home here, arriving here on Saturday. Today she left for Richmond where she will be entertained and where she will deliver another of her series of lectures on Rumania and Byzantine arc of which she is a student. From Richmond she intends visiting several of the larger cities for lectures and she will sail from New York for Europe in September.

Madame Jonescu's visit to America was arranged last summer by Mrs. Mebane who returned to Europe and was the guest of Queen Marie. At the close of the war Mrs. Mebane became interested in the serious question of infantile destitution in that country and with Mrs. Lindsey Patterson she toured the South, delivered lectures and raised a substantial sum which she carried to the Rumania capital and delivered in the name of the American people to the queen. The distinguished visitor is here for the dual purpose of returning thanks in the name of the queen to thousands of Americans who gave to that fund and for the purpose of lecturing on Rumania.

In opening her address here on Saturday, Mme. Jonescu delivered the message from the queen as follows:

"A greeting to my far-off friends of great America."

"Although far away I am with them this evening. May they find in this book about Rumania all sacred thoughts of affection and pity for those who suffer which binds my heart to the great warm and understanding heart of America."

(Signed) MARIE,
Queen of Rumania.

The book to which reference is made is one written by the queen in collaboration with Mme. Jonescu and one which portrays the history of Rumania and its art.

The European visitor spoke feelingly in her address on the work done through America's largesse among the orphans in Rumania of which there were 700,000 when appeals began to be made for them. She said that Queen Marie had been greatly touched by the response made in this country and that it was instrumental in a new bond of friendship between the two countries.

At the close of her lecture, Mme. Jonescu who is a recognized literateure, met many of the people who had motored here to Mrs. Mebane's home to hear her. She left today for Richmond, where she will be the guest of Mrs Malvin Patterson. She will later tour through the West and will also speak in New York, Boston, Chicago and Newport.

Life Insurance—"Buy from Bass."

LIBRARY PROJECT IS ABANDONED

IN MEMORY OF FALLEN HEROES

A giant wreath in the shape of an anchor was lowered in Los Angeles harbor from the deck of the U. S. S. Nevada, in memory of American sailors who died in service. American Legion Post 177 conducted the ceremonies.

Supt. Griggs Shows Deplorable Lack of School Facilities

Meeting of Advertising Committee Was Held This Morning—General Committee Will Gather for Consultation Wednesday Morning.

At a meeting this morning of the advertising committee in charge of publicity of the school bond issue advertising was prepared for the campaign of education which is to be carried until next Tuesday, June 19, the date of the election.

Another meeting of the general committee, composed of representatives of all the civic organizations of the city has been called for Wednesday morning at 10 o'clock. At this meeting further plans will be considered to get out as large a vote as possible for bonds. Plans for a parade of school children on Monday morning, June 18, will also be discussed.

Handbills, showing the deplorably crowded condition of the public schools, inadequate facilities and the fact that 2,000 children cannot enter school because there is no room for them, as well as half-time instruction for a large percentage of children, will be distributed all over the city.

The following report on the present condition of the schools has just been made by Superintendent W. C. Griggs:

On June 19th the voters of the City of Danville will decide for or against a $350,000 bond issue for school improvement purposes. This is one of the most important matters this City will have to consider for some time. It is feared that the patrons of the schools and the public generally are not sufficiently concerned over the needs of the schools. In the elementary schools there are over six hundred pupils who are permitted to spend but one-half of their time in school for the reason that rooms must accommodate one group of children in the forenoon and another in the afternoon. As these children get but half-time instruction, a result is that many fail to get promotion. This causes many children to become retarded and ultimately tire of going to school. Danville has about 1800 boys and girls who do not offer to go to school. Should all of the school population attempt to attend school it would take, it is stated by the members of the Board of Education, at least 45 more rooms than we now have.

The high school situation is one of the most serious problems. At present there are 650 pupils enrolled in the white high school. The building cannot adequately accommodate more than 300 pupils. In order to attempt to serve the excessive number, classes are conducted in the basement rooms and in the study hall. In this building there is no space for lockers. Pupils have no place to leave cloaks, books, hats, or overshoes. The result is that these articles are misplaced and lost frequently. It is obvious that pupils are not happy in their school life under these conditions and satisfactory work cannot be done. The high school has no lunch room. Pupils are compelled to leave the building and seek food at cheap lunch stands or walk a long distance to their homes. The high school has no auditorium. The various school activities necessitate auditorium facilities. A high school cannot maintain a good atmosphere or morale unless its members can assemble in their own building from time to time. During the year that has just closed it was necessary to rent a down town theatre for entertainments given by the pupils. The cost in this is exceeding and the difficulties too great.

Danville has less than $90,000 of bonds issued for school purposes. The bonded indebtedness of the city is low. The credit of the city is good. School bonds would be bought quickly. Surely the voters of the city will vote for the bonds and do everything in their power to give the boys and the girls of the city a better chance than the present conditions offer.

The School Board has made a very careful study of the conditions and is conservative in its estimates. The money if voted, cannot be spent for any other purpose than for school buildings and equipment. It will be spent by the Board of Education as the law directs.

W. E. GRIGGS,
Superintendent.

Will Seek Repeal Of Auto Liability Insurance Law At Council Meeting

A determined effort will be made tonight at the meeting of the city council to secure the repeal of the automobile liability insurance ordinance which requires of each licensed driver a maximum indemnity of $10,000.

The Automotive association of this city is 100 per cent. back of the repeal, each member having signed a petition to that effect. In addition a committee from the Automotive association has secured the signatures of between 1,000 and 1,200 citizens of the city to a petition which begs the repeal of the law.

The members of the committee of the Automotive association will appear before council tonight and state their case. The members of the committee follow: Strathmore Owen, R. E. Baumann, Lee Wilson and C. K. Carter.

The attitude taken by the Automotive association is that the ordinance will increase rather than reduce the number of accidents, since drivers who are inclined to irresponsibility will, as soon as they are indemnified, drive with less caution. Without liability insurance drivers would stand stand a chance of losing their car, at least, should they injure anyone, but with the insurance this loss would be sustained by the insurance company.

It will be urged that instead of the liability insurance council pass an ordinance requiring every driver of a car to secure a permit, and to pay more for these permits, thus raising more money with which to employ more traffic officers; that traffic regulations be rigorously enforced; that drivers who violate regulations be penalized by taking away their permits for a period of 90 days to six months.

The idea is to reduce automobile accidents by a more vigorous enforcement of regulations and to attain this by the employment of more traffic cops.

N. C. Dry Agents Busy In May

(By The Associated Press)

SALISBURY, N. C., June 11.—Federal prohibition agents operating in North Carolina captured 144 illicit distilleries during May and poured out 1,740 gallons of liquor and 102,515 gallons of beer, according to announcement today by the state prohibition directors. These figures indicate slight increase over previous months this year. Eight automobiles were seized and 47 arrests were made.

Town Topics

John Emory Spear who, with Eugene Rice, left Danville several weeks ago in his "flivver" for a transcontinental tour, has written to his parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Spear, stating that he is in Los Angeles and that they intend driving up through the northwest Vancouver, British Columbia being his next stop. In his letter he told of his experiences during an hour's airplane ride.

—o—

George Savage, Jr., two-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. George Savage, who was run over a few days ago by a car driven by J. D. Bennett, is improving at Edmunds Hospital. It has now developed that the little boy did not suffer a fractured skull as was at first feared. In addition to a ruptured eardrum he was badly bruised and shocked. No bones were broken. Mr. Savage, physical irector of the Y. M. C. A., who was at Camp Kent when word of the accident reached him, was starting on a long hike but at once cancelled his plans and returned. He had investigated the accident and is convinced that it as unavoidable and that Mr. Bennett is blameless in the accident.

—o—

Edwin Harvie, a well-known young Danville boy, is at home on a short visit He is soon to leave Danville for China where he will spend the next four years associated with the British-American Tobacco Company, which is constantly sending young men to the far east to assist in teaching orientals the art of handling tobacco All of his plans have been made and, with superstition and bandits meaning nothing in his young life, he will sail for Shanghai from Seattle on Friday, July 13th.

—o—

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Walter Read, of Middleboro, Mass., have issued invitations to the wedding of their daughter, Miss Madeline Merle Read to Edwin Baylies Meade, son of Mr. and Mrs. Julian Meade of this city. The ceremony is to take place at the bride's home at Battleboro, on Saturday, June 23rd, at 8:30 o'clock.

—o—

The first Tri-City League of golf tournament of the season will be held here on June 16th when representatives from the golf clubs of Greensboro, Winston-Salem, N. C., and Danville will meet on the Stokesland links. The first of these inter-city tournaments was held last year, Greensboro being proclaimed the winner. After the Danville tournament other meetings will be held at Winston and at Greensboro during the course of the playing season.

—o—

Kingman Shelburne, son of Dr. and Mrs. Shelburne, arrived this morning from Baltimore where he has been supervising instructor in the Maryland Institute for the Blind. Mr. Shelburne will spend a week here and will then proceed to Charlottesville where he expects to enroll in the University of Virginia Summer School and to obtain his Master's degree.

—o—

Rev. Malcolm S. Taylor, rector of Epiphany church announced to his congregation yesterday that he would be absent from the city next Sunday but that morning services would be held. There will be no night service. Rev. Mr. Taylor is going to Princeton to attend the twentieth reunion of his class—the class of 1903 known as "Woodrow's First Born" because this class was the first one to graduate under the college presidency of Mr. Wilson. The reunion will start on Friday and will continue through to Monday.

—o—

Park Springs which recently opened for the Summer season, was largely patronised on Sunday by Danville people and motor parties from other surrounding communities. During the late evening several hundred people were at the resort, many of them bathing in the pool and others boating. Some of the visitors carried basket lunches with them and spent the day in the open.

—o—

Frank Talbott, superintendent of public utilities is in Richmond today for the purpose of consulting a specialist. He expects also to attend the meeting of the Board of Trustees of the Randolph Macon system at Ashland.

—o—

Dr. and Mrs. Basil Jones are in Danville visiting Dr. Jones' parents, Mr. and Mrs. R. J. Jones. They drove to Danville from Los Angeles in their car making the long journey in leisurely stages, the trip consuming three weeks.

—o—

Greensboro N. C., has been invited to become a member of the Appalachian Golf League. At the recent annual tournament held here, Bluefield, W. Va., tendered its resignation from the league, owing to its remoteness to the other cities in the league. While no reply has been received from Greensboro, it is understood that the offer will be accepted.

—o—

It was erroneously stated in Saturday's Bee that James A. Stone, defendant in the $20,000 action brought by C. B. Smith for alleged slander, had to pay the costs, though the jury in the case returned for the defendant. The costs in the case, which were heavy, will be paid by C. B. Smith and not by Mr. Stone.

—o—

The Ladies' Aid Society of Union Hill Baptist church will give a lawn party on Tuesday night at the home of J. A. Dillard on Union Hill.

—o—

Main Street Methodist Church on Sunday observed Children's Day at which time a special program was given in which the children of the Sunday School took part.

—o—

The Masonic Building Corporation has installed over the entrance to the stairways red electric lights, these burning day and night and pointing out the emergency exits.

—o—

The city council will meet at eight o'clock tonight for the transaction of its regular monthly meeting. The budget of business to be transacted is not a long one.

—o—

—Sergeant and Mrs R. W. Younger, who have been visiting Mr and Mrs. Laurence K. Ferguson on Stokes street, have returned to their home in Greensboro.

Donor Withdraws; Letter to Be Read to Council Tonight

Miss Bland Schoolfield Thinks Abandonment Is Best for All Parties Concerned—Thinks Council "Does Not Desire to Carry Out Contract."

Chances of Danville receiving a public library as a free gift faded this afternoon when the Bee secured the text of a letter from Miss Bland Schoolfield which will be presented at the meeting of the city fathers to be held at eight tonight. The letters declares that it "seems to me best for all parties concerned that the entire project be abandoned."

Miss Schoolfield authorized the publication of the letter appended here below in order "to avoid inconvenience to a number of people."

The letter in full is as follows:

"To the President and Members of the Council of the City of Danville:

"I have considered very carefully the question of the construction of a public library in accordance with the contract entered into between us under date of February, 1923. As you well know, I had made all necessary plans and arrangements and was ready to begin work the latter part of May.

"The work was held up without my consent or approval, and up to the present time, no definite action has been taken in regard to it. I have recently seen a statement which showed that the Confederate Committee were unable to reach an agreement and Mr. Conway, as an individual, would make certain recommendations to the Council.

"I have repeatedly urged upon the City authorities the necessity for prompt and definite action as to the entire project, but for some reason no special meeting of the Council was called. The delay in the matter has now reached the point where it seems to me reasonably apparent that the Council does not desire to carry out the contract between us in accordance with its terms.

"I have never had any desire to force upon the City of Danville anything that they do not wish to have and it, therefore, seems to me but right and fair that the expenses and amounts due other people for their services to this time should be refunded by the City and I, therefore, respectfully request that a resolution be passed cancelling the contract and agreement, so far as I am concerned, but that the expenses incurred by me be refunded.

"I will be glad to submit an itemized statement of these expenses promptly to such City officials as is authorized to dispose of the matter. I have requested my attorney, Mr. Harris, to submit this statement to the Council. So as to avoid inconvenience to a number of people, I have requested him to make this statement public prior to the meeting of the Council tonight.

"Very respectfully yours,
"BLAND SCHOOLFIELD."

Enquiry as to efforts quietly made to bring about a change in the originally suggested site of the library revealed today that no representations were ever made to Miss Schoolfield until after the city council had bound itself to a contract with Miss Schoolfield and until City Auditor R. P. Moss called her by telephone and instructed her that all formalities had been concluded and that she was then free to proceed with the work. Mrs. M. R. Perkinson identified with the United Daughters of the Confederacy did communicate with her and suggest that a conference be held with a view to the location of the library at another place.

On Saturday evening a statement was issued by the Anne Eliza Johns Chapter, U. D. C., the Danville Chapter U. D. C. and the Ladies' Memorial Association in which it was stated that "many quiet efforts had been made to influence the donors."

French Will Not Reply To Note

(By The Associated Press)

PARIS, June 11.—No reply to the recent German note is considered so far as France is concerned it was announced today but if the allies desire to improve the opportunity to resume a general discussion of the reparations question France is ready. A reply by the allies in common it is held in official circles would require several weeks of negotiations because of the impossibility of their uniting in an answer until they come to an arrangement. The only united action by the allies now feasible in the view of France, it was said, would be a common notice to Germany that she must cease her passive resistance to the execution of the Versailles treaty. Afterwards the allies would have the leisure to go over the problem, but France will insist that if the discussions are resumed they proceed on the basis of the French condition as set forth in Paris last Janutry. This means that France at present is still unwilling to make further concession in order to render a united reply by the allies possible

Inter-City Road Meet To Be Held In Reidsville

Although it has been announced that the Danville-Reidsville highway will not be completed so that the proposed celebration may be held July 4th, plans are being made for the celebration, which will be held immediately following the completion of the road

Relative to this inter-city celebration Secretary Henry B. Watkins, of the Chamber of Commerce, has received a letter from Thomas P. Turner, secretary of the Reidsville Commercial and Agricultural Association asking him to notify the Rotary and Kiwanis clubs and other local organizations to send representative committees to Reidsville to attend a meeting to be held in the Chamber of Commerce rooms Tuesday night, June 12, at 8 o'clock. At this meeting a definite date for the celebration will be set and the various committees will be appointed to make arrangements for the celebration. Speakers will be engaged and the place of the celebration will be decided upon.

Secretary Watkins is also in receipt of a letter from the management of Guerrant Springs, placing a request before the Chamber of Commerce that the celebration be held there. Guerrant Springs is located three miles from Ruffin, midway point on the road connecting the two cities.

Congress May Be Asked To Take a Hand In Junket

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, June 11.—Prediction that there will be a congressional demands for an explanation of the waste of taxpayers' money unless Chairman Lasker abandons his proposed trial trip on the Leviathan was made in a published report today by the Democratic National Committee.

Referring to arrangements for a sixday trial trip for the ship after her reconditioning for the trans-Atlantic passenger service is completed at Boston, the committee said "an investigation of this 'junket de luxe' is certain to be forced by the Democrats in the next Congress. Republican politicians of the practical type are angry at Chairman Lasker for embarrassing the administration and the party and they are permitting expression of their feeling to each the White House. These Republicans foresee that radicals and progressives will sponsor proposals for drastic cuts in taxes as soon as the next Congress convenes in December and that Secretary Mellon, Senator Smoot and other spokesmen of the administration will be expected to defeat any such program.

W. M. Perry Reaches Virgin Isles and Soon Finds Two Former Danville Men

(Following is a mailed despatch from W. M. Perry, former Pittsylvania demonstrator, which arrived today from the Virgin Islands where he recently was appointed on an agricultural mission.)

BY W. M. PERRY

ST. CROIX, Virgin Island, June 1—Here I am in the Virgin Islands After a fine trip through the West Indes, I landed safely on the 23rd of the month. Our first stop after leaving Norfolk was at Guantanamo, Cuba. Here was our first reminder of the tropics which carried me back to the thoughts of Africa. It was not the population, but the varied tropical fruits. Since the transport made its stop at the naval base we had no opportunity to prowl around very much to learn much of the island. From Cuba we sailed east and stopped at Port au Prince Haiti. Here we noted very primitive methods of marketing. Women were seated over an area of land, equivalent to two acres offering their wares for sale. Every [illegible] product of the island was found. The modern part of the town, however, was found fairly clean. Evidently Volsteadism had not struck this town for the first sign that met my eyes, was genuine Old Scotch. That, however, did not interest me. We left after a brief stay, sailing around north stopping at Cape Haitian, Puerto Plata, then around the eastern end of the Dominican Republic to Santa Domingo. Many things of interest were noted enroute. At the latter place we were taken through the cathedral. In a prominent place was seen the casket said to contain the bones of Columbus. A plate on the door showed the resting place of [illegible] Some priceless pictures [illegible] protected by doors [illegible] were seen. The splendor of the cathedral cannot be described. One stands in awe beholding the [illegible] work of the artisan [illegible]

Leaving Santo Domingo we are [illegible] Sunday [illegible] we drew into what is said to be the best harbor in the West Indies [illegible] St. Thomas. Here I left my [illegible] travel to [illegible] opportunity to cross over to St. Croix, my headquarters. Fortunately [illegible]

(Continued on Page Four [illegible])

NewspaperARCHIVE®

BRYAN'S STATE MAY FOLLOW UP NEW YORK LEAD

(By Chicago Tribune Service.)

OMAHA, Neb., June 9.—Nebraska, home of the staunch prohibitionist—William Jennings Bryan—and noted for its impregnable legal bars against intoxicating liquor, has suddenly indicated a desire to follow the suit of New York State in laughing up the sleeve at Volstead.

Don Re Debow, secretary of the National Liberty League, is behind the "wet" move. He is securing contributions to defray the expense of bringing Governor Smith of New York to address a mass-meeting in the city auditorium.

Listed among those who are said to have already contributed to this cause are Mayor James Dahlman and City Commissioners Henry Dunn and Joseph Koutsky.

According to Debow the league plans to proceed with a referendum on the Nebraska prohibition act at the November election and to strive to arouse sentiment which will result in sending congressmen from this State who will favor modification of the eighteenth amendment. The league also expects to remove the present State ban on dispensation of liquor through druggists and physicians for medical purposes.

HEFLIN ATTACKS HARDING REGIME

(By The Associated Press).

VINCENNES, Ind., June 9.— The Republican Party of today is diametrically opposed to the principles for which Abraham Lincoln stodd United States Senator Thomas F. Heflin, of Alabama, declared in an address today at the annual mid-summer meeting of the Indiana Democratic Editorial Association. Senator Heflin attacked the administration of President Harding, declaring it has done more to destroy confidence in the justice of free constitutional government in America than any administration that has ever preceded it."

Senator Heflin's speech was the closing feature of the meeting. He was introduced by United States Senator-elect Samuel M. Ralston of Indiana, who in a brief address charged the Republican party with being a "spend thrift." He declared that if it was an individual a court of equity would put it under guardianship so that it could not manage its own business.

"Direct Action" cooking with a Lorain Heat Regulator is a pleasure. Experience unnecessary. Aluminum preserving set free this week with each sale. Clements Chism and Parker.
6-10 R and B

They all know the value of

Resinol

This soothing healing ointment is for the use of every member of the family because the same properties that make it so effective for skin troubles, make it ideal for

Burns, Cuts, Scratches, Wounds, Sores, Boils, Felons, Pimples, Cold-sores, Chafings, Stings, Piles

At all druggists.

Finals At V. M. I. Began Sat. With Review of Corps

LEXINGTON, Va., June 9.—Finals at the Virginia Military Institute began with a review of the corps of cadets this afternoon on the hill by the superintendent, General E. W. Nichols, and with the opening hop in the gymnasium tonight.

Tomorrow morning Bishop Warren A. Candler, of the Methodist Episcopal church, South, will preach the baccalaureate sermon in the Jackson Memorial Hall. Music will be by the cadet choir.

Governor E. Lee Trinkle, of Virginia, who with Mrs. Trinkle returned with General and Mrs. Nichols from the ceremonies attending the unveiling of the tablet to Commodore Maury in Goshen Pass, will be present at the functions of finals and will present diplomas to the graduates at the closing exercises on Wednesday. A review of the corps will be staged for the Governor on Monday afternoon.

One of the most interesting features of the program on Monday will be a polo game between the institute team from Fort Myer, Va. The program of drills arranged for Monday is extensive, including nearly every phase of military work conducted at the institute.

There will be many members on the program for Tuesday, the principal one being meetings of alumni classes and the annual meeting of the general alumni association, when reports will be made relative to the success of the campaign to raise money for the erection of an alumni hall here and for an extension to barracks, both of which improvements are now in course of construction.

Of the class reunions the most interesting will be that of the class of 1873, the poet laureate of which, John Loney, of Baltimore, has issued a summons in verse to every living member. It is said that fifteen of the surviving members of that class will be present. Only once before in the history of the institute has a semi-centennial class reunion been held.

The big military event of Tuesday will be the review of the corps by the alumni and the graduation parade when the members of the graduating class step out and standing in one unbroken line watch the other members of the corps march by in parade formation.

The closing exercises of the session will be held on Wednesday. Major General William Lassiter, U. S. Army, will address the graduates and present commissions in the Reserve Officers Corps to those cadets entitled to them. The valedictory address will be by Cadet G. A. Penniman, of Texas. After the announcement of promotions and appointments on the hill and the singing of Auld Lang Syne, the corps will be dismissed until the opening of the next session late in August.

FIRST CLUE TO TESMER KILLER

(By Chicago Tribune Service.)

CHICAGO, June 9.—What appears to be the first definite clue to the woman who murdered Richard C. Tesmer, prominent insurance man Tuesday night, shooting him in the head, while his hands were in the air, was received today from a county highway policeman.

"This girl had blue eyes and a sweet voice and smiled at the time," he told the chief of police here. "I intercepted her as she was passing through Homewood, in a stolen car, the morning after the murder. I did not know then that the car was stolen. She had two automatics beside her on the front seat and told me she was going to Indiana to meet her father and bring him back to Chicago. She explained the guns by saying she feared to travel the lonely roads without them.

'Later we discovered the car had been stolen. Its owner lives within a block of the Tesmer home and the girl abandoned it at Syracuse, Ind."

Gertrude Geston, alleged gun woman for whom the police have been searching, has been located at Michigan City, Ind. She also closely resembles the description of the murderess. A waitress in Milwaukee gave the police the tip as to the hiding place of the Geston woman. The police believe there may be a close connection between the girl who was questioned by the highway policemen at Homewood and the Geston woman.

Numerous girl habitues of the cabarets were picked up last night and today and questioned by the police.

N. C. JURY FAILS TO AGREE AND IS DISCHARGED

(By The Associated Press)

RALEIGH, N. C., June 9.—After the jury had been out forty eight tually all streams in Kansas were and John Murray, charged with robbery of the post office at Oxford, N. C., it was dicharged by Federal District Judge Conner here late today. The men went back to jail to await the next term of court but John Bren who pleaded guilty will be sentenced next week to state prison where will be enable to get treatment for cancer from which he is suffering. The robbery was of $25,000 worth of stamps and cash, which is the largest in the country.

Bone-Dry Ontario Is Now Slated to Turn Wet?

BY MAURICE HENLE
(Special to The Bee.)

WINDSOR, Ont., June 11.—On June 25, the province of Ontario will hold an election which may resolve itself into a test of strength between wets and drys.

It must not be supposed that in these pre-election days the uppermost topics is liquor. That isn't true. It is only in the undercurrent of the political river that the subject of booze is felt by an observer.

The prohibition problem of Canada—and it is a real one—is one which politicians dislike to discuss.

Under the British North American Act, or Imperial Statute, the right to prohibit the importation and manufacture of booze is vested in the Dominion. Control of the actual sale of whisky, wine, etc., is left to the province, which correspond to our states.

Is Dry Legally.

But the Dominion, not wishing to follow the example of the Washington government, delegated all its powers in the regulation of the liquor traffic to the several provinces. In other words, the national government adopted a "hands off" policy.

Thus, having left the matter to the province of Ontario, the latter proceeded to enact laws so dry a man can't own, buy, sell or drink intoxicating liquor.

Ontario is bone-dry—legally.

Illegally it is confronted with the same curse prohibition brought to this country, namely, the bootlegger.

And now, paradoxically, say those proponents of a law which would allow sale of liquor under governmental supervision in government shops, the time has come to make a province which is legally dry, dry in fact, by passing a law which would permit the sale of liquor!

On such a platform Frank W. Wilson of the Conservative party, is running for the Windsor seat in the Ontario legislature.

Wilson says that about 20 other men, in various parties, hold the same platform as he. Viewed from that light he may be considered a spokesman for a large group in the Dominion.

Wilson Is Dry.

"Are you wet or dry?" the writer asked Wilson.

"I am dry," he replied. "I am for temperance, and under existing conditions, regardless of the actual letter of the law, this temperance does not exist.

"At the present time the worse features of the liquor question exist, with no control. We want a law the people will be behind, one which they will help prosecute.

"I have never known of any citizen volunteering to help inthe prosecution of a liquor case. Neither have I heard of a prominent man being convicted. The only bar to having liquor is money. You can have it in accordance with your means. It is a farce to say it is bone-dry."

There are three major parties in Ontario—the Conservative, the Liberals, and the United Farmers. Each professes to be "dry."

The Real Issue.

The impression seems to have been gained in the States that the Conservative party is the wet party. That is wrong. It was the Conservative party which put through the Ontario Temperance Act.

ON LEFT, E. C. DRURY, PREMIER OF THE FARMER GOVERNMENT OF ONTARIO, NOW IN CONTROL. AT RIGHT IS FRANK W. WILSON, CONSERVATIVE CANDIDATE FOR WINDSOR SEAT IN LEGISLATURE.

But this differentiates the three:

The Farmers party, now in control, comes out flat-footedly as a dry party. The other two say that if a referendum shows that there is a preponderance of opinion for a modification of liquor laws, such changes will be made.

But not before, even though "wet" candidates are elected.

It should be pointed out that nearly all of Canada is dry now. Only two provinces—Quebec and British Columbia—are wet.

And while Ontario wets want to force an issue in this campaign without an issue in this campaign without openly declaring themselves, the real issue is the so-called "farmer government," now in control. Conservatives and Liberals are harping on the excessive debts which an "inexperienced" government has piled up. This charge is denied by the Farmers.

Likely Sites for Marshall Field

The Chamber of Commerce Committee which is seeking a suitable building near the Southern Railway tracks in this city for the Marshall Field Corporation, which is anxious to establish a shipping center in Danville, met Saturday morning at 11 o'clock.

It was brought out at the meeting that no building of sufficient floor space was available, but that a site upon which a building could be built could be obtained. Capital is available to construct the building if the Marshall Field Corporation will guarantee to lease for a sufficient number of years to make the proposition profitable.

H. B. Watkins, secretary of the Chamber of Commerce, said last night a letter had been written to Marshall Field appraising them of the situation here and of what the Chamber of Commerce was able to do to meet the needs of the concern. An invitation was extended to a representative of the corporation to come to Danville and go over the various sites that could be obtained. It is expected that a representative will be sent here in the near future to take up the matter with the Chamber of Commerce.

The members of the committee were anxious to do everything possible to secure the location of the shipping branch in this city and the belief was expressed that some understanding will be reached.

AUSTRIAN DEBT EXTENDED FOR TWENTY YEARS

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, June 9.— The United States today contributed to the rehabilitation of Austria's financial condition by extending until June 1, 1924 the time for payment of the debt incurred by that country in the purchase of flour from the United States Grain Corporation. It also released its lien on the assets and revenues of Austria, held as a guaranty for the debt, so that they may be pledged as a guaranty for the new twenty year loan to be issued by that country pursuant to the rehabilitation plan adopted at Geneva.

The face value of the obligation is $24,055,708.

CANDIDATES IN COUNTY FILE FOR PRIMARY

The following have filed their names for candidates in the Democratic primary to be held in Pittsylvania county on August 7th.

For House of Delegates—C. R. Warren, B. S. Warren, R. T. Carter, H. D. Shepherd and J. B. Anderson.

For Senate—N. E. Clement and W. A. Garrett.

Commonwealth Attorney—G. T. Rison, R. I. Overbey, D. T. Williams, P. J. Hundley.

Sheriff—J. A. Hodnett, Chas. H. Murphy, James E. Rice.

Treasurer—W. Edgar Ramsey, Jerre W. Giles, J. J. Whitehead.

Commissioner of Revenue— First district, J. H. Oakes, J. M. Still, C. J. Blair J. M. Booker; Second district, C. R. Giles, Edgar Whitehead, T. P. Smith, C. O. Boaze, Thomas M. Overbey, E. N. Oakes; Third district; S. F. Brown, B. F. Brown, B. W. Hall; Fourth district, W. T. Edmunds, P. G. Edwards, W. L. Keesee, H. L. Brumfield, P. G. Cocke and J. W. Bailey.

Supervisors—Chatham district, J. W. Collie, C. W. Shelton, J. H. Hedrick, C. F. Taylor; Callands district, W. T. Morrison, J. D. Jefferson, A. J. Fuller; Banister, A. C. Brown, N. E. Witcher, L. H. Terry, J. E. Stone; Staunton River, T. C. Creasy, W. A. West; Pigg River, D. T. Rorer, A. C. Hedrick, W. T. Jefferson; Dan River, L. C. Dodson, S. T. Bradley; Tunstall district, E. T. Moorefield, J. C. Hall, C. J. Ashworth, H. L. Robertson.

Magistrates—Chatham district, W. A. Cherry, R. C. Collie, J. P. Thomas, G. H. Franklin.

Constable— Chatham district, F. S. Anderson.

OPERATE PLANES OVER THE CANAL

(By The Associated P

WASHINGTON, June 9.—A request from the government of Panama for authority to operate airplanes over the Canal Zone was granted by Secretary Weeks today subject to regulations to be worked out between the Canal authorities and the officials of the Republic of Panama. A conference for the purpose will be held in the near future by army and navy commanders in the Canal Zone, Canal authorities and Panama officials.

Business Women To Hold Annual Meeting in July

The fifth annual convention of the National Federation of Business and Professional Women will be held in Portland, Oregon, July 9th to 15th. The clubs of Oregon, Washington and Idaho will be hostesses to the convention and they are making attractive plans for the entertainment of delegates and visitors, which will probably number one thousand. The Danville club will be represented at the convention.

On Monday, July 9, at 10 a. m., the convention will be officially opened by the presentation to Lena Lake Forrest, National Federation President, by George L. Baker, mayor of Portland, of a floral key to the city. From that moment on throughout the entire week a full program of activities has been arranged. While the greater portion of each day up to Friday night will be taken up by general convention sessions and executive meetings, the special entertainment and stunt committees will see to it that entertainment features are inspersed. It will not be until Saturday, however, that the real "Play Time" of convention week will start. On that day the Oregon Federation will play hostess for an all day trip over the Columbia River highway. Arrangements are being made to entertain all delegates and it is earnestly hoped that all visitors will remain to enjoy this day's features. For those delegates who remain over the week-end, two special attractions are being offered on Sunday; a trip to Mt. Hood with the Hood River club as hostess, and a trip to Astoria and Seaside where members of the Astoria club promise to entertain and arrange for a clam-bake on the beach.

Monday, July 9:—Official opening of convention at 10 a. m. Special business sessions. Reception in evening at Multnomah Hotel, convention headquarters.

Tuesday, July 10:— Washington Day. Business sessions. All special features and program of entertainment for the evening outlined by the Washington Federation.

Wednesday, July 11:—Idaho Day, with all entertainment features planned and carried out by the Idaho Federation. The usual business sessions.

Thursday, July 12:—Tri-State Day. Presentation of Charters in evening. Banquet.

Friday, July 13:—Oregon Day. Special entertainment features and scheduled for the evening. Portland's Stunt Committee, under the able leadership of Miss Edith Dailey promises fun for all.

Saturday, July 14:—Columbia river highway, all-day trip.

Sunday, July 15:—Excursions to Seaside, Astoria and Mt. Hood.

AURORA AFFECTS RADIO WAVES

HARTFORD, Conn., June 9—The belief that the Aurora Borealis serves no other purpose than to beautify the evening sky with its colorful streamers is disappearing in the light of a very strong suspicion on the part of scientists that it figures prominently in many electrical disturbances.

To say that it has crippled lines furnishing current for telephone and that indescribable condition known as telegraph communication, developed static and interfered appreciably with radio reception is not at all improbable if the opinions of some present day investigators are to be taken as correct.

The first serious attempt to determine the effect of the Northern Lights upon radio reception and the possible relation to static, fading and other phenomena connected with broadcasting will be made next winter by Donald H. Mix of Bristol, Conn., who is to accompany Captain Donald B. MacMillan to the Arctic in the employ of the American Radio Relay League.

The MacMillan party, expect to make their winter quarters either at Flagler Bay near Cape Sabine or at Jones Sound. The former is located about 540 miles northeast of the Magnetic Pole. From this point of advantage inside the circular aurora, Mix will listen for radio messages from fellow amateurs at home. He will keep a record of the intensity of reception through this peculiar natural phenomenon.

Orange Team Won In Stunt Contest

The third day of the first annual conference of the Young People of Roanoke Presbytery closed Saturday night with a stunt contest between the Orange and the Blue teams. The Orange team was declared winners by the judges. The event which gave them the lead of seven points was the presentation of "Spark Plug." The Blue team also had a number of excellent stunts and for a time the judges found it very difficult to come to a decision as to which one really did the best.

The stunt event followed the regular group class meetings which were in charge of the various teachers under the direction of the Rev. T. K. Currie, of Richmond. Dr. R. T. Johnston of Christiansburg at the night session delivered his second lecture entitled "Laying the Foundation." His address was well received by the young people and several of them were heard to express themselves as getting much valuable information from the lecture.

In the afternoon after the quiet hour the young people divided in two groups of Orange and Blue had a number of interesting games under the direction of the leaders in charge of the conference. The morning session was practically a repetition of that of the day before. There were classes in Foreign and Home Missions, Christian Endeavor and Sunday School work.

With the completion of today's program the young delegates will leave for their homes either tonight or tomorrow.

The first services this morning will be Sunday school at 9:45. For this services the conference will remain divided into two groups, representing Orange and Blue teams, as in previous events.

Following the Sunday school hour, the Rev. T. C. Johnson will deliver an inspiring sermon to the young people concerning various problems of vital interest to the church world.

In the afternoon there will be exercises on the campus, and recreations for the delegates.

At the night session the Rev. Mr. Johnson will bring the conference to a close with the third of his lectures. His subject at this time will be "Building the Structure."

From the point of view of the committee and teachers in charge of the work, this conference, the first that has been held in the district, is proving to be very successful and much good is expected to result from it. Plans already have been started to make these conferences annual affairs.

PURNELL WILL RETURN AND FACE THE STATUTORY CHARGE

(By The Associated Press)

ST. JOSEPH, Mich., June 9.—Declarations that Benjamin Purnell, missing head of the House of David colony, would return here and face the statutory charge preferred by the state, were made today by officials of the colony, including Mary Purnell, wife of the cult leader.

None of those who made the prediction would say when they expected the cult leader to return and each professed to know nothing of his present whereabouts.

The warrant against Purnell, issued following the statements at the state's grand jury hearing here of a fifteen year old girl, has been used as the basis for the search extending as far away as Australia recently.

"Benjamin will be back," Mary Purnell, known as the "Queen" of the cult said. "He has nothing to fear. Having lived with him all these years am I not the one to know he is innocent of these charges?"

NO MORE RHEUMATISM
Because it drives impurities from the blood, this painful disease yields to the curative effects of...
S. S. S.'s REGENERATOR FOR THE BLOOD
At all leading druggists

Ladies Keep Your Skin Clear, Sweet, Healthy With Cuticura Soap and Cuticura Talcum

NEGRO CUTS AIR AND HALTS REAR OF FREIGHT TRAIN

Schoolfield police had an exciting chase Saturday when John Moore, negro, was captured and a 38 calibre gun was found on his person, after he was alleged to have cut a freight train in two to escape apprehension.

A special officer of the Southern Railway discovered Moore riding a freight into Schoolfield, knowing that the freight would stop in that place, he did not immediately place the negro under arrest. The negro, for his part, feared arrest and as the train was going too fast to jump off he cut the air break about one-third of the way to the end. This act served to suddenly stop the rear section of the train, two drawheads pulling out, the cars coming to a stop near Stokesland.

Schoolfield officers were notified and Moore's trail was immediately picked up. After a long chase the negro was caught by Officer Les Milton. A 38 calibre gun was taken from his person.

MOVIES HOLD LURE FOR BOY WHO WON ITS PRIZE

NEW YORK, June 8.—Movies held a greater lure for John Spano, sixteen eears old, than either school or home duties. He learned so much at the movies that he as able to win a prize of $1,2200 for guessing the names of motion picture stars whose photographs were published in a newspaper. But his learning acquired at the movies didn't find favor in his mother's eys. She termed him a "Wilful truant and an incorrigible," when he was arranged before Magistrate Simpson today in Municipal Term court.

"I can see how you won that prize," the magistrate told Spano. "You probably spent all your time going to the movies instead of going to school."

Magistrate Simpson sentenced him to an indefinite stay at theNew York parental scholl.

Headache

Celery, known as the great sedative, is combined with other harmless and effective nervines in

CELERY-CAFFEIN
Famous for 50 years

Relieves headache at once. Try it at the soda fountain. Get a bottle at the drug store for home use. A tasty, bubbling drink—refreshing—invigorating.

Chelf Chemical Co., Richmond, Va.

for Headache-Neuralgia-Indigestion-Constipation

Thousands have weak Blood and don't know it—

YOU can "spot" them, wherever you meet—pale and anemic! You know, too, the rosy lipped, correct weight, snappy eyed man or woman, with rich red blood. You recognize them at a glance! Remember this, the number of blood-cells you have controls your nerves, your vitality, your health and strength! It is all you have! The answer, then, is, build up your blood-power! S. S. S. will do it! It is the greatest blood-cell builder known. This is why it has proven such startling results in rheumatic conditions, in stopping pimples, boils, eczema, skin eruptions, in clearing and beautifying the complexion, and in building up thin, worn-out men and women. Stronger and more useful nerves depend on blood-power. S. S. S. will give you that greater energy, strength and a more youthful appearance.

Mr. C. Vega, 1228 Vine Street, Cincinnati, Ohio, writes: "I have followed your directions carefully and am highly pleased. S.S.S. has improved my complexion. I have gained in weight and feel much stronger."

Try it yourself. S. S. S. is sold at all good drug stores. The large size is more economical. Get a bottle today!

S.S.S. makes you feel like yourself again

PUT YOUR CAR IN THE HIGH GRADE CLASS

When we regrind your bloc, regardless of its make or model, you get the same accuracy, efficiency and workmanship of the finest cars of the country.

It puts you in a class with Rolls-Royce, Packard, Cadillac, etc., for every high-grade motor manufacturer finishes his cylinders by grinding on a Heald which is the same equipment we use.

An old motor Reground and properly fitted up, is better than new, for it is seasoned and will stay put.

If you want to hob-knob with the big boys, come in and talk it over.

J. F. PERKINSON, MGR.

J. T. CARTER'S SONS.

326 Craghead St. Phone 52.

MAJESTIC THEATER

Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday Matinee & Night

THE PICKERT STOCK CO.

With Lillian Pickert and Ralph Chambers

Presents George V. Hobart's Phenominal Stage Success

"EXPERIENCE"

This is a symbolic play on the order of "EVERYWOMAN."

It's dramatic interest is above par. The plot deals with Beauty, Pleasure, Wealth, Temptation, Crime, Vice, Love and Hope.

One of the most pretentious, and costly plays, ever attempted by a Stock Company.

Seats on sale box office every day 10 a. m. until 10 p. m.

Evening prices: Orchestra Floor, 50c; Balcony, 35c and 50c; Gallery for Colored, 25c.

Matinee Prices: Orchestra Floor, 35c; Balcony, 25c; Children 10c; Gallery for Colored, 15c.

NEWSPAPERARCHIVE®
NEWSPAPERARCHIVE®

France Sends Out Curt Note

Will Not Talk With Germany or Consider Proposals Until Resistance in Ruhr Ceases.

By VINCENT SHEEAN
(Copyright, 1923, Chicago Tribune.)

PARIS, June 9.—Thirty-six hours of conversation between Paris and Brussels resulted today in a curt note signed by Premier Poincare, Premier Theunis and Foreign Minister Jaspar and addressed to London, Rome and Washington. Without mentioning Germany's offer, France and Belgium notified their allies that there will be "No conversation with Germany, and no examination of the German offer until the passive resistance in the Ruhr ceases." This decision was taken at Brussels.

Premier Poincare called a cabinet meeting this morning. Three hours were devoted to discussing the interallied situation created by Germany's note.

Premier Poincare's position that the note does not deserve examination or a formal answer was approved, but on reopening reparations conversations with England the cabinet is somewhat divided. Minister of War Maginot, Minister of Public Works Letroquer and others who have directly handled the administration of the Ruhr oppose all conversations which could be interpreted as a concession on France's part. The premier himself is willing to restore the entente to working order, but he maintains that Great Britain and Italy must accept France's Ruhr policy as a prelude to any other move.

The whole problem has definitely entered a new phase, however, despite Premier Poincare's reluctance to enter into negotiations. The press today reproduces dispatches from London, Rome and Washington showing the favorable reception of Germany's offer there and commenting caustically thereon.

Premier Mussolini's speech in the Italian senate yesterday also contributes to the general impression that France is being forced into some sort of pourparlers.

The direct result of this has been a greater cautiousness in Quai d'Orsay's discussion of the German note. While still characterizing the offer as "absolutely unacceptable" foreign office officials admit there will be great activity in interallied conversations over the week end, and adding that "some sort of allied meeting on reparations is not impossible within a fortnight." Such a meeting would take place in London whenever England is ready to accept France's Ruhr policy, a high official admitted. Until England "comes across" such a meeting would be useless, he declared.

Temporarily general conversations are going on through Brussels, M. Jaspar acting as a go-between for the French and British governments.

The response France wishes to send to Germany would cover less than one page, containing a simple acknowledgement of the receipt of Chancellro Cuno's memorandum, and adding: "The allies are willing to examine Germany whenever the Ruhr resistance ceases." Such an answer would be signed by England, France, Italy and Belgium, according to Premier Poincare's plan.

If England and Italy balk there is no way of obtaining a common allied stand, as France does not intend to yield, even though Belgium is willing to do so.

Joint-Ease For Burning Feet

Now that we know that aching, burning feet are caused by trouble in the small bones in the arches of the feet—

And that trouble can only be reached by Joint-Ease, a stainless emollient that soaks right in through skin and flesh direct to the joints and ligaments.

Isn't it about time to discard powders and medicated baths that only reach the outside of the skin?

And rub on Joint-Ease, that in two minutes starts to soothe and heal the inside troubles that cause soreness and burning.

Rub it on tonight and if there is any burning left on the morning, it won't be enough to bother. All druggists. A tube, 60 cents.—adv.

CERTAIN RELIEF FOR INDIGESTION

New Cordial Called "Anti-Ferment." Originated by a Druggist and Recommended by Physicians, Neutralizes Acid Condition of Stomach, Prevents Fermentation and Brings Instant Relief.

MONEY BACK IF YOU ARE NOT PROMPTLY RELIEVED

Indigestion and its attendant ills such as dyspepsia, heart-burn, sour stomach, gripping pains, dysentery, diarrhoea, colic, cholera morbus, chronic constipation, gas, etc., and even sick, nervous headaches are now directly traceable to disorders in the digestive organs.

The food sours before it is fully digested, thus putting into solution toxic poisons that are absorbed into the system, irritating the intestines and setting up inflammation. To avoid this, you simply have to prevent fermentation by using Anti-Ferment.

Anti-Ferment neutralizes the acid condition of the stomach, cleanses and sweetens the bowels, soothes and heals the inflammed intestines and increases the flow of gastric juices, giving quick and certain relief. Get a bottle of Anti-Ferment from your druggist with a guarantee of satisfactory results or money returned. It will improve your appetite, give you restful sleep and make you feel better than you ever felt in your life.—adv.

Five Are Dead In Kansas Floods

(By The Associated Press)

KANSAS CITY, June 11.—With at least five persons reported killed, thousands driven from home and property damage in the millions, many districts in Kansas, Oklahoma and Texas, are flooded today. Rains over Kansas for the past three days caused the rivers to overflow and destroy crops in the lowlands and inundate residential and business sections of several towns.

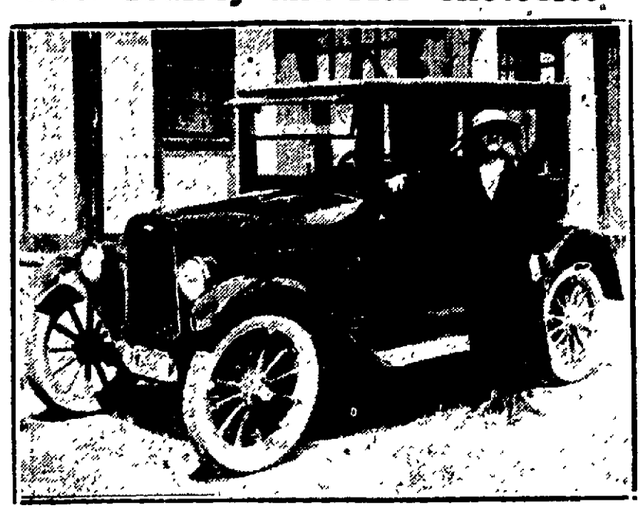

Five Are Shot At Dortmund

BERLIN, June 11.—Five civilians were shot and one seriously wounded in Dortmund last night, according to semi official advices. It is not stated who was responsible although the reports advise that reinforcements have arrived and occupied the city hall and that 100 were arrested.

DEMONSTRATION AT Y. W. C. A.

An aluminum ware demonstration will be given under the auspices of the Woman's Missionary Society of Main Street Methodist church at 4:30 Tuesday afternoon in the Y. W. C. A. rooms. The demonstration will show how the use of aluminum ware saves fuel and how to cook with and take care of aluminum utensils. Everyone is invited.

Mrs. Godfrey and Her Chevrolet

—Photo by Dunford.

Mrs. J. O. Godfrey, of Schoolfeld, and her Chevrolet Sedanette, given by The Register-Bee. Mrs. Godfrey won the third prize, having to her credit 8,189,350 votes, having turned in $1,074.80 worth of subscriptions to The Register and Bee.

Curzon Urges That French Accept The Berlin Proposals

Britain Will Then Aid in Attempt to Stop German Resistance in the Ruhr.

(By The Associated Press)

LONDON, June 11.—Lord Curzon had an important conference with the French ambassador this morning, the British foreign secretary urging that the French government accept Berlin's latest reparations proposals. If France will do this Lord Curzon will inform Germany it was stated of the French government's willingness to discuss the problem with the Allies. Great Britain, it is explained, will then endeavor to obtain from Berlin a pledge of the cancellation of the orders of repulsive resistance in the Ruhr which Premier Poincare has named as a condition precedent to any pourparlers. If Germany agrees to this, steps will be taken to convene a conference for the settlement of the dispute.

Man, 72, Takes A Wife Of 71

(By Chicago Tribune Service.)

PARIS, June 9.—Emil Coue's home town, Nancy, is aflutter with interest today over a romantic wedding in which the young couple's ages total 143. The bridegroom is Joseph Reches, a farmer, aged 72, and the bride is a handsome spinster and owns up to 71 years. Although living in a shadow of Coue's renown the couple has never heard of him, but after leaving the city hall they admitted that every day in every way they are growing younger and younger.

Ticker Talk

Thomson & McKinnon

NEW YORK, June 11.—Special meeting American Loco today to vote on recapitalization plan.

Treasury offering of $150,000,000 four per cent certificates of indebtedness dates June 15 maturing Dec. 15 announcement. No further offering likely before Sept.

White Star Liner Celtic and Canarder Carmania arrive with liquor stored sealed. French and Italian liners serve wine to crews in port.

Danger of civil war in Bulgaria impends as ousted premier begins armed resistance.

Firestone Tire and Rubber Co., reduces prices for tires and tubes ten per cent. effective immediately.

British cabinet considers today Poincare's note on German reparations. Britain expected to endorse French objection to passive resistance but not Ruhr invasion. McKenna working on reparations proposal.

Joint congressional committee begins study of operations of Federal Reserve System.

Wage increases aggregating $8,579,664 granted 112,551 Penna. Railroad Employes, retro-active to May 1st and April 16. Missouri Pac. grants wage increases to 22,000 maintenance men. Ills., Cent. and Pittsburg & W. Va., also announce increases.

Austrian reconstruction loan of $126,000,000 placed on sale in Nine counties today. United States participation of $25,000,000 seven per cent. sinking fund bond due 1943 offered at 90 to yield 8 per cent.

20 industrials 97.19, up .44.
20 railroads 84.92, up 1.61.

—Lewis Harvie of Whitesburg, Ky., is visiting his mother, Mrs. L. E. Harvie, Main street.

—Mrs. James Featherstone and little daughter, Ellen, are visiting Mrs. W. N. Ruffin.

3 Men Held In Richmond For Baltimore Crime

Confessions Have Been Received From Them to the Murder of Salvation Army Watchman.

(By The Associated Press)

BALTIMORE, June 11.—Confessions have been obtained from three men at Richmond, Va., in connection with the murder of John B. Jones, aged Salvation Army watchman, whose body was found with the skull crushed at the army plant here yesterday, local police authorities were informed by telephone from Richmond today. Robbery was believed to have been the motive for the deed. The safe had been tampered with but nothing taken from it. The men held are James Murray, cook of the Salvation Army headquarters, Joseph Murphy and Thomas Costello, roomers at the army barracks. Charred bits of paper bearing the name of the sweethearts of one of the men were the clues which led sleuths to Richmond.

TO GIVE COOKING INSTRUCTION

Through the enterprise of the Bledsoe Furniture Company an instructive public demonstration of the many advantages and economies of modern kitchen and cooking methods and equipment will be given today, Tuesday and Wednesday of this week, under the direction of Miss Margaret Proctor, instructor of domestic science in the Danville High School.

Fourteen nationally known food products will be used in the demonstration and during the three days, Miss Proctor will make various foods and delicacies and showing through actual demonstration, the advantages in cooking and baking to be derived from the use of foods cooked under proper conditions. Dishes prepared will be offered as samples of actual cooking that can be done in the kitchen at home.

PROPERTY TRANSFERS

Deeds of bargain and sale recorded in the clerk's office of the corporation court show the following transactions:

Rosa A. Thaxton from A. Bogdan and wife, 50 feet on Girard street. Consideration $3,200.

Paralee Moore from Thomas R. Matthews, 55 feet on Oak street. Consideration $550.

Main St. Church Sunday School To Be Formally Dedicated On Sunday

The handsome new Sunday school quarters of Main Street Methodist church will be formally dedicated next Sunday morning when Rev. J. N. Latham, D. D., former pastor now of Centenary church, Richmond, will be in Danville to preach the sermon. With the exception of some of the chairs in the main auditorium which have been delayed in shipment the Sunday School quarters, representing an investment of about $[illegible],000 is ready for occupancy. The congregation, by which subscriptions to the new undertaking were generously given, also has spent a substantial sum in recent months in the establishment of a parsonage on Main street and the total expenditure entailed in the building of the Sunday school quarters and the parsonage will, it is understood, approach $100,000.

Next Sunday morning all of the Sunday school classes will assemble in the new auditorium which has a capacity for some 500 persons. Temporary seats have been arranged and the classes will go from the assembly room to their various quarters. After the Sunday school hour the units will pass through the passage way which connects the Sunday school with the church and it is there that the dedicatory sermon will be preached. It had been hoped and planned to have the dedication in the Sunday school but as the seats have been delayed in shipment it has been decided to delay no longer the formal opening and utilization of the commodious quarters.

Dr. Latham will also preach in the Sunday school room at night.

The Sunday school is probably the most modern and complete to be found anywhere in Virginia. In the sub-basement is a well equipped gymnasium, larger than any other in Danville. In the main basement are quarters for the R. W. Pegtross Bible class, three department classes, an assembly room for the primary department and six class rooms opening into this assembly room. On the main floor will be the auditorium room for Mrs. J. C. Dickerson's class, a large kitchen, pantry, ladies' parlor and library quarters. On the top floor will be the pastor's study.

It is expected that the building will be definitely accepted by the building committee of the church during the present week. The enrollment in Main Street Sunday school is approximately 500.

AFTER THE RAIN WHAT?

Sunshine and hot weather.

For Hot Weather what?

Cooler Suits and Straw Hats. Summer suits fresh from the tailor's goose that lays only golden eggs—brought in by us to attract the men who are going somewhere or going to do something special this month.

The most attractive line of Summer Clothes and furnishings we have ever shown.

J. & J. KAUFMAN
IT PAYS TO BUY OUR KIND.
331 MAIN ST. DANVILLE, VA.

Good Morning Judge!

A raid on George W. Woody's bottling works concern on Spring street last night resulted in the arrest of seven gamblers, including the proprietor of the plant. The raid was made about 11 o'clock by Sergeant J. H. Martin and Patrolman W. T. Kessler. The officers listened for some little time to the game before they went in. Those arrested were G. W. Woody, Frank Keen, Coy Paul Jolly, Paul Beating, Will Cunningham, John Penn and John Dixon, all colored. All except Dixon were fined five dollars and costs in the Police court this morning. It was said Dixon was not gambling.

Fines totalling $183.45 were imposed on J. F. Warren as result of various charges brought by Sergeant Martin on Saturday night when he arrested the man for being drunk, driving an automobile while under the influence of whisky and for having a bottle of whisky in his pocket. For driving the car in this condition, Warren was fined $100 and costs and for violating the Mapp act, $51 and costs with a jail sentence of thirty days suspended. The drunk charge was not pushed. The man said he was on his way to Baltimore to visit his ill mother and that some men asked him for a ride and when they got out handed him a bottle of whisky for her, also giving him a drink for his courtesy. He said it was the first he had taken in many a day.

Lonnie Reynolds and Clay Walker, colored, were fined $20 and costs on statutory charges, while Sarah Harris and her daughter, Othie Harris, colored, were placed under recognized bonds $50 for their good behavior for six months.

G. W. Hill was fined eleven dollars and costs for reckless driving.

Ben Elliott, charged with loafing, was granted a continuance until Wednesday.

J. T. Markell drew a fine of $51 and costs and was given a suspended jail sentence of thirty days for having a half pint of whisky in his possession.

Mary Swann and Will Dorcus, frequent offenders with the police, were assessed six dollars and costs for disorderly conduct, resulting from each cursing the other out.

The case of Charles Coleman, charged with the theft from J. E. Pruitt of a gallon freezer filled with ice cream, was set for Thursday.

Jim Gray was fined ten dollars and costs for driving past a street car while it was discharging passengers.

Barney Hensley, after a lengthy hearing was fined $51 and given thirty days in jail on a whisky charge. Hensley was on a car with Henry Lynch on Saturday when it was captured by officers who found that it contained three and one-half gallons of whisky. Lynch made his escape. Hensley denied any knowledge of the liquor but officers testified he had a reputation among them all of handling whisky.

J. T. Marshall was fined $51 and costs and sentenced to thirty days in jail for a violation of the Mapp act. The jail sentence was suspended.

Annie Lee Hodnett is being held as a lunacy suspect.

Mike Callas will be given a hearing on Wednesday on a charge of maintaining a disorderly and ill-governed house.

Ed Crawley drew a fine of $1 and costs for loafing.

A continuance was granted in the case of M. D. Coward, charged with violating the traffic ordinance.

—Chief of Police James R. Bell is out of the city visiting at his country home in Henry county.

Governor Smith Classes Bryan As "Fanatical Dry"

New York Executive Replies to Five Questions Put Him in Prohibition Question and Attempts to Ridicule Commoner.

(By The Associated Press)

ALBANY, N. Y., June 11.—"Laws regulating the personal conduct of the individual have only been successful when they have paralleled a divine commandment," and the "inherent dishonesty of the Volstead act tends to promote dishonesty in enforcement," Governor Smith said in a statement answering 5 questions on prohibition asked by the New York Times and answered by W. J. Bryan in which he criticized the government's attitude on the liquor and state rights question.

"The New York Times has requested me to answer William Jennings Bryan's article in its edition of Sunday, June 10, in which Mr. Bryan undertook to reply to five questions," said Governor Smith.

"The first question he asked is 'Will prohibition be a leading issue in the next democratic convention?' Running true of form he uses a thousand words in replying and says nothing.

"No living person could answer the second question: 'What strength will the wets and drys be able to command?' Mr. Bryan attempts it and says less than he did about the first.

"Mr. Bryan could answer the third question: Do you believe prohibition will continue to be an issue in national politics,?' by saying it never has been an issue and the question of repealing the 18th amendment probably never will be, but it is quite possible that a sane and sensible definition of what constituted a intoxicating beverage might be a prominent issue.

'The fourth question, 'What effect has Governor Smith's action on the Cuviller bill had on the national situation?' Mr. Bryan answer by making a reference to King Alcohol and to women suffrage. When he answers the 5th question, 'What are his (my) assertions of state's rights in connection with his action?' the great commoner rises to the heights of absurdity. According to Mr. Bryan there is no such thing as state's rights. If that is not a fair inference to take from his remarks one must take the only other possible and that is that Mr. Bryan himself does not understand what state rights means. Mr. Bryan has had more opportunity to study the federal government and its operation than I have had, and he knows everything I say is right but he belongs to that class of fanatical drys about whom I spoke in my recent memorandum who will never admit anything when a fanatic belongs to acknowledge the truth his cause is lost."

Northern Oklahoma Covered In Water

3,000 Persons Homeless and Flood Damage Estimated at Two Million Dollars, Owing to Heavy Rains.

(By The Associated Press)

KANSAS CITY, Jun 11.—Northern Oklahoma is covered with water with the loss in the millions. Residents in the lowlands near Fort Worth, Texas, were preparing to abandon their homes this morning after heavy rains had caused the Trinity River to rise 27 feet. Kansas City and Winfield, Kansas, suffered greatly from the floods. Three thousand persons were declared to be homeless in Arkansas City in an appeal sent out for aid by the mayors. He estimated the flood damage at two million dollars.

Chicago's New City Directory

(By Chicago Tribune Service.)

CHICAGO, June 10.—For the first time since 1917, Chicago has a new city directory compiled at a cost of $350,000 and a year's work. The publishers admit it is imperfect: that many of the persons whose names appear have died since the work began and there have been many new citizens whose names do not appear.

By the system commonly used in large cities, the population of Chicago is estimated to be 2,935,887, an increase of 272,987 over the figures compiled in 1917 and 234,675 over the federal census of 1920.

The new directory is the largest ever published for any city in the world, containing 3124 pages. It was compiled under the direction of William H. McPharlin, veteran directory manager and compiler of the New York City directory.

Because of the cosmoplitan population of Chicago, the names sound like an assortment of vaudeville wheezes and some of them are absolutely unpronounceable, even to the people who are lugging them around. The Johnsons outnumber all others, with a total of 10,100 representatives. The Smiths are runners up with 7,750; Millers 5,200; Petersons 4,300, Browns 4,100 and Jones 2,900.

Among the longest names are Analgaostobouias, Gloralzizsewski, Coryamtesiewicz and Zavaetzszewski. There are three Susans, two Saabs, one Viking, one Village, nine Virtues, four Virgins, one Sweetmilk, six Taxes, two Twos, four Tramps, one Volcano, one Vile, one Oure and a Yankee.

There are also Twins and Triplets Wild and Wooly, Pecan and Filbert, Tub, Bath and Bather, More and Less, Sheets and Pillow, Sleep and Nighty, Hash and Coffee, Fake and Bunk, Lid and Bung, Shirts and Pants, Hug and Kiss, Goodnight and Solong, Backoff and Startup and Heaven and Hades.

Kidnaper To Be Tried This P. M.

(By The Associated Press)

BEAUFORT, N. C., June 11.—Trial of Lewis McNeil of California but formerly of Greensville, S. C., charged with attempting to kidnap his nephew, Frank Thomas, aged 5, was scheduled to begin here this afternoon. McNeil and John D. Merritt, of Lick Springs, S. C., were arrested after the alleged attempted kidnaping.

WEDDING LICENSES ISSUED

Wedding licenses have been issued by the clerk of the corporation court to the following:

Robert Eaton and Blanch Moxley, Draper, N. C.

David Peyton Delaney and Eunice Elizabeth Pearce, Greensboro, N. C.

Henry Roland Turner, Danville and Bethal Durham, Pelham.

Harry Montgomery McFarland and Shirley Holland Whitler, Purley, N. C.

John Herbert Ingram and Edith Elizabeth Henderson, Danville.

Marathon Dance Denounced By Judge Friend

(By Chicago Tribune Service.)

CHICAGO, June 10.—Marathon dancing, now in vogue in many eastern and southwestern cities is not only riotous, a direct violation of the ten hour woman's day, but it also is a brutal sport, comparable only to bullfighting, or cock fighting, according to a ruling made today by Judge Hugo Friend.

Harry M. Kaufman, a promoter, had arranged for a seven day marathon here, but the police secured an injunction and today's hearing was on this injunction. Kaufman was given leave, however, to amend his petition to prove the contest a mere "relay" dance, in which women participants would be relived by other dancers when they showed signs of fatigue. If this fails, the promoter says he will begin mandamus proceedings to force the issuance of a license for the exhibition.

"Even a world's championship prize fight does not require the installation of beds and respiratory instruments with a corps of surgeons and hospital attendants," said Judge Friend. "Such precautions indicate that there is danger of contestants reaching a stage of exhaustion perilously close to death."

Assistant Corporation Counsel Grossman, in opposing the petition for a license said: "A death in such a contest would be the same as a death in a drunken brawl, and the promoters would be murderers in effect."

"It seems the only purpose of this dance is to create revenue for the promoter by capitalizing and satisfying the morbid curiosity of the same class of observers who attend a bullfight," he continued.

—Mr. and Mrs. T. H. Edmunds have returned from Greensboro, N. C., where they went to attend the funeral of Mr. Edwards' father.

—Commissioner of the Revenue P. G. Ragland has returned from a visit to Greensboro, N. C.

Clay Goney and Wife Separate

When Clay Ganey several months ago took unto himself a wife "for better or for worse," he built air castles and did not dream that it would be for the "worse." But Ganey settled with the court this morning for creating a disturbance with his wife, Lena and walked out of the courtroom with enough money left to buy him a ticket to Greensboro, to be separated from the wife by agreement. "But I will always love her," he sighed as he paid the costs of the warrant and left.

Mrs. Ganey charged her husband with ill-treatment and swore out a warrant against him for creating a disturbance. An agreement was reached whereby Ganey would be let off with payment of costs provided he separated from his wife and left town. Ganey agreed that they could not get along together and he accepted the proposal.

Ganey complained this morning that he was a victim of misfortune. He declared that he has sent his wife money regularly and produced money order receipts to prove it. These ranged from ten to thirty dollars. When questioned as to what took place, Ganey said he did not know but with this reply he smiled in a way that left the impression that he did not care to discuss the matter, therefore the details will probably never be known.

Refreshing Rain Breaks Drought

This immediate section of Pittsylvania county is today enjoying what the farmers some times call a "million dollar rain." While up to noon today insufficient rain had fallen to be very beneficial, the elements gave every indication of continuing the downpour. One farmer said that unless rain continued heavily through the night the precipitation would be insufficient to aid materially in planting out tobacco. Local gardens however were obviously refreshed by the gentle downpour and will be greatly benefited by the relief from the long drought.

The rain appears to be a general one in this section.

SALESMAN IN HIS OLD FORM FEELING GREAT

Tanlac Entirely Ended Stomach Trouble, Restoring Weight and Strength, Declares Williams.

"Stomach trouble had me where I couldn't have kept going much longer, but Tanlac has put me back in fine shape," declared G. R. Williams, R. F. D. No. 2, Madison Heights, Va. Mr. Williams has been a salesman for the Webb-Whitaker Co., Lynchburg, Va., many years, and is very popular.

"I couldn't enjoy my food," he said, "for the thought of how I had to suffer after eating, and my appetite left me entirely. Anything I ate soured on my stomach and caused gas and terrible pains. I was weak, nervous and all worn out, and hardly ever got a good night's sleep. It was all I could do to drag myself to the store, and when the day's work was over I was all played out.

"Friends got me to try Tanlac, and it not only ended my stomach trouble and calmed my nerves, but it built me up ten pounds and I am just full of energy all the time. Tanlac gets my highest praise every time."

Tanlac is sold by all good druggists. Take no substitute. Over 37 million bottles old.

Tanlac Vegetable Pills are Nature's own remedy for constipation. For sale everywhere.—adv.

"PROUD TO SAY CARDUI DID IT"

Nashville Lady Attributes Good Health to Cardui—Says She Was Suffering Agony When She Began to Take It.

Nashville, Tenn.—Mrs. Dudley B. Stuart, 512 Ash Street, this city, recently made the following statement: "Before I started taking Cardui, I was sick in bed. I weighed 90 pounds.

"My mother came to see me and told me to get Cardui. My husband went to town and brought home two bottles which I took. At once I began to improve, although up to that time I had taken medicine but it had not helped me at all. From the first dose of Cardui my appetite began to come back.

"I had been suffering from female trouble, was so weak and in such a run-down condition. That was two years ago. I kept on taking Cardui as a tonic.

"My appetite is good. I certainly owe a lot to this fine medicine. Nothing did me any good until I began to take it. It made me gain 48 pounds. I don't weigh quite so much now on account of the baby nursing, but I feel perfectly well. I am very grateful for what it has done for me, for I was suffering agony when I began to take it."

Writing later of her experience in the use of Cardui, Mrs. Stuart said: "My health is better now than ever and am proud to say Cardui did it."

Take CARDUI THE WOMAN'S TONIC

NEWSPAPERARCHIVE®
NEWSPAPERARCHIVE®

Herrick Sues Pretty Typist

Ex-Congressman Asks $50,000 Heart Balm of Ethlyn Chrane.

(By Chicago Tribune Service)

WASHINGTON, June 10—Suit for $50,000 heart balm was instituted in the District of Columbia Supreme court by ex-Congressman Manuel Herrick, self styled aerial daredevil and amateur detective, against Miss Ethlyn Chrane, pretty typist in the government employ.

Miss Chrane, according to the petition, promised to marry Herrick, but then changed her mind and recently had him arrested for annoying her when he accosted on the street in the role of private detective. As a result of this incident Manuel was fined $5 for using "cuss" words.

After stating that the defendant had promised repeatedly to marry him and now refuses to keep her promise, Herrick's petition says.

"Plaintiff states further that at the incipiency of his acq[illegible] with the defendant, she em[illegible] all of the arts and wiles of a [illegible] adventuress to win his love and to obtain his promise to marry her, that defendant pretended to indorse plaintiff's ideas of married life, including the single standard of morality, the defendant promised and agreed that if plantiff would marry her, that she would not occupy her time in petting pug dogs, but, on the other hand, would give her sole attention to keeping house, making a home for the plaintiff and raising some babies that he would be proud of; that for the aforesaid reasons and agreements on the part of defendant plaintiff's consent to marry defendant was obtained, that by reason of all and singular the aforesaid acts and misconduct on the part of defendant plaintiff was prevented from paying his court to other eligible and marriageable ladies that defendant further, by the aforesaid acts and misconduct, on her part, brought plaintiff into ridicule and contempt in the District of Columbia and other parts of the United States through the medium of the public press and otherwise; that by reason of the aforesaid acts and misconduct on the part of the defendant plaintiff's name has been brought into disrepute and his ability to contract and form a suitable alliance in marriage has been seriously damaged and impaired, that by reason of the aforesaid acts and misconduct on the part of the defendant, plaintiff has been scandalized and caused great humiliation throughout the United States and by reason all of which plaintiff has suffered great anguish of mind."

Herrick plans to argue the case himself without the aid of counsel.

Flapper, 20 and Mother of Two Held for Murder

(By Chicago Tribune Service)

CHICAGO, June 10—Anna Senback, a bob-haired flapper, 20 years old and mother of two children, was arrested this evening as the latest suspect in the murder of Richard Tesmer, prominent insurance man, who was shot down in cold blood Tuesday night as he and his wife were being robbed by a man and a woman.

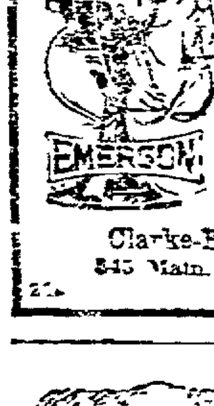

"Johnny" Schatz, known also as "Jack Spots," with a police record alleged "pal" of the Senback girl, was also taken into custody. The Senback girl tallies in every respect with the description of the murderess with the exception that her eyes are light brown instead of blue. Schatz answers the description of the man in every way. Mrs Tesmer, widowed in such tragic manner is in a condition of collapse and unable to come to the station to assist in identifying the latest suspects.

The Mason's lodge of which Tesmer, has spurred the search for the murderers by the offer of $5 000 cash reward for their apprehension.

—N. L. Dalrymple left last night for New York for a visit of ten days. Mr Dalrymple will motor back in his car.

A PRIZE

An Emerson fan in hot weather

The Fan with the 5-Year Guarantee

Sold by

Clarke-Electric Co.
545 Main. Phone 322-J

Worthy of Trust

Consistently striving at all times to merit the approbation of thoughtful men and women we have convinced them that we are most worthy of their trust

F. W. TOWNES & SON
FUNERAL DIRECTORS
531 MAIN ST. PHONES 216-221 [illegible]

Scout Column

The dam at the Community Camp on A D Starling's farm near Pelham, has been completed by the contract and it is proposed to let down the sluice gate this afternoon which will begin the banking up of the water in the pond. C. D. Noblett, the contractor will spend the night at the camp in order to watch the operation.

Tents and cots and other equipment will be forwarded to the Community Camp during the course of the week and it is expected that it soon will be freely patronized by camping parties. A number of expeditions are already being planned. The tents probably will leave tomorrow so that workmen who have been erecting the dam can pitch them permanently.

The boy scout organization in Danville promises to be widely scattered during the Summer as many of the boys will be attending various camps in different parts of Virginia. This will not halt scout activities which will be carried on by those who remain.

Plans have been perfected for an outing by the Danville Girl scouts which organization was formed some time ago, by Miss Olin Thornton, who has one well developed troupe. The group of girls eight or ten in all and ranging in ages from 12 to 15 will go to a point near Cunningham, N C, on Dan River where a camp site has been chosen. A cook has already been secured. Miss Thornton will accompany the girls.

Free Clinics Are Endorsed

The Chamber of Commerce has endorsed the proposed free clinics which are to be established at the city health office beginning next Monday. The following letter was today received by Dr R W Garnett, city health officer from Henry B Watkins, of the Chamber of Commerce.

Danville Va, June 11, 1923

Dr R W Garnett,
Health Officer,
Danville, Va

My dear Dr. Garnett

It is with no small pleasure that I have noticed in the papers that you are planning to hold free chest examinations for both white and colored people at the Health Department from June 18th, to 22nd inclusive. I can assure you that the Chamber of Commerce looks with favor on all efforts which have for their objective the betterment of this city and the surrounding country. Better health is no exception to the rule.

I am informed on good authority that these free chest examinations have already been held in a number of Virginia cities where the response has been most gratifying and I sincerely hope that all individuals who show any indications of Tuberculosis will avail themselves of this splendid opportunity for an examination.

Yours very truly,
H B WATKINS, Secretary.
Danville Chamber of Comm

W. M. Perry Reaches Virgin Island

(Continued From Page One)

found the gov[illegible]ent tug, to leave Tuesday mor[illegible], would accomodate me Sunday afternoon opportunity was found for looking the town over. The majority of the population are negroes. There are, however, many splendid buildings and business houses. An informal call on the governor, met with a response to lend every assistance possible to the work of our station. Of course I hunted up Billy Musselman formerly of Danville, but now in the naval hospital. I also had a pleasant call on Dad Lee former postmaster here. He is packing up to return to the States. Monday was holiday hence many business places were closed. The principal attraction, however was horse racing. This did not interest me as I am not a devotee of the turf, but I was interested in seeing the kind of horses produced on the island. Most of the farm work is done with oxen hence not much attention is given to horse breeding. St Thomas is quite mountainous, therefore not given much to agricultural pursuits. Some cattle are raised, and fruits are grown in the valleys. There are possibilities on the island which we will look into shortly. St John, four miles distant, I did not visit, but have reserved that for a later date. This island furnishes a large quantity of bay leaves from which the famous St Thomas bay rum is made.

Tuesday morning aboard the tug with the governor's secretary, and several ladies and a doctor [illegible] we sped across the forty-five mile water space that separated us from St Croix. We landed at Christiansted a port at the eastern part of the island. A phone call quickly brought Mr C F Thompson, in charge of the experiment station, down in the station Ford to meet me. He took me to his hospitable home at Anna's Hope, the name of the estate secured for the experiment station. St Croix is [illegible] long and four miles wide. Under the Danish government it became a [illegible] agricultural section. There are splendid roads, all running east and west and north and south. In each rectangular space is a large estate consisting of the estate house and a village for the negro laborers. Each estate is given a name, some of which are Bethlehem, Wheel of Fortune, [illegible] Jerusalem, [illegible] and Kent [illegible] Hall etc. Formerly many of the estates had individual sugar mills for manufacturing molasses and rum. Sugar cane [illegible]

[illegible] the station at horticul[illegible] Experience [illegible] hard to break [illegible] I believe I shall enjoy to the utmost.

Mother of Three Graduates From College, Also Keeps House

MRS KATHERINE BOUTON CLAY IN GRADUATING CAP AND GOWN AND HER THREE CHILDREN, JOHN, LEFT, RICHARD, CENTER, AND KATHERINE, RIGHT.

NEWARK, N J, June 11—Mrs. Katherine Bouton Clay thought a college education would make her a better wife and mother.

She has just won an A. B degree from Barnard College at Columbia University. These are the things she had to do to get it:

- Keep house for a family of five.
- Take care of her three children.
- Commute daily from Newark to New York.
- Spend an hour and a quarter en route each way.
- Study and cook and wash and sew —and study!

"Keeping one eye on the children and the other on my textbooks wasn't an easy job," says Mrs Clay. "But it was worth it. I think all women should have a college education to help them bring up their children wisely.

"I left college to get married. And I always wanted to finish—not because I intended to teach or write, but because I believe all of us are better for a knowledge of the past. An educated mother can help the education of her children."

Mrs Clay is 32. It took her 15 years to finish college. She entered Vassar in 1908. Then she met Clifford Clay, writer for trade magazines, and they were married. Three children temporarily drove out all thoughts of college—Katherine now 11; John, eight, and Richard five.

A year ago ambition burned again. Her husband encouraged her to finish her long interrupted college work. And little Katherine volunteered to understudy mother's role at home.

"All the credit isn't mine," says Mrs Clay. "Katherine and my friend, Mrs Walter Rinek, who lives next door, helped with the babies."

Registering at Barnard College over in New York meant this commuting schedule:

20 minutes by trolley to Newark tube station.

20 minutes by tube to Hudson Terminal, New York.

30 minutes by subway to Broadway and 116th street.

4 minutes walk to Barnard on 119th street.

That counts time spent in changing cars twice—an hour and 14 minutes morning and afternoon. She traveled two hours and a half daily and spent as much as five hours in classrooms. And she did much of her studying on trolley and subway cars.

"Plucky? Oh, no, just hard work," says Mrs Clay. "Any mother can go to college or do business work if she knuckles down to the job. It's easy when you know it's worth while."

She thinks it is so much worth while that now that she has a bachelor of arts degree she has decided that in a few years she's going back to college to earn a master's degree.

Inside Details Filipino Murder By Confidante

JULIA HARPMAN

(By Chicago Tribune Service.)

NEW YORK, June 10—Elogio Luzado, the flat-nosed Filipino who was arrested after he tried to hurl the trussed-up body of Miss Blossom Martin, whom he had strangled, over the rail of a Staten Island ferryboat made no secret of his desire to kill the white woman he loved when she refused to marry him. Once before Friday when Luzado killed the pretty young blonde at the home of Dr George B McAuliffe, where they both were employed, the Filipino's hands had threatened the white throat.

She had taunted him. He disgusted her, she told him. Rage heated his savage blood. His wiry fingers closed on her throat, as he screamed "I'm just as good as you!"

The telephone bell rang shrilly. It frightened the brown man and he dropped his hands. Dr Vincent McAuliffe, son of Dr. George B McAuliffe who employed Miss Martin as office attendant, was at the other end of the wire.

Miss Martin related this incident some weeks ago to her confidante, Miss Esther Lichtenberg, who told the police of it today.

Luzado as stolid and surly as he had been since his arrest Friday night, appeared this morning in West Side police court, where he was arraigned on a charge of homicide before Magistrate Frothingham. He was held without bail on a short affidavit and remanded to West Side prison. A Staten Island policeman and two New York City detectives guarded the prisoner in court. At intervals before and after arraignment he cried out that he wanted to die.

Luzado will be arraigned tomorrow morning in homicide court. Mrs Laura Martin, of Troy, N Y, mother of the murdered girl, Mr and Mrs. Charles Martin, of Troy, brother and sister-in-law and Mrs Mary Harrington, with whom Miss Martin lived for several years will be present at tomorrow's arraignment.

Harvey Martin, Jr, a member of the Philadelphia police force and brother of the dead girl, came tonight to New York last night but had to return to Philadelphia today.

The girl's father is in California.

The girl's relatives and Mrs Harrington and Miss Lichtenberg will probably testify before the grand jury on Tuesday when the case is presented by Assistant District Attorney Ryan. They all can tell of the threats against Miss Martin's life made by the Filipino when the girl spurned his attentions.

Miss Lichtenberg stayed many times with Miss Martin when the McAuliffe's were away so that she should not be at the mercy of the Filipino.

"I went there hundreds of times," she said today. "I often remonstrated with Blossom for staying there after he had threatened her. But she said Dr McAuliffe did not think he would her any harm.

The police tonight were seeking to connect Luzado with another murderous attack weeks ago on a young woman who described an assailant closely resembling the Filipino.

Miss Martin had charge of Dr McAuliffe's supply of narcotics, and, according to one report, suspected Luzado of stealing some of the drugs. Luzado is not a drug addict, however.

Train Sheds At Philadelphia Ry. Station Destroyed

(By The Associated Press)

PHILADELPHIA, June 11—Fire early today practically destroyed the train sheds of the Broad Street Station, the Philadelphia terminus of the Pennsylvania Railway. A quantity of mail and baggage and a number of passenger coaches were burned. The flames spread westward and did not reach the main building, containing the waiting rooms. These were damaged by water. The general offices of the company were not damaged. There was no official estimate of the [illegible] believed it would approximate at least one million dollars. Many firemen were overcome by smoke. Outgoing trains were delayed several hours. Passengers on incoming trains were discharged at the West Philadelphia Station and brought to the centre of the city by automobiles. When service was restored all trains left from the West Philadelphia Station.

—Mrs. Lucy Law and her granddaughters K[illegible] Falcon, and Mione Jefferson, left Saturday for a two-weeks visit to Mrs W. A. Waller at Fayetteville, N. C.

Mike Takes a Turkish Bath

(By Chicago Tribune Service.)

HAMMOND, Ind, June 10—Mike Yaksck, of this city, recently went over to Gary to see what was to be seen. After imbibing a few snorts of home brew he saw a Turkish bath sign. Almost any kind of a bath promised a wild adventure for Mike. As this was his first Turkish bath, he decided to shoot the works and left all hope behind, along with his clothing as he entered the operation room.

The blinding steam frightened him and he thought he had landed in hell. He groped his way to a window, smashed it and leaped out into a brilliantly lighted street, clad only in his skin and a frightened countenance. Women screamed and fled and the police finally herded Mike up, covered him with some automobile side curtains and took him to the hospital.

In smashing the window Mike cut the tendrons in his wrist and he has now filed suit against the bath parlor management for $5,000 damages.

FUNERAL OF HENRY VERNON

The funeral of Henry Vernon, brother of Mrs E. C Stephens, who died in Staunton Sunday will be conducted from the residence of Mrs. Stephens, Tuesday morning at 11 o'clock. Dr. Shelburne will conduct the service. Interment in Mt View cemetery.

Piedmont Minstrels Next Friday Night

The Piedmont Minstrels, composed of members of Cabell Street Sunday School Athletic association, will appear in their production Friday night at the Masonic auditorium. Rehearsals for the performance have been going on for the past two months and as there is splendid talent in the organization it is expected that the show will be above par. One of the best features of the program will be the numbers of the male quartet, composed of some of the best singers of the city.

E. F. DIX, AGED 75, DIED SUDDENLY THIS MORNING

The death took place suddenly this morning of E F Dix at his home, 522 Cabell street. He was seized suddenly with acute indigestion which quickly produced fatal results.

Mr Dix was 75 years of age and was a native of Rockingham county, N C, moving to Danville five years ago and having lived here since. His wife died about fifteen years ago but he is survived by the following children.

F. A. Dix and J E Dix of Schoolfield, J. W Dix, Keysville, Lonnie Dix and Brightwell Dix of Keysville, Mrs. W T. Murphy, Danville, Mrs Benjamin Lawrence of Draper, N C, Mrs Ida Albright, Draper, N C, Mrs Ethel Bowen of Highcrest, N. C, Miss Fannie Dix of Danville and Howard Dix of Greensboro.

Pierre Loti, Famous Descriptive Writer, Dies in Basque Country

(By The Associated Press)

HENDAYE, France, June 10.—Pierre Loti, the novelist, died at his home here today. The end came peacefully, with his bedside surrounded by his children and a few of his friends.

M. Loti had been in frail health for a long time. He returned to his beloved Basque country last Tuesday and sank rapidly until death intervened.

He will be buried in a tomb he built on the Island of Oleron, in the Atlantic off the coast of Charente-Inferieure.

When at his best Pierre Loti was judged by many critics of literature to be the finest descriptive writer of the last quarter of the 19th century and the early years of the 20th. For 10 years he traveled the seas as a French naval officer and visited lands in all parts of the world. Returning from these distant journeys he would record his impressions in novels and other works wherein he blended fact and fiction, autobiography and romance, fantasy and photographic description.

His real name was Louis Marie Julien Viaud. The parents, to whom he was born at Rochefort in 1850, were of old Huguenot families and they intended that the son be a minister. He entered the naval school and rose gradually in this profession until, in 1906, he was commissioned a captain.

The itch that sets authors to scratching paper with pen, undaunted by rejection slips, did not attack Loti, who began writing only because he was persistently dogged by those who wanted him to unfold curious experiences that befell him at Constantinople. To please them he published "Azlayade," at the age of 26. Loti, while in the navy served many French colonial campaigns. Once, when asked if his position did not interfere with his literary endeavors, he replied that the opposite was the case—he did all the writing at sea.

Most of Loti's travels were in the Orient, and most of his literature has its setting in that part of the world. He spent so much time in the Orient that he often referred to himself as having an Eastern mind. He had at least, the shyness and the appreciation of the value of silence that one finds after crossing the Pacific westward.

A visit to the South Seas in the early eighties brought about production of his Polynesian idyl, "Le Mariage de Loti," which immediately attracted a large following to him. This was 30 years or more before Tahti became a common huntin gground for authors and scenario writers. Later Loti wrote "Le Roman d'un Spahi," the tale of a soldier's ventures in Senegambia. His best known works came a few years afterward—"Madame Chrystantheme," "Disenchanted," "Pecheur d' Islande," and "Fantome d'Orient."

The life of the French blue-jacket he described in the novel "Mon Frere Yves." Once he got in trouble and was suspended from the navy for a short time because of his exposure in the Figaro of a series of scandals which followed the capture of Hue in the Tongking War, through which he served.

In 1912 Loti came to America to superintend the rehearsal of "The Daughter of Heaven," a dramatic spectacle of the Orient in which he was co-author with Mlle Judith Gautier. He was shy, refusing to let photographers snap him aboard ship or at his hotel, and he professed himself as overcome by the bombardment of reporters interrogations. New York he described as a furious furnace of living.

"To My Eastern Mind," he afterward wrote in reference to the glitter of Broadway by night, "something seemed disconcerting and even rather diabolic, but it was so droll and also so ingenious that I was amused and almost admired it all."

CHILDREN'S DAY EXERCISES AT FIRST PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH

Children's Day exercises were held yesterday morning at the First Presbyterian church in stead of the regular service. The children of the Sunday school took part in a simple program after which awards were made to those who had made perfect attendance records. Dr. Joseph Dunglinson, the pastor, preached a sermon to the children, selecting incidents from the life of David as the background for his talk.

CHANGE IN SCHEDULE

Beginning Sunday, June 10th, the South Main Street and Depot line will be consolidated with the Loop Line, and all cars on this line will run from the Car Barn down Main Street Craghead Street and around the loop to the corner of Holbrook and Main streets, and return by the same route.

All cars will leave the terminus at Holbrook Avenue on the quarter hours (00-15-30-45) and leave the South Main Street terminus at 06-21-36 and 51 minutes past the hour—6 minutes past the quarter hour.

Danville Traction & Power Co.

G. Holland, Pres. Jas. I. Pritchett, Vice-Pres.
Chas. C. Johnson, Gen. Mgr.

THE 27TH SERIES OF THE Union Mutual Building & Loan Ass'n.

BEGINS SATURDAY, JULY 7, 1923

"Save A Piece of Every Dollar"

Join the Ranks With Those Who Have Faith In Themselves and the Community

REGARDLESS of your station or circumstances, you owe it to yourself and to your community to do your part, however, small, toward making your home town a better place in which to live.

The Building & Loan offers you an opportunity to join the ranks of progressive citizenship and at the same time gives you a means for systematic savings and the certainty of a profitable investment.

Decide now that you will be a saver and not a spender.

Payments 25c a Week a Share—Subscribe Now

W. T. GRAVELY, Secretary

UNION MUTUAL BUILDING & LOAN ASSOCIATION.

FRANK TALBOTT, Pres. C. L. BOOTH, Vice. Pres.

ASSETS OVER $600,000

NewspaperARCHIVE®

Soul Culture More Necessary Than Broadening of Intellect Says Minister

The necessity of Christians giving more thought to the broadening of their souls and seeking to attain loftier spiritual ideals, was stressed on Sunday morning in a sermon preached by Rev. Malcolm S. Taylor to a large congregation at the Church of the Epiphany. Rev. Mr. Taylor took his text Chapter 11; Verse 10 of St. Paul's Epistles to the Colossians, "And ye are complete in him which is the king of all principalities and powers."

The natural inference to be drawn from this utterance by St. Paul, the rector said, was that only through full union with Christ could the soul be complete and that unless the soul, like the mind is properly cultivated it remains stunted and fails to follow the normal course of development. A close comparison was made between the development of the mind and that of the soul which is necessary to attain the ideal set forth by the Apostle. Just as education has been resorted to to promote civilization and to refine the human intellect so have opportunities been given to refine the soul; but it does not necessarily follow that completion or the refining of the intellect brings with it the completion or perfecton of the soul. The minister pointed out that intellect works, very often, against the completion of the soul and that super-training results in a warping of spiritual development.

Whether completion of the soul is being accomplished is a question which each person must answer for him or herself. Incompleteness of the soul, the rector declared, betrays itself readily upon a personal searching through restlessness, straining, spiritual dissatisfaction and a troubled conscience. This, he continued, is evidence of the soul or spirit which has failed of development though the intellect may have broadened. It is a realization that God's standard for souls—which has surely been set—has not been attained and this is the couse of this spiritual unhappiness. Reverting to his text Rev. Mr. Taylor declared that the completion of the soul, can come only through Christ and that the soul must remain in its native element if it is to be developed. To remove it from that element which is Christ, it withers and is destroyed and union with him is the only means whereby soul perfection can be realized. In concluding, the rector declared that education is entirely inadequate in soul-perfection and that it must come through communion and through a carefully nurtured growth.

Durham County Farmers Request Enforcement of Every Contract

(Special from the Tobacco Growers Bureau.)

RALEIGH, N C., June 9.—Declaring that the tobacco of tenants on the farms of landlords who are members of the Tobacco Growers Cooperative Association shall not compete on the auction market with the tobacco placed in the farmers pool. The organized growers of Durham county met in a remarkable meeting at Durham Courthouse Saturday, and adopted the following resolutions:

"Farmers of Durham County, members of the Tobacco Growers Association Co-operative, being assembled at Durham for our regular monthly meeting, do wish to go on record as supporting our association to the very fullest in its efforts to enforce each and every term of the contract signed by our members. We have in mind at this time especially that part of the contract which holds each landlord member for all the tobacco produced on his land."

At a rousing meeting of the farmers from all the local units of the Tobacco ssociation in Person county, who met today in Roxboro, a similar resolution was enthusiastically adopted.

Thousands of the organized growers of the Old Belt of North Carolina have gone on record through their local organizations as backing up the decision of ther drectors to secure to the pool all the tobacco grown upon the land of landlord members. Similar action is bein taken by members of the Tobacco Association throughout Virginia, and a wave of enthusiasm among the 90,000 membership of the tobacco co-operatives, bids fair at present to bring a much larger per cent. of tobacco to the pool in 1923 than in the past season.

J E. Bolling, district manager of warehouses, for western North Carolina, today explained the successful sales policy of the Association to the growers who met in Durham who went on record as favoring the orderly and gradual sales of their tobacco to the association, which will assure them reasonable profits.

More than half a million dollars will be paid to the members of the Association in the dark belt of Virginia from their co-operative warehouses on Monday, and further payments will be made in both the Carolinas and Virginia as soon as sufficient sales have been made to warrant a further distribution.

Swiss Government Is Proving Helpful

(By The Associated Press)

LAUSANNE, June 9.— Lausanne is doing its bit to prove helpful in the existing crisis, the Swiss government invited the entire near east peace conference delegation and correspondent today on an excursion to Lake Leman. Every one seemed happy but nobody found a formula to save the conference from ship-wreck on the jagged rocks of the Ottoman debt.

Ismet-Pasha, hero of the excursion, informed The Associated Press correspondent:

"It is a charming excursion, but I hope the American people will understand that we can never sign a peace which means the financial strangulation of Turkey. We simply cannot pay our debt in foreign currency; so why should the Allies ask me to sign Turkey's death warrant?"

M Venizelos, head of the Greek delegation, told a tale scarcely less important. "If this conference is adjourned, as it may have to be, because of failure to agree over the Turkish debt problem," he said, "I shall ask the conference to authorize the signature of peace plenipotentiary between Turkey and Greece before we separate. That is only just Practically everything is arranged between Turkey and Greece and adjournment of the conference would only create a risk of new clashes between the Hellenic and Ottoman armies.

"Mind you, I do not say a separate peace, but peace plenipotentiary guaranteeing peace at some future date."

The Allied leaders said their positions were diametrically opposed to the position of the Turks and admitted they saw no light.

Somebody must retreat from the advanced line and the next few days will disclose who is to be conciliatory if the conference is to be saved. In the meantime Joseph C. Grew, the American representative continues active in his mediation efforts. Before embarking on the excursion he brought Congressman Stephen G. Porter to see Ismet Pasha at a Lausanne Hotel. Ismet informed the correspondent later:

"We had a fine chat, which makes me believe that the United States has the most friendly sentiments toward my country.

The solution of the grave situation may be found in the application of some kind of moratorium to Turkey: indeed, Ismet Pasha gave the impression tonight that if the moratorium were for a sufficiently long period Turkey might accept this in a way of settlement.

CRISIS AT CONFERENCE HAS REACHED AN ACUTE STAGE

LAUSANNE, June 9 — The crisis in the Near East Peace Conference ovr the question of the Ottoman debt has reached an acute stage, the allied delegations received instructions to remain firm in their position while similar instructions to the Turks came from Angora last night. The task of American Minister Grew, who was invited to tender his good offices, thus becomes more difficult, and in many quarters, it is declared the conference must either adjourn or collapse.

ENGLISH NOBLE MEETS FIANCEE

(By The Associated Press)

BUFFALO, N Y, June 9—The Earl of Nortesk stepped off a train here today and was whisked away in haste by his fiancee, Jessica Brown, Follies girl and dancer, whose marriage to the young English Lord was balked several days ago when City Clerk Cruise, of New York, refused to issue a license

Miss Brown was awaiting her tried fiance with a big motor car. There were no fond embraces, a least not automobile was reached. The Earl until the protecting interior of the big took Jessica's arm, as he piloted her through the station crowd, stepped into the car and was driven away went to the home of Mrs. Albert with slight ceremony.

Elsie Ferguson Reaches "Amicable Understanding" to Leave Husband

(By Chicago Tribune Service.)

ELSIE FERGUSON

NEW YORK, June 11.—Reservedly discussing her estrangement from her husband, Thomas B. Clarke, Jr., Harriman National Bank vice-president, Elsie Ferguson, stage and screen star, today declared that she and Clarke had reached "an amicable understanding to separate." They parted ten days ago. Neither has made known the cause of their differences.

Miss Ferguson said she had not yet decided whether she would take legal proceedings against her husband.

"Of course I shall go on with my screen work," she added. "I intend to go away soon for the summer—no, not to Europe. And when I return I may have made up my mind as to what steps I shall take with regard to Mr. Clarke."

There is much speculation today as to whether the separation of Elsie Ferguson, noted beauty of the stage and screen, from her husband, Thomas B. Clarke, Jr., a banker, is to be followed by divorce proceedings or other legal action. The couple have three children.

It had been rumored for some time that the actress and her husband were having difficulties, but the fact that they actually had separated was a surprise to many of their intimates as well as the thousands of others who know Miss Ferguson through her work on the screen. Their marriage in 1916 was a social event and had since been reckoned one of the happy marriages of the stage.

Mr. and Mrs. Clarke have been living during the summer in Southampton, but Mr. Clarke now is staying at the Yale Club and his wife has an apartment at No. 350 Park Avenue

In July, 1921, Miss Ferguson and her husband went to Europe and the actress remarked then that she was on her second honeymoon.

Miss Ferguson was born in this city Aug. 19, 1883, according to theatrical records, and was educated at Normal College. She first appeared on the stage in 1900 as a chorus girl in "The Belle of New York." She has been twice married, her first husband being Fred Hoey.

She was with "The Belle of New York" for forty weeks, after which she appeared in "The Two Schools," a farce adapted from the French. She appeared in every female character in this production, and returned to musical comedy.

Her greatest successes were as Dolly Todd in "Dolly Madison," which was at the Gaiety Theatre in 1911; as Anna Victoria in "such a Little Queen," at the Esther Eccles, in "Caste," at the Empire Theatre in 1910, and in "Outcast" in 1914

After appearing in "Outcast" she was absent from the stage for three years, and then returned to star in "Sacred and Profane Love" and later in "The Varying Shroe." There have been screen reproductions of some of her stage successes

Lasker Plans Are Opposed

BY GRAFTON WILCOX

(By Chicago Tribune Service.)

WASHINGTON, June 10—Rumblings of protest against the trial trip next week of the United States Shipping Board's gigantic refitted ocean liner, the Leviathan, which Chairman A. D. Lasker has sought to make the occasion of an outing for six hundred invited guests including many government officials and members of Congress, are now developing into serious criticisms be carried to President Harding this week in an effort to stop the cruise.

Protests from first came from persons who were not invited to accompany Mr Lasker on the six day cruise from Boston on the giant liner, the plan for the trip contemplating no the big vessel merely cruising through the southern waters for a few days and to put in at New York in shipshape for the first scheduled trip for Europe, July 4.

Now several Congressmen who were invited have declined their invitations, including Republicans, and Representative Graham, (Republican), Illinois, one of those who declined, has issued a statement opposing the trip as unnecessary and a waste of tax payers money. It is also reported that Representative Madden, Republican, Illinois, chairman of the Appropriations Committee and others are to make formal protest against the trip to President Harding. They declare that the trip will cost $400,000 and that it will amount to nothing but a joy ride, the builders trial trip already having been executed in the trip of the liner from Newport News, Virginia, to Boston.

The Democratic national committee today joined in the attack against the trip which Chairman Lasker, insists is going to be made, despite the criticisms that are being showered him.

"This trip is not necessary", Representative Graham said tonight, "the ship has had one trial trip from Newport News to Boston. Why another? If a trial trip is needed why take 600 or 800 people on it at the expense of the government?

"If the men who reconditioned the ship were paying the expense, it might be different but the invitation is from the government and the presumption is that Uncle Sam pays the freight. The ship stops nowhere No member of Congress or pubuc official can get any information of value to the government by taking it. Therefore, I think the trip is foolish and absolutely unnecessary."

The Democratic national committee in a statement issued today said:

"Unless Chairman Lasker of the United States Shipping Board, abandons his plan for a 'million dollar joy ride' on the Leviathan, the Harding administration will find itself next January, on the eve of a presidential campaign, facing a Congressional demand for an explanation of a waste of taxpayers money. An investigation of this junket de luxe is certain to be forced by the Democrats of Congress

"Republican politicians of the practical type are angry at Chairman Lasker for embarrassing the administration and the party and they are permitting expressions of their feelings to reach the White House. These Republicans foresee that radicals and progressives of their household will sponsor proposals for drastic cuts in taxes as soon as the next Congress convenes in December and that Secretary Mellons, Senator Smoot and other members and spokesmen of the administration will be expected to defeat any such program

"The contrast between the Administration's opposition to a downward revision of taxes and its attempts to justify Chairman Lasker's costly cruise will be thoroughly advertised to the country and furnish a new difficulty for Republican candidates—from Mr Harding down—all through the campaign.

LEAGUE OF NATION QUESTION

(By Chicago Tribune Service.)

BUENOS AIRES, June 9. That Argentine intends to make another effort to persuade the League of Nations to admit all governments to membership on an equal footing is indicated by a message President Dr Marcello T. De Alvear sent to Congress today asking legislative sanction for Argentine's membership and requesting an appropriatoin to pay the expenses

WANT VOLSTEAD ACT MODIFIED

NEW YORK, June 9—Some method should be found to permit foreign vessels to bring liquor into American ports in order to avoid embarrassment to the shipping interests of the world, Senator Spencer, of Missouri, said today upon returning from a trip abroad.

Hopkins Tries to Buy Evidence

(By Chicago Tribune Service.)

NEW YORK, June 10.—Intensive investigation by the district attorney and the New York Bar Association into the allaged illegal methods of Robert Thomas Hopkins to secure evidence in support of his $500,000 suit against Joseph Fleischmann for alienation fo Mrs Hopkins affections will be begun tomorrow.

In affidavits in the hands of District Attorney Banton it is alleged that Hopkins and hsi wife entered into collusion to blackmail the members of the wealthy yeast manufacturing family following the lines of a scheme which, it is charged, they employed in New Orleans some years ago to extort a large sum of money from a rich southerner.

The affidavits are signed by Mrs. Hester Howard, niece of Mrs. Hopkins, an dher husband, Ralph Howard. Both of them claim that Hopkins, Mrs Hopkins, and their lawyer, Eli Johnson, of 1540 Broadway, offered them a large sum of money to testify that they had seen Mrs Hopkins in a compromising situation with Fleischman.

Malcolm Sumner, attorney for Fleischman, has turned the case over to the district attorney, with intimations that he will charge the Hopkins pair with blackmail, and has announced that the entire file will be handed over to the Bar Association.

In her statement, Mrs. Howard says:

"On April 29, Mr. Hopkins and my aunt, Mrs. Hopkins, called on my husband and myself. They said they were suing Joe Fleischman, and that I could do them a big favor. They said if I would sign an affidavit to the effect that I had seen Aunt Dorothy in Fleischman's company many times, had seen them in the attitude of love-making, they would pay me $1,000. I told them I couldn't do it because I had never seen my aunt with Fleischman at any time."

THE MARK DROPS OWING TO FINANCIAL COLLAPSE

BERLIN, June 9.—The mark unofficially touched 90,000 to the dollar at one time on the exchange market today and the official rate was from 83,790 to 84,210, an advance of about 4,500 over yesterday's rate.

The new collapse was ascribed in financial circles due mainly to the reported action of the French in dumping upon the market billions of German bank notes seized in the Ruhr.

Jewels Stolen

Mrs. Wm Ellis Corey, wife of the American steel magnate, reported on her arrival in London from Paris the other day that she had been robbed of pearls valued at $100,000.

HARNSBERGER'S
Sensational MILLINERY SALE
Monday And All This Week

Our buyer having just returned from the New York Market has made some phenomenal purchases, large quantities for cash which must be turned back into cash. These prices will do it.

LADIES' HATS $1.00

$1 65 dozen ladies and misses hats in white and colored milan, hemps and combination hemp and silk crown, trimmed in flowers or banded with velvet, values from $2.00 to $4.00. This week only $1.00.

LADIES' HATS $1.98

$1.98 50 dozen ladies fine milan trimmed and sport hats, also fancy braids and hemps in black and colors, flowers and velvet trimmed, values up to $5.00, this week only $1.98

LADIES' HATS $2.98

$2.98 40 Dozen ladies Panama flower and ribbon trimmed, Tosca Straws, Oatmeal and many other straws, trimmed up to date, black and all colors, value up to $6.00, for this week only $2.98

CHILDREN'S HATS $1.48

$1.48 40 dozen children's hats in finest Italian milan, black, white and brown. All trimmed ribbon and wool streamers, value $2.50 for this week only, $1.48.

Wonderful Dress Opportunity

Over 600 dresses bought for cash at tremendous sacrifice on sale all this week.

SILK DRESSES $3.75

$3.75 Over 200 dresses all silk, All-Time and Sunbeam crepe with Paisley top, all colors and combinations, value $8.00, this week only, $3.75.

LADIES' DRESSES $9.95

$9.95 Over 100 Ladies' Dresses in Canton Crepes, Printed Crepes, Tub Silks, and Shantong and Spanish lace, value, $15.00 this week only, $9.95.

LADIES' DRESSES $12.95

$12.95 Over 100 Ladies Dresses in fine Canton Crepes, flat crepe, black, navy and all colors, newest styles, value $20.00, for this week only, $12.95.

LADIES' DRESSES $16.50

$16.50 Ladies' high-grade dresses in finest silks and most beautiful styles, all new Spring colors including black navy, also light combination sport dresses, value $25.00, this week only, $16.50.

Large variety of Linen, voile, gingham and wash dresses of every style and material at special reduced prices for this week only.

HARNSBERGER'S
DEPARTMENT STORE
LEADER OF LOW PRICES

NEWSPAPERARCHIVE®

The Danville Bee

Published Every Week Day Afternoon
—by—
THE BEE PUBLISHING COMPANY.
RORER A. JAMES, JR.,
Owner and Publisher.

TELEPHONES:
Business or Circulation Dept. .No. 21
Editor or Reporters.........No. 338

THE BEE in the city and suburbs is served by carrier, on their own account at 10c and 12c a week; and sold by news boys at two cents a copy.

THE BEE by mail, $4.50 a year; $2.25 six months; $1.15 three months, or 40c a month, payable invariably in advance.
NOTE—The above rates apply only to postal zones 1, 2 and 3. Rates beyond 3rd zone given on request.
Notice is mailed before expiration. Subscribers should give prompt attention to renewals.

Member of The Associated Press.
The Associated Press is exclusively entitled to the use for republication of all news dispatches credited to it or not otherwise credited in this paper, and also the local news published herein. All rights of republication of special dispatches herein are also reserved.

Entered at Danville, Va., Postoffice as second-class mail matter.

Liberal space will be accorded any person or institution feeling personally aggrieved by any expression in these columns.

A THOUGHT

He was wounded for our transgressions, he was bruised for our iniquities: the chestisement of our peace was upon him: and with his stripes we are healed.—Isa. 53:5.

* * *

The severest punishment suffered by a sensitive mind, for injury inflicted upon another, is the consciousness of having done it.—Hosea Ballou.

MONDAY, JUNE 11, 1923.

A TIMELY SUGGESTION.

Revival of the swimming pool project by the Young Men's Business club associated with women's organizations will receive general and hearty commendation although it may be too late to materialize the plan this summer. The need of such a recreative center has long since been recognized and there have been from time to time discussions of the development of a swimming and wading pool. The old bi-cameral council had the pool project under consideration but it never got beyond the phase of general discussion, and like many other "best laid plans" it failed of materialization.

There is no reason why the Young Men's Business club after putting its shoulder to the wheel should not accomplish definite results for it has successfully fathered more than one project and with the aid of women's organizations the task should be facilitated.

Early consideration of the pool project centered on Ballou park where the council at one time had in mind a large bathing establishment with ample facilities for swimming and shallow water for the smaller children. There are obvious objections to this since it would be too remote for hundreds of little children who might safely find their way to some more central location.

Several other spots in the city are being considered. One of them is understood to be a triangular stretch of property bounded by Main street, Pine and Jefferson which has been suggested as affording sufficient room for the pool, as well as being convenient of access. Sentiment is ripe for this innovation. Too little opportunity is afforded the children for wholesome play and recreation during the summer holidays and too many children are playing in the street facing a constant and growing risk to life and limb. A swimming pool may be the forerunner of playgrounds and other health promoting opportunities for the youngsters.

A NOTABLE BIRTH RECORDED

Danville takes another step up the ladder of progress today with the first appearance of the Danville News which enters the local field of newspaperdom after months of careful preparation. The new afternoon daily which becomes a contemporary of The Bee gives this city three newspapers and places Danville on a par with the state capital which also has three daily journals in the field, thus, emphasizing this community's growth and its progressive tendencies.

To Mr. William B. Smith, and to those who are associated with him in the conduct of the Danville News, The Bee extends its greeting.

May we all be friendly enemies in a fair field with no favors.

Consideration of the birth of a newspaper cannot fail to produce a longing for the Elysian fields through which it first wanders. What a [illegible] it is [illegible] into life with the hand of no man against one with no scowling figure to remind the enquiring reporter of the animosities resultant from his legitimate "story" of the day before or sneer for last week's editorial opinion no raucous complaint for the "all" that went wrong or for the [illegible] that imperfection—and newspapers are no less human than individuals.

The Bee, standing with other veteran journals in the outer darkness where there is weeping, wailing and gnashing of teeth frankly envies the News in the thrill which comes once in a lifetime.

The moving picture shows are now teaching by pictures just as some of the schools are trying to do by books. But labor cannot be eliminated from the farming equation.

Scoop's Colyum

DRAKES BRANCH, June 11.—(Grapevine Wireless.)—"Private John M. Allen, of Mississippi, was one of the best story tellers in Congress in his day, and many of the yarns he spun were told on himself. On one occasion he was invited to speak at a large city gathering and he noticed that the gentleman presiding over the meeting took his watch out and put it on the table after the introducton.

"Now, Mr. Toastmaster," began Allen, "I see you have your watch out in front of you, and I want to make a request of you, something like a darkey made down in my district when they were holding a very enthusiastic negro meeting in my behalf, in one of my congressional races. The negro who had gotten up the meeting had selected a man to preside over the meeting, and he says, 'Now, I'll get up and speak something about Mr. Allen. You know, we can all say a good deal about him. But,' he says, 'you watch me, and when I say, 'Now, my fellow citizens, I come to the most important subject of this campaign, a subject upon which I am thoroughly posted, and to which I have given much thought, and which I think I am competent to speak upon, the question of the tariff. When you hear me say 'tariff' then you say 'TIME.'"

(It is said that the toastmaster slyly put his watch back into his pocket and time was forgot in the rapid fire of Allen's wit and humor.)

—oo—

The Main street poker club is still looking for nice quiet quarters, on the shady side of the street.

—oo—

The Too Sure Lover.

Beware the man who takes your love for granted. For his goings and comings shall be as casual as the winds of summer.

Lo, his attention will be as satisfying as a last year's hat.

Though he accept your love with the tenacity of a pawnbroker, his security will not be generous. For the diamond solitaire enters not into such a compact And e'en though you name the wedding day, his postponements shall be as frequent as those of a ball game in rainy weather.

Waste not the blossom of your loveliness upon such a laggard. For your heart will be fettered. And your days of waiting will be many. And his jealousies will be even greater than his procrastinations.

Alas, the promises of the two sure suitor are like unto those of a politician, and as reliable.—Kay Keen.

—oo—

Only three and a half weeks until the Fourth of July!

—oo—

But we can have Waffles every day!

—oo—

Jesse James rode a horse. Men who cut pie in eight pieces don't.

—oo—

Oh, what is so rare as a day in June?
I'll answer this famed explanation—
It's finding a Democrat holding a job
In a Republican administration.

—oo—

No, Marcellus, Easter Sunday is not Billie's sister.

—oo—

Brother Dodd says so fliv that it never will become necessary to explain that you honestly hadn't had a drop.

—oo—

Philosophy is just the art employed to kid yourself into the belief that money isn't everything.

—oo—

The only two creatures referred to as "so human" are a great man and a monkey.

—o—

Some children are free to have a good time, and some have mothers who worry about them.

—oo—

Brazil is really the place for the tired bank clerks to enjoy life, believes the assistant cashier. In Brazil there are nine holidays in January and February.

—oo—

She was throbbing—pulsating—full of life, so I—stepped on the gas and rode down to the station.

—oo—

"Yes, Clarice, a missing finger on a deaf and dumb man might be called an impediment of speech."

—oo—

Death doesn't seem so frightful when you think of it as crossing the bar. It doesn't help, however, to think of crossing the street.

—oo—

News From the Suicide Club.

A new drink—Aeroplane Cocktail. One drop will kill you.

—oo—

You can idolize a woman, but you can't analyze her.

—oo—

Smile.
(Grenville Kleiser.)

If the weather looks like rain,
Smile.
When you feel you must complain,
Smile.
Do not mind if things seem gray,
Soon there'll come a brighter day,
You will find that it will pay
To Smile.

If the world looks sad and dream,
Smile.
Banish every thought of fear.
Smile.
Do the very best you can.
Play your part now like a man,
Make each day a better plan
And Smile.

If you taste life's bitter cup,
Smile
Should the doctors give you up,
Smile
You are very far from dead,
Waste no time in useless dread,
Put your trust in God instead
And Smile.

—oo—

One Danville man considers the two-dollar bill so unlucky that he always gives his wife one for her allowance.

—oo—

Of Course Not!

Mr. Browne—Do you love me, dearie?

Mrs. Browne—Do you think I could stand you if I didn't?—Town Topics.

—oo—

A Shaker.

Edward—My love for you is like the deep, deep blue sea—

Edwina—And I take it with just the corresponding amount of salt.—"Topics of the Day" Films

—oo—

Smoothing 'Em!

Mabel—Bill's filling his old love letters.

Lizzie—Were they as rough as that?—Vaudeville News.

—oo—

Art Conceals Art!

She (petulantly)—Jack, you make love like an amateur.

He—That's where the art comes in.—Boston Transcript.

—oo—

To make a mistake and then brood over it is to make two mistakes.

—oo—

Rich friends are a great expense; one is so apt to live beyond their means

—oo—

Having what you want is not nearly so interesting as getting what you want.

THE OLD HOME TOWN -:- -:- -:- -:- By Stanley

Anvil Sparks

Our favorite king is July the Fourth.

—o—

The kids' vacation has started. Teacher's vacation has started. Mother's vacation has ended.

—o—

Bathing suits show the winter left some of the folks in bad shape.

—o—

Things are so quiet over in Ireland now many of the small children think every day is Sunday.

—o—

China isn't as much a yellow peril to most of us as sunburn.

—o—

A neighbor buying berries tells us she will eat what she can and can what she can't.

—o—

If man reaps what he sows lots of people sowed weeds.

—o—

A boy of nine who stole an auto in Louisville, Ky., was going in the wrong direction.

—o—

We don't know who lost the war, but Europe seems to be hunting it.

—o—

Some of these graduates have the polish of a college education without the education.

—o—

Every time taxes jump they land on the average man's neck.

—o—

Our guess is the weather seems hotter this year because we have no rail strike to cuss.

—o—

Some women will make a fool out of a man. Some women will make a man out of a fool.

—o—

Most of us had rather be the world's champion runner than the world's champion fighter.

—o—

The claim doctors filled war veterans' teeth with brass. The doctors had enough brass.

—o—

Man proposes building an island beyond the three-mile limit, but may get into hot water.

—o—

These are the days the flies are following men home to open the screen door for them.

—o—

An invention to keep couples from dancing too close may be worn by men wishing to stay single.

—o—

Unlocking the windows makes them easier to raise.

—o—

Electric lights last longer if kept in the dark.

A lounge with both sides slanting toward the middle is handy furniture for husband catching.

—o—

A June groom tells us she is worth her weight in sugar, even at present sugar prices.

—o—

Some girls wanting to marry should never go swimming, while others should go every day.

—o—

Checkers is a fine game. The sitting still trains a person to wait for street cars.

—o—

Have a picture made before breakfast. Send her one. May help you stay single in June.

—o—

If there is a business depression it is pretty high depression.

DANVILLE MOTHER'S PLEA FOR EDUCATION

To the Editor, The Bee:

On Tuesday, June 19th, the people of Danville will be called on to vote on one of the most important, even vital issues which they have had to meet in many years. Certainly it is the most absorbing question and one of which most closely touches the home and effects the future which developed since the franchise was confered on women.

Reference is, one of course, to the proposal to authorize an issue of city bonds to the amount of $300,000, the net proceeds of which is to be applied to the construction and equipment of public school buildings and making adequate provisions for the present and future needs of the city in public education. Reduced to a sentence, the real issue is: Shall Danville maintain its schools at their present standard and meet its obligations to the children of the community. Already the city is excluding children from the public schools until they attain the age of seven, whereas the minimum age for school entrance elsewhere in the State in six years. Why this discrimination against Danville children? Simply because the city had not the room to house more pupils, nor sufficient equip additional buildings. Some of the present renovated (or needing renovation) school buildings are unfit for the uses to which they are put.

If the schools are to be maintained and developed to meet normal needs, funds must be provided with which to equip them. This can only be done in two ways: (1) by an issue of city bonds, as proposed; or (2) by an increase of current revenues. In either event, it will cost the citizens and tax-payers something, but everything worth while costs something. The bond issue plan will distribute over a long period of years, and the and amount required annually in interest would be far less than the increased taxation, if the structures are to be built, equipped and operated out of the current revenues."

Let no one scare us with the idea of a small tax increase as an incident of the bond issue. Unless the needs of the schools are supplied by such a uniform distribution of the costs through a series of years, a much greater tax increase will be requisite to provide the money through current revenues with which to meet these extraordinary, but imperative needs. The schools must be equipped, manned and maintained. Let us remember that. The city can be required to do this. The gradual expansion of the number of pupils has already crowded the existing structures, and still there is not room. The longer we defer meeting these demands, the greater the burden will be when they are finally met. The State laws require that we must provide educational facilities for our children, even if we were not anxious to do this of our own accord. The School Board had done all it was humanly possible to do to meet these demands with funds available from normal State and city taxand revenue sources. They have husbanded the revenues carefully, jealously, and have appealed for more; but the Council frankly admits its inability to provide more without borrowing on the city's credit; i. e., by an issue of bonds.

The sum needed and on which the people will vote is not excessive nor exorbitant. Indeed, it is a conservative estimate of what is required for urgent needs and for immediate future demands. The city is growing rapidly; the demand for public education is growing even more rapidly, a fine testimony to the efficiency of the city's school system and those who couduct as well as those direct its activities. Indeed, it is a choice between issuing bonds now and submitting to a small increased tax (which would leave the total city taxes less than those of other cities), or by delay and reliance on current revenues, having soon to submit to still larger tax increase. Let us choose the wiser course and in preparing for this and the next generation distribute the cost through a series of years, so that posterity, which will be beneficiary, shall share the burden of what we provide for them.

A great writer with art of saying big things concisely has given us this epigram: "When education widens, the marvelous vision of the universe widens, and the idea of God takes a more noble and mighty shape."

Vote for bonds and the maintenance of the schools at the highest state of effiency. Our children are entitled to the best and as parents our obligation is to provide the best and sufficient facilities. A well known Virginia publicist years ago uttered this statement: "Universal suffrage: it is imperative that we make provision for universal education.

Let's do it on Tuesday, June 19th by voting "For bonds."

A Danville Mother
Danville, Va., June 9th.

A STATEMENT

The undersigned organizations opposing the present Library sit wish to make a simple statement of their position. They see no reason why Danville should not have a Library and at the same time preserve the beauty and symmetry of the Memorial grounds, which the city has accepted as a trust that they did not rise to public protest sooner, is due partly to the fact that many quiet efforts had been made to influence the donors. That the majority of the people did not realize the actual location of this building until the grounds were staked off is not remarkable; when even now a greater majority of the people do not know that the city has given nearly $40,000.00 towards its maintenance, as well as the use of a $100,000.00 piece of property. When this property was saved as a Memorial Park for the town by the efforts of the citizens they did not rise to public action until Mr. W. B. Hill had bought a lot thereon and money had passed and deeds had ben prepared. He gracefully yielded his claim.

Petersburg has recently accepted the gift of an old residence for a Library, which experts say can be used as such. So, if the city can give $35,300.00 in order to get this new building, costing $85,000.00 at a time when they cannot float bonds for school improvement without increased taxes, why could they not maintain and improve a Library in its present beautiful and historic home. The university of Vrigicia still uses a building built by Thomas Jefferson.

ANN ELIZA CHAPTER, U. D. C.
By Mrs. A. B. Carrington.
DANVILLE CHAPTER U. D. C
By Mrs. Harry Wooding, Jr.
THE LADIES MEMORIAL ASSO.
By Mrs. August Yates.

LETTER FROM JOHN ALDEN PRESCOTT TO SYDNEY CARTON

DEAR SYD:

Leslie is going to New York a little earlier than I expected and if you have any friendship at all for me, come on over and straighten out this thing with Paula.

I don't like this having to regret. It is something I have never had to do before, Syd—and I don't mind telling you that probably I would not be very regretful or remorseful if it were not for Leslie.

That may sound rather hard but Paula, too, was playing the game and she was putting her wits against mine as I was saying against her. I did not stack the cards, Syd. Paula knew the game she was playing just as well as I did. One of us had to lose. This time it was she.

It was a strange thing, Syd: how we poor human beings are always taking chances. We do things that we know or ought to know are wrong hoping that by some possibility we, instead of Fate, will draw the winning card.

Men play an hour's pleasure against the content and quiet joy of home and then, when they lose years of happiness to the law of compensation, they rail against destiny of fate or everything but themselves. We should be good losers but we seldom are.

Ever since Biblical times men have exchanged their birthrights for a mess of pottage and women have played their honor against the protestations of men they loved and in most cases they have lost the game.

Men play their health against love of fame or financial success and Sickness and Death usually divide the pot. Sometimes I think, Syd, that in nothing that any mortal does is the element of chance lacking. And sometimes I think, my friend, that it is just this chance that makes life worth living although just at present I sincerely wish I had not taken it.

But if you and I could tell just what the outcome of the game we are playing each day would be, we would find life very stale and unprofitable, for we would indeed be brothers of the ox. There would be no fillip, no thrill in existence at all.

It is this constant hope that the next turn of the cards will deal us a good hand that keeps us interested in the game and when this eager interest in the turn of Life's cards dies, I'm sure we are dead though we may think that we live.

Don't think I'm writing you all this Syd, in any way to mitigate the bawling out which I know you are going to give me. I'm sorry, sorry, for all of my past, for the ghost of it is walking these days.

I think I am also a bit jealous of Leslie's homefolks and ties. She seemed so eager to get away. She has been moping around a lot lately, but since it is settled that she goes to New York tomorrow night she has been a different kind of a girl, almost like the one I married and certainly the one woman who satisfies all that my mind, my soul and my body crave. She is a real and loyal friend and when she clasps my hand it is in closest comradeship. Yet she has the ability to set my blood tingling to Love's sweetest measure.

Yes, Syd, I am still in love with Leslie. That is why I hope you will satisfy in some way the claims that Paula thinks she has on me.

JACK.

—o—

TOMORROW: Leslie Prescott to her husband—Sweet thoughts of love.

—o—

The Henry Ford presidential boom is worrying both political parties not a little. If the newspapers do not stop knocking him, he will be liable to throw his hat into the ring.

George Gould in his will distributed $36,000,000 among his seven legitimate and three love children. It was to his credit, at least, that he finally acknowledged and provided for those born out of wedlock.

BEGIN HERE TODAY

Calvin Gray is the enemy of Colonel Henry Nelson, a banker. Gus Briskow strikes oil and meets Gray, who proves a friend in need to the Briskow family. Allie, the daughter, falls in love with Gray, but he loves Barbara Parker. Bud Briskow, son of Gus, falls into the hands of an adventuress from whom Gray rescues him. Briskow buys a beautiful home and Gray visits him there. Gray hires Mallow and two associates to keep close watch of Nelson's activities in the oil fields. Gray tells the president of the largest bank in Dallas of his hate for Nelson.

NOW GO ON WITH STORY

"We got a slave that tends the door, but I 'ain't got gentled up to bells an' things yet. Allie's away an' Ma's layin' down, so—"

"Ma isn't ill, I hope?"

"N-no. Just ailin'."

"You were in luck to find a house in such a smart neighborhood, Gus. Now show me around, quickly, for I'm dying to see it."

"Lord, I'm dyin' to show it to somebody! You're the first one that's dropped in an' we been here 'most two weeks. Say, you'll stay an' eat supper, won't you?"

"Of course I will, and breakfast, too, if you can take care of me."

"Pshaw! Didn't we take keer of you when you come to the ranch? We got three niggers now, just doin' the housework. I'd of bought a bigger house if they'd of let me, but—"

"It is large enough. Anything more would merely add to your cares."

"Allie and Ma picked out the furniture. Swell, ain't it?"

"Beautiful!" Gray exclaimed. Inwardly he groaned, for, although the contents of the home appeared to be expensive, almost ostentatious, they nevertheless betrayed a conspicuous lack of taste both in character and in arrangement. Here and there were color combinations so atrocious that they positively hurt the caller. On the whole, however, the place looked better than he had expected, and such indications of harmony and restraint as he detected he attributed to Allie. It was a nice enough home, and with a little change, a little rearrangement, it could be made attractive even to one of elegant tastes. Those changes, of course, Gray determined to make.

"Allie's gone out to the old farm to get some stuff for Ma," the father explained in due time. "Some pitchers of her an' Buddy when they was little, an' a rockin'-chair, an' Ma's favorite bedspread, an' some other things she likes."

Gray remembered the portraits, executed by a St. Louis "enlargement" concern. They had wide gilt frames, and were protected from ravaging flies by mosquito netting. He hoped that Ma would not hang them in the hall or the living-room. And that rocker, for which she yearned, was probably the one with the creaking coiled springs—the one that had leaped after him and clashed its jaws like an alligator.

"By the way, how does Buddy like the new hime?" the latter inquired.

"He 'ain't seen it yet. Says he's too busy to leave the job. What you done to that boy, anyhow?"

"I'm making a real man out of him—and an oil man, too. He knew how to dress tools when I got him, but he's a pretty good driller now. Before long he'll be able to take charge of your property and run it on practical lines.

"Tell me, Gus, how much money have you got?"

"I dunno. Figgers over a thousand dollars don't mean much to me."

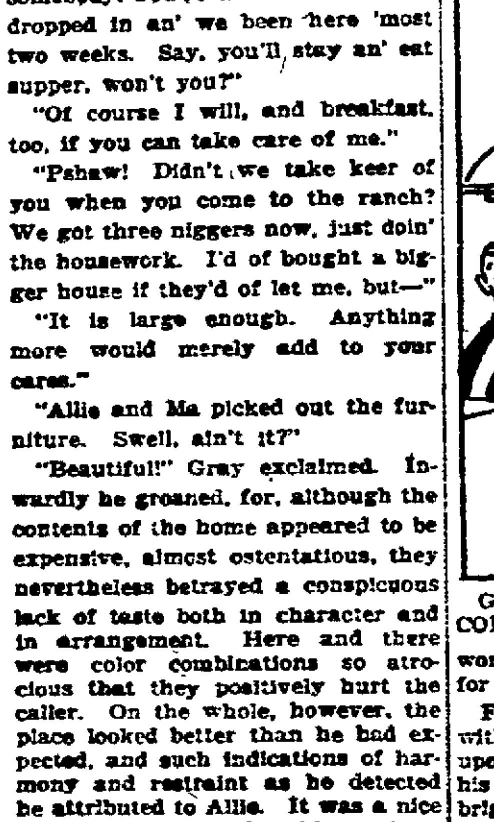

Gray searched the speaker's face with a speculative gaze. "It's mostly liquid, I presume." There was a pause. "I mean it's in cash or the equivalent?"

"Oh, sure! These bonds an' stocks an' things—" Briskow shook his head disapprovingly. "Land ain't any too safe, either. It's rainin' now, an' it'll keep on rainin' till the farmers is all drowned out. Next year it'll be droughty an' fry 'em to a crisp. No, I'm skeered of land. I'm skeered of everything!" This last was said plaintively.

"You're the only man I ever knowed that I'd bank my life on. An' you're smart. You wouldn't take Buddy, but mebbe you'd kinda —take me: take all of us. I tell you I'm skeered!"

"Just how much confidence do I inspire in you?" Gray's expression was peculiar, for amazement, doubt, eagerness were equally blended.

"This much: I'd turn the hull works over to you, if you'd look out for us."

GRAY PLAYED BUTLER WITH CORRECTNESS AND POISE.

For quite a while the caller sat with head bowed, with his gaze fixed upon the flames: when he looked up his face was red, his eyes were brighter than usual.

"You don't know how much I'd like to say yes, but I fought Buddy to prevent him from making a mistake, and I sha'n't allow you to make this one."

"Hm-m! Will you keep me from makin' other mistakes?"

"I will, if I can."

"Mebbe that's enough. Anyhow, I'll sleep better tonight for seein' you."

"I think I hear Ma stirring," said Gray, as he rose. "I brought her a few little presents, and I'd like to take them up to her." As he left the room there was the same queer light in his eyes; nevertheless, he moved slowly, like a man tired.

CHAPTER XXV
A Lesson in Deportment

GRAY was shocked at the change in Ma Briskow. She had failed surprisingly. Pleasure lit up her face, and she fell into a brief flutter of delight at seeing him; but as soon as their first greeting was over he led her to her lounge and insisted upon making her comfortable. He had tricks with cushions and pillows, so he declared; they became his obedient servants, and there was a knack in arranging them—the same knack that a robin uses in building its nest. This he demonstrated quite conclusively.

It was nice to have a great, masterful man like this take charge of one, and Ma sighed gratefully as she lay back. "It does kinda feel like a bird's nest," she declared. "And you kinda look like a robin, too; you're allus dressed so neat."

"Exactly," he chuckled. "Robins are the very neatest dressers of all the birds. But look! Like a real robin, I've brought spring with me." He opened a huge box of long-stemmed roses and held their cool, dewy buds against Mr. Briskow's withered face, then, laughing and chatting, he arranged them in vases where she could see them. Next, he drew down the shades, shutting out the dreary afternoon, after which he lit the gas log, and soon the room, whether by reason of his glowing personality or his deft rearrangement of its contents, or both, became a warm and cheerful place.

He had brought other gifts than flowers, too; thoughtful, expensive things that fairly took Ma's breath. No one had ever given her presents; to be remembered, therefore, with useless, delightful little luxuries filled her gentle soul with a guilty rapture.

But these were not gifts in the ordinary sense; they were offerings from the Duke of Dallas, and his manner of presenting them invested every article with ducal dignity.

Gray was seated on the side of her couch with her cold hand between his warm palms, and he was telling her about the princess of Wichita Falls when the summons to dinner interrupted them.

Ma was not hungry, and she had expected to have a bite in her own room; but her caller was so vigorous in his objections to this plan that she finally agreed to come downstairs.

The Briskow household was poorly organized as yet, and it was only natural that it should function imperfectly; nevertheless, Gray was annoyed at the clumsy manner in which the dinner was served.

"See here, Ma!" Gray threw down his napkin. "You have a beautiful home, and you want it to be perfect, don't you?"

"Why, of course. We bought everything we could buy—"

"Everything except skillful servants, and they are hard to find. You are capable of training your cook and teaching your upstairs girl to sweep and make beds; but the test of a well-run house is a well-served meal. Now then, you're not eating a bite, anyhow, and Gus won't mind waiting awhile for his dinner. With your permission, I'd like to take things in hand and add a hundred per cent to your future comfort?"

In some bewilderment Ma agreed that she would do anything her guest suggested, whereupon he rose energetically and called the three domestics into the dining room.

"We are going to start this dinner all over again," he announced, "and we are going to begin by swapping places. I am going to serve it as a dinner should be served, and you are going to eat it as— Well, I dare say nature will have to take its course. Mr. and Mrs. Briskow are going to look on. After we have finished you are going to serve us exactly as I served you."

Naturally, this proposition amazed the "help"; in fact, its absurdity convulsed them. The man laughed loudly; the cook buried her ebony face in her apron; the second girl bent double with mirth. But the gentleman was not joking. On the contrary, he brought this levity to an abrupt end, then, gravely, ceremoniously, he seated the trio.

Gray played butler with a correctness and a poise deeply impressive to his round-eyed audience.

It was an uncomfortable experience for all except Gray himself—he actually enjoyed it—and when the last dish had been removed, and he had given instructions to serve the meal over again exactly as he had served it, the three negroes were glad to obey.

"You see what a meddlesome busybody I am," the guest laughed. "I don't know how to mind my own business, and the one luxury I enjoy most of all is regulating other people's affairs." He was still talking, still lecturing his hearers upon the obligations prosperity had put upon them, when he was summoned to the telephone by long-distance call. He returned in some agitation to announce: 'Well, at last I have business of my own to attend."

(Continued in Our Next Issue)

KODAK SAFETY FILM

NEWSPAPERARCHIVE®

LAWYER SUES MRS. HARRIS FOR ATTORNEY FEES

ST. LOUIS, Mo., June 9.—Mrs. James A. Stillman advised Mrs. Elaine Lee Harriss to beware of New York lawyers in resisting the annulment suit instituted by her husband, Reverly D. Harriss, Lee Meriwethor, St. Louis attorney, asserted Mrs. Harriss had told him in testifying at a deposition hearing here this afternoon.

Meriwether was testifying at a hearing in his suit for $3,000 fees he alleges Mrs. Harriss owes him for services from June to October of last year in connection with the annulment suit, which is scheduled for hearing in New York next week. Mrs. Harriss denies she ever employed Meriwether.

Mrs. Stillman is the wife of the former president of the National City Bank of New York and Mrs. Harriss' husband is a former vice president of the same institution. Both resigned their positions with the bank when their respective marital difficulties became public.

Mr. Meriwether testified he had about a dozen conferences with Eli B. Raynor, of Memphis, charged by Mr. Harriss as having been a consort of Mrs. Harriss before her marriage.

"Raynor would not agree to deny the charges made by Mr. Harriss," Mr. Meriwether continued, "but did say that he had not seen Mrs. Harriss for two years before her marriage."

Mr. Meriwether stated that after his conference with Raynor he advised the defense against using Raynor as a witness.

SPEAKER'S VOICE LEADS TO ARREST

(By the Associated Press)

NEW YORK, June 9—The peculiar inflection of a speaker's voice today led a detective to do some impersonating over a telephone with the result that four men were arrested, two accused of participation in a daylight robbery Wednesday of an upper Broadway jewelry store and the other two charged with being fugitives from New Jersey.

Detectives Dowling, Hammill and Kiernan, all of the truck squad, had gone to a seventh avenue loft building to investigate a robbery. As they entered an empty office the telephone bell rang.

Dowling answered the call.

"Is Jake there?" asked the voice, and Dowling became suspicious

"No," he answered. "He's out. This is Abe. What do you want Jake for?"

"This is Harry," said the other. Harry said he had something good. Admitted it was jewelry and agreed to bring it to the office. Harry arrived accompanied by three others. The detectives lined them up and found $8,000 worth of jewelry wrapped in a silk handkerchief.

This they identified as part of the $70,000 loot from the store of Barnett Goldstein, Broadway jeweler, which four bandits robbed Wednesday, binding and gagging Louis Goldstein, son of the proprietor, and a clerk and calmly going about their thievery.

40 DROWN IN FERRY ACCIDENT.

(By The Associated Press)

MOSCOW, June 9—Forty persons including some women and children, were drowned in a ferry accident on the River Tom, in the Kuzbas concession area, according to the Workers Gazette.

Kuzbas has been described as an autonomous colony in Russia for rendering technical aid to the Soviet. The concession was granted by Lenine for the development of the Kuznetz basin in Siberia. Numerous American workers have gone to the region, the first party leaving New York in April, 1922.

STYLISH HAIR

For dressing the hair in the new style there's nothing to equal Nelson's which makes stubborn hair soft and very easy to manage. Nelson's gives the snap and sparkle to bobbed hair for misses and the glossy, soft, stay-combed effect for young men. Besides Nelson's is fine for the scalp and hair.

Sold by all drug stores.

NELSON'S HAIR DRESSING

Nelson Mfg. Co. Richmond, Va.

3rd Floor Masonic Temple

FEW

people realize the importance of naturally and regularly eliminating the waste materials of the body each day. If your bowels are not properly throwing off the poisons of the body, they are distributed throughout the system and disease is the result.

Chiropractic Adjustments have been remarkably successful in even stubborn cases of constipation, because permanent results are obtained by removing the cause of disease.

Consultation and Analysis always FREE.

D. L. RAGLAND,

CHIROPRACTOR

Hours: 9 to 12:30; 2:30 to 6:30; 7 to 8:30; Sunday 4 to 5.

At Schoolfield over Postoffice. Monday, Wednesday and Friday Nights: 6:30 to 8:30 and Sunday 2:30 to 3:30 p. m.

LONDONERS WILD ABOUT OUR GIRLS, WITH RAGE AND PRAISE

(Special to The Bee.)

LONDON, June 11.—Conservative Britons don't like the way in which one American theater star after another is coming over and captivating the British public.

The latest offender against this good old British way of looking at things is Miss Peggy O'Neil who has just completed a successful run in a golfing farce, "Plus Fours," in which she plays the part of a tomboy who disguises herself as her own brother. Even royalty have been among those who have paid tribute to the fair American invader. The Princess Royal of England saw the piece and went out of her way to congratulate Miss O'Neil on her success.

A spirited controversy, as to the respective merits of the English and the American girl, is being waged in the London papers. Miss O'Neil took part in it. She said:

"The American girl does not seek high and low for contentment, but she does like to look around and have a good time. Lady Norah Bentinck says she is as modern as a cocktail. She may be but she is not so expensive. She drinks iced water.

"The American girl is alive. She is healthy and most things look good to her. At the same time she would like to see what is going on around that corner. The English girl isn't so curious. Besides she thinks corners are risky.

"One thing more. I have never heard of an American girl so pushed that she had to fall back on Baedeker to flirt with."

As soon as her present London season ends, Miss O'Neil will return to America. "London is all right in its way," she says, "but it can never make up for America."

MISS PEGGY O'NEIL

Delaware Greets President's Party All of Saturday

(By The Associated Press)

MILFORD, Del., June 9.—The heart of Delaware was opened today to President and Mrs. Harding and an almost continuous ovation was given them as they traversed the state from Wilmington in the north to Lewes in the south.

It was a great day for Delaware. To members of the president's party, it seemed as though a state holiday had been declared and the entire population of commonwealth had crowded to the cities, the towns and the villages and along the roadsides to wave a greeting to the chief executive and the first lady as they passed by and visited some of the little towns which never before in their long history had entertained a president.

It was a great day also for the president. He reached Wilmington by train from Washington shortly after noon, firm in the declaration made to callers yesterday that he positively would make no addresses during the trip. An hour after he had reached Wilmington, moved by the reception tendered him at a luncheon given by the Young Men's Representation Club he was making a speech explaining that no man could remain dumb in the face of such a welcome.

Five other speeches followed before he boarded the president yacht Mayflower tonight at Lewes to cruise back to Washington, all briefly thanking those who gathered to welcome the party but all concluding with some emphatic assertion as to the duties of American citizens and the responsibilities of the American republic.

The longest of the half dozen speeches was made at Wilmington speeches were made at Wilmington and in it the president, responding to a welcome extended by former Senator H. A. Dupont and Mayor Harvey declared it was good to get out of Washington and breathe the pure air of America.

"I don't mean," he hastily added, "that the nation's capitol has an unwholesome air but it does one good to get out and meet the representative citizens of this great republic, to see them at their tasks, to get their views untouched by political bias and to realize that in them rests safely and securely the destiny of America."

The president said it was good to see the children, twelve thousand of whom gathered in Washington to greet him and who made up a good proportion of the crowds that lined his course own the state.

"It gives one a thrill to see so many and such goodly citizens," he asserted "and then solemnly added "God helping me, I want to hand on to them the republic in all the strength it was given to us.

Mr. Harding referred to information given him by Senator Dupont and his host for the day, Senator Ball, that Wilmington was faced by a scarcity of labor and said the city and other cities confronted by similar conditions should be congratulated.

"While I am always sorry there is not ample workers," said the president "I would rather have a situation in America in which there are three jobs for each worker rather than three workers for the job."

The present situation in industry was due to a realization by American people to cure post-ward ills they all must get down to work and build anew. That same thing is what the world must do, he added and the continuing his discussion of world problems:

"We would not have been happy in the United States were we continually in distress. We can't live for ourselves any more. I want America to make sure of its present and its future and then give as it can to restore prosperity throughout the world."

The president also spoke at Newark, the first stop on the 75 mile motor ride from Wilmington to this city, addressing his remarks to the graduating class and students of the women's college of the University of Delaware who gathered in front of their main building and greeted him with song and cheers.

In this address Mr. Harding made the statement reiterated later at several towns that he appreciatd the cordial welcome but realized that it was extended not to Warren Harding but to the president of the United States and the government he represents.

Continuing southward the presidential party caused at Cooche Bridge while Senator Ball pointed out that it was there that the American flag first was unfurled in battle. A little later, out in the open country, the presidential car came to a stop to allow the chief executive and Mrs. Harding to salute a veteran of the Civil War standing at the roadside with his old musket at present arms besides a faded steel engraving of Lincoln.

Traversing the route over which Caeser Rodney, one of Delaware's signers of the Declaration of Independence made his famous ride from Lewes to Philadelphia to aid in the adoption of the document, the president continued to Smyrna, where the mayor in introducing him from the steps of the postoffice, proudly proclaimed that this was the greatest day in the history of Smyrna, because never before had it entertained a president.

The president responded briefly and introduced Mrs. Harding as the boss of the White House.

Reaching Dover the old and quaint capital of Delaware, late in the afternoon, Mr. and Mrs. Harding were received at State House by Governor Denny and entertained at a second luncheon in the library of the capitol where the president again made a brief address.

It was early in the evening before the party arrived here, the principal objective of the trip to find the little town filled to overflowing with members of the Tall Cedars of Lebanon, a branch of Masonry, into which the president and secretary Christian were initiated.

After the intiation ceremonies the president made another informal speech the party motored to Lewes and boarded the Mayflower.

RETURN CHECKS IN PROSECUTION HERRIN RIOTERS

(By The Associated Press)

CHICAGO June 9.—Checks for $30,000 remaining of the fund of $60,000 raised by public subscription for the prosecution of the leaders in the Herrin mine rioting a year ago when more than a score of non-union miners were slain, were being returned to the doners, the Illinois Chamber of Commerce announced today.

The other half of the fund was expended in gathering evidence, conducting a grand jury investigation in Williamson county and in the first trial For the second trial the State legislature appropriated $75.000, none of which, however, went to the Illinois Chamber of Commerce, which now that the two trials failed to result in a single conviction, is returning the balance to the subscribers.

Ninety-four per cent, of the money was donated by persons not members of the Illinois Chamber, it was announced.

REV. J. H. C. RICHARDS DIES

(By The Associated Press)

WORCESTER, Mass., June 9. — The Rev. Joseph Haven Cowless Richards, former president of Georgetown University and known as one of the most notable Jesuits in North America, died late today at Holy Cross College.

Two-Piece Romper

The simplest possible romper is this new one with blouse and breeches in separate pieces

The blouse is high waisted with a Dutch neck and short shirred sleeves. To the waistband button the diminutive trousers, is that is the proper name for them—they are really a single piece of cloth cut and shirred in the manner shown and then buttoned to the waist and down the sides.

Vacation clothes for small children become a simple matter with designs like this to be made in chambray, gingham, cretonne or sateen.

REALTORS WILL HOLD MEETING

CHICAGO, June 9.—Six thousand real estate men from 475 cities are making plans to cruise, motor or go by special train to Cleveland for the sixteenth annual convention of the National Association of Real Estate Boards June 27-30. Governmental, legislative, financial, architectural and other questions of importance in real estate development, and especially fullest utilization of modern financing possibilities to meet the present business acceleration in real estate, are to be discussed.

What is known as the "Indiana plan" of checking extravagance and preventing possible graft in official expenditures will be explained by Judge William A. Hough, chairman of the Indiana state board of tax commissioners, which has been given power to review all tax levies and bond issues in Indiana upon complaint of ten tax-payers.

A proposal for a national land policy covering utilization of lands in every state according to sound economic principles will be outlined by Dr. Richard T. Ely, director of the bureau of economic research of the University of Wisconsin.

The Pennsylvania law authorizing building and loan associations to lend on second mortgages will be discussed by Samuel A. Stern, of Philadelphia.

Brig. Gen. H. M. Lord, director of the federal budget, will speak on how the federal government handles its finances and real estate.

The Chicago real estate board and boards from other nearby cities will go to Cleveland by boat, and the boat will be used as a hotel during the convention. The Minneapolis and the Buffalo real estate boards also will go by water.

FIGHTING IN BULGARIA.

PARIS, June 9—Belgrade advices to the Matin report fierce fighting at many points in Bulgaria. Many persons are said to have been killed or wounded.

PERSHING SAYS 1ST AND 2ND TWO BEST DIVISIONS

NEW YORK, June 9.—Veterans of the Second Division who achieved fame at Chateau Thierry and Bellau Woods, meeting tonight at their fifth annual reunion, were told by General John J. Pershing that theirs and the First Division were the best groups that fought in the World War on either the Allied or enemy side.

General Pershing dropped in at the dinner unannounced and was given an ovation of five minutes. He was in Jersey City today to dedicate an athletic field named in his honor and witnessed athletic contest of the Second Army Corps area.

"This is an anniversary of something great done by this Second Division that checked the enemy's advance on Paris,' General Pershing said. "In this initial baptism of fire you displayed the acts of veterans. You displayed the courage of veterans and you have taken the position that will be carried down in tradition to posterity, that will ever be a goal for other American soldiers to emulate.

"They were two great divisions in France. They were great in experience. Those two great divisions were the first and second. Although we had other divisions that were perhaps as excellent in personnel, these first two divisions stood up as the best."

TERRIFIC HAIL STORM KILLS MANY THOUSAND CATTLE

TEGUGIGALPO, Hond., June 9—Thousands of animals perished today in a hail storm in the region of Esquias. In the valleys and mountains hail fell to a depth of 18 inches.

The Angel Food cake baked at our demonstration last week proved what the Lorain regulator on the "Direct Action" is worth. Measured heat means better heat. Clements Chism and Parker. 6-10 R and E

SEE WINDOW DISPLAY

Infants Soft Soles

Infants soft sole shoes in all wanted colors and sizes. Special at pair 59c

GILMERS FROM MILLS DIRECT TO YOU

First Step Pumps

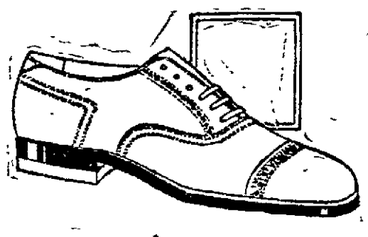

Infants first step pumps, with instep strap, Spring heel and turn sole. At Pair $1.48

Beginning Monday — For One Week Only

JUNE SALE

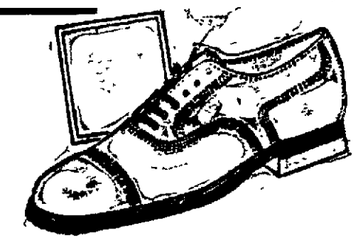

Of New Summer Footwear

FOR MEN, WOMEN and CHILDREN

Men's Black and Brown Oxfords Sale Priced

Men who are "economy wise" will appreciate and take advantage of this exceptional offer at once.

Mens Brown Oxfords

A very stylish and comfortable model, made on English last, with welt sole, and rubber heel. Genuine leather throughout Pair $4.45

Rubber Heel, Welt Sole, All Sizes $2.48 Priced For Quick Clearance

Black Brogue Oxfords

This black brogue is built for comfort and long wear—and is very stylish for this season. Developed of genuine Box Calf leather, highly finished. Special Sale price $5.95

Mens Brogue Oxfords

Brogue Oxfords for men are the best sellers of the season. This oxford is of first quality in every respect built with welt sole and rubber heel, in brown only, pair $5.45

All of these shoes are in the latest styles, and made of genuine leather. To appreciate their real value, you must first see them—then if you are a good judge of quality, you will quickly recognize the superiority of these shoes over the average shoe that sells for or near $3.48. Special tables arranged for your convenience. See window display.

Broad Toe Oxfords

Men's Brown Broad Toe Oxfords, made of blucher last with genuine welt sole and rubber heel. Regular $6.00 value, but especially priced for June shoe sale at $4.45

Women's Patent Trimmed Grey Suede Pumps

A new model—in medium dark grey suede—With black patent leather trimmings, and Spanish Louis heel—A model that is serviceable, comfortable, and attractive.

Special Sale Price Pair

48 Size Range Complete

Through extraordinary purchases from well known manufacturers we are enabled to offer this special lot of Suede Pumps at a price that is far below their actual value—Every pair perfectly made, in the suede and patent combination that is in such great demand.

It will pay you to buy several pair and lay them aside for future use at the low price we have marked these shoes for quick clearance. Come early for choice selection. At pair only $4.95

WHITE PUMPS.

Women's white pumps in the popular one strap model with turn sole and Baby Louis heel. Especially priced for June Clearance at $2.75

SATIN PUMPS.

Women's High-Grade Black Satin Pumps, with Baby Louis heel. A very stylish and comfortable model. Regular $3.98 values. Especially priced for this sale at pair .. $2.98

PUMPS AND OXFORDS

Women's brown and black pumps and oxfords in a wide assortment of styles and leathers. Values to $6.50, but especially featured in this sale at pair $4.48

COMB. PUMPS.

Womens grey suede and patent combination pumps with high heel and turn sole—Short lots in the season's best selling models. Offered for quick clearance at pair $5.95

Summer Footwear For Boys and Girls Greatly Underpriced For This Sale

MISSES PATENT PUMPS

Misses patent leather pumps, with twin instep strap—Welt sole and rubber heel. Sizes 11 1-2 to 2. Especially priced at pair $3.45

CHILDS STRAP PUMPS

Children's brown one strap pumps with broad toe and Spring heel. Sizes 8 1-2 to 11 1-2. Special June Sale price. Pair $2.89

MISSES BROWN PUMPS

Misses brown one-trap pumps with welt sole and rubber heel, in all wanted sizes. Special June Sale price, pair $3.45

Child's Patent Pumps

Children's patent leather pumps with instep strap—Sizes 5 to 8. A very attractive and serviceable style Regular $2.48 values. Special for June Sale $1.79

MISSES WHITE PUMPS

Misses White Pumps in one strap model, nicely made with genuine leather bottom. Sizes 11 1-2 to 2. Especially priced for June Sale. At Pair $1.50

BOYS BROGUE OXFORDS

Substantially made of brown calf skin leather on medium, narrow last, with welt sole and rubber heel. Special Sale Price. Pair $2.98

BOY'S BROWN OXFORDS

An unusually attractive brown oxford for little fellows, made on English last with welt sole and rubber heel. One of our biggest values for boys Sale price. Pair $3.48

GILMERS SEE WINDOW DISPLAY GILMERS

NEWSPAPERARCHIVE®
NEWSPAPERARCHIVE®

Mutilated By Treaties of Peace Hungary Near Crisis

BY WILLIAM PHILIP SIMMS

BUDAPEST [illegible] as the great powers came to the assistance of Hungary as they did in the case of Austria I can not for the life of me see how she can escape going on the rocks.

Two years ago her deficit amounted to sixteen and a half billion crowns. Today she has an actual deficit—in the 1922-23 budget—of over forty billion crowns.

March 1, the crown was worth 532 to the dollar. April 1, the crown was worth only 4600 to the dollar.

A recent attempt to borrow some money in London met with failure. London said: "Give us a mortgage on all your transit and warehouse receipts and reform your government to suit, and we'll consider the application."

Crisis is Near.

The League of Nations is working this with success in Austria, but no one power, let alone any one financial group, can thus assume a sort of dictatorship over Hungary—no matter how benevolent the intent and not even if Hungary sinks out of sight forever for refusing.

The day may soon come, however, when Hungary, like Austria will have to choose between accepting help from the League—or a group of world powers—and collapsing.

Certainly she can not long go on the way she is going. If she can't borrow she will almost inevitably have to begin speeding up her paper money output which, of course, would plunge the country into deeper trouble still.

Like Austria—before the League stepped in—she could not then stop the presses until she had balanced her budget and she could not balance her budget so long as the printing presses kept grinding out depreciating paper. That is the danger now threatening Hungary.

Hungary's plight today is scarcely to her discredit. The wonder is she survived the Treaty of Trianon, which fixed her status after the war, six months.

THIS MAP SHOWS THE DUAL MONARCHY BEFORE THE WAR, AND (INSIDE) HUNGARY OF TODAY WITH ITS SEAPORTS AND PRODUCING SECTIONS TAKEN AWAY.

Have a look at the map accompanying this article. She lost, as the mines; 98 per cent. of her iron ore; 96 per cent. of her water power; 88 per cent. of her wool production; 86 per cent. of her forests; 68 per cent. of her cattle; 66 per cent. of her cotton industries; 60 per cent. of breadgrain down to 35,600 square miles—less than the size of the state of Indiana.

From a population of 25,000,000, she was shorn of all but 7,100,000.

She lost 100 per cent. of her salt result of the war, more than two-thirds of her area. From an empire of 125,600 square miles she was cut stuffs; 60 per cent. of her stock of horses; 60 per cent. of her iron industry; 56 per cent. of her sugar industry; 55 per cent. of her tobacco business and the same percentage of her spirits exports; and so on down the line with flax, leather, petrolium refineries, fertilizers, and what not.

Hungary today has little to export but is obliged to import much. This creates a stupendous trade balance against her which, in turn, knocks the props from under her exchange.

Has Shops, No Goods.

Most of the factories are in and around Budapest and the towns of present-day Hungary. The raw materials are outside existing frontiers. So the rate of exchange when the factories go to buy raw materials from what are now foreign countries, boosts Hungarian production costs to a point where Hungary can not compete.

This hits the working man. Here, as in Austria, the workers who can do so are emigrating—going to the Ruhr to dig coal, to America—as many as America will take—to any old place where there is a chance of finding work.

And mind you, the reparations problem is yet to be faced. Small wonder Hungary is desperate and that the people are rapidly losing confidence in their future. What will happen tomorrow? They don't know. But they are very much afraid.

To my mind it is another job for the League of Nations.

Brains

Miss Mabel Therese Bonney, young American woman, has been given a degree by Sorbonne University, France. Prior to that she had been awarded a scholarship to the institution. She is a brilliant student, and has translated several French plays for production in New York.

Judge Sentences His Comrade In War to Death

(By Chicago Tribune Service.)

CHICAGO, June 9.—"This is a difficult task for me. You and I were comrades overseas, fighting for the country we loved," said Judge Philip Sullivan today, in passing sentence of death upon John Meissner for the murder of a taxicab driver. Continuing, the judge said:

"I should have thought that from your army experience you would have learned the lesson as a soldier to stay away from crime. As it is, law and humanity demand that I sentence you to death."

Meissner, balancing on the leg that was crippled in the war, heard the sentence without flinching, but his mother and sister broke down in hysterical weeping. James Hunter, convicted as an accomplice in the murder, was sentenced to prison for life and Harold Splitt, a second accomplice, who turned state's evidence, will be sentenced later. Hunter was the owner of a disreputable road house and the testimony showed he supplied men with pistols and sent them out to rob. When a taxicab driver resisted, Meissner killed him.

RADIO BROADCASTING NEWS

MONDAY, JUNE 11.

KDKA—326 METERS—WESTINGHOUSE ELECTRIC, EAST PITTSBURG, PA.

Eastern Standard Time.

5 p. m.—Ball scores.

5:15 p. m.—Dinner concert by the KDKA Little Symphony Orchestra under the direction of Victor Saudek.

6 p. m.—Ball scores. Current events.

WOMEN'S EVENING"

"Home Furnishing Hints" by Harriet Webster of Joseph Horne Company.

"Children Don't Just Grow Topsy Like" by David J. Terry, Executive Secretary of the Children's Service Bureau, Pittsburg, Pa.

6:45 p. m.—The visit to the Little Folks by the Dreamtime Lady.

7 p. m.—Ball scores. National Stockman and Farmer Market Report.

Sport talk.

7:30 p. m.—Concert by the KDKA Little Symphony Orchestra under the direction of Victor Saudek; Josephine Hepp Blume, contralto; Minrad Lazier, tenor; Bess Harris Vetter, accompanist.

Program: Selections by the orchestra—Overture, "Raymond," Schubert; a. "All Souls Day" (in honor of the anniversray of Strauss) Strauss; b. "Serenade" Arensky; "Under the Trees" from 'Scenes Alsaciennes," Massenet (duet for clarinet and cello by Messrs Sapienza and Goerner;) "Melody in G Flat," Cadman; "Polonaise Militaire," Chopin, Contralto solos, "Patria," Mattei: "Pieta" (Pity) Warford; 'On the Shore," Neidinger; "June," Beach; Tenor solos, "Life," Curran; "All for You," Bertrand-Brown; "Her Heart," Voorhis; 'Consecration," Manney. Tenor and contralto duets, "Du Du' Leigst Mir im Herzen," Volklied; "I Live and Love Thee," Campana.

KWY—345 METERS—WESTINGHOUSE, CHICAGO, ILLINOIS

Central Standard Time.

MONDAY, JUNE 11, 1923

3 p. m.—Late news and sport bulletins.

3:30 p. m.—News and sport bulletins.

4 p. m.—Late news of the day.

5:30 p. m.—News, financial and final market news and sport summary.

"Topics of the Day" furnished by Pathe Exchange.

Financial summary furnished by Union Trust Company.

5:50 p. m.—Children's Bedtime Story.

SILENT NIGHT.

News, Sports and Children's Bedtime Story furnished by the Chicago Evening American.

WBZ — 337 METERS — WESTINGHOUSE ELECTRIC, SPRINGFIELD, MASS.

Eastern Standard Time.

MONDAY, JUNE 11, 1923.

7:30 p. m.—Baseball scores of the Eastern, American and National Leagues.

Fairy Tales.

7:45 p. m.—"Business Conditions" as observed by the National Industrial Conference Board.

7:55 p. m.—News of the day.

8:00 p. m.—Baseball scores.

8:05 p. m.—Laughs from Life by special arrangement with Life Magazine.

8:50 p. m.—Bedtime Story for Grown-ups prepared by Orison S. Marden.

8:55 p. m.—A few minutes with Benjamine Franklin.

Baseball scores.

11 p. m.—Time signals.

MONDAY, JUNE 11, 1923

4 p. m.—Program by Gimbel Brothers, New York Store.

4:30—5:30 p. m.—Violin recital by Edward J. Plank, accompanied by A. V. Llufrio.

Solos by Verna Osborne, Coloratura Soprano.

7:30—10 p. m.—Tenor solos by William Deroin.

Solos by Freda Williams, Soprano.

Piano recital by Nathaniel Levine.

FEATURES OF "WJZ"

WEEK ENDING SATURDAY JUNE 16

MONDAY, JUNE 11

4 p. m.—The Alexis Kudish Ensemble has been in constant demand since their debute in April, 1922, for they are among the most accomplished exponents of Ensemble and concert music. They will offer a program of classical and modern works including several of Mr. Kudisch's own compositions.

9 p. m.—George W. Suttop, Jr., Editor of the Camper-on-tour Dept. of "Field & Stream," will give a talk based upon the experiences of thousands of autocampers, detailing the troubles and joys to be expected on such a trip.

Ultimatum of Curzon Barrier to Peace—Garvin

By J. L. GARVIN.

(Copyright by World-Wide News.)

LONDON, June 9.—What kind of example does the British Government seem to be setting to the world? It condemns the procedure by ultimatum when it is practised or threatened by the French, the Greeks, or the Turks. One British Government attempted the procedure at Chanak, and at once fell. Its successors and substitute have achieved the wonder of repeating this gross mistake within nine months. Nothing could be more destructive of Britain's moral influence abroad in the Ruhr or in the Rhineland or in the Maritza Valley. Neither Lord Curzon nor Mr. MacNeill appears to have recognized that so far from denouncing a mere commercial treaty they are imperilling a main part of a system of foreign relations, laboriously ah very incompletely reorganized since the war, and weakening all the rest.

There is an alarming touch of levity in this ignoring of practical effects, whether for good or for ill. No one has explained, or can explain, what we are to obtain from a rupture, what sort of security for trawlers in Northern waters; what increase of trade; what assistance to the moderate elements in Russia; what prospect of further steps away from Communism or of a halt to persecution and oppression.

Lord Curzon hopes to crown his Lausanne labors with the prize of a settlement with Turkey. His Russian note threatens to destroy his own work. Without peace with Russia there can be no settlement with Turkey. The India Office is working to strengthen the basis of the Indian reforms. While the India Office perseveres, the Foreign Office threatens to throw the whole East into fresh turmoil.

Every problem is part of some other problem in the baffling complexity of international relations. The world will not adjust itself to the simplicity of ultimatum. If we are to prosper, the ultimatum habit has to be abandoned once for all in thought and action. Britain should be the first of all countries to set the example. As long as it is possible to launch an ultimatum with no deeper sense of responsibility than the discussion of the present note has revealed, war will permanently remain not only possible but probable. Those who conduct our external relations must be made to realize that the valuation of war has changed. One murder up to now has made a criminal and a million a hero. The industrial democracy of today, however, has had a lesson in war. The more firmly it places the criminal stigma upon war and upon those responsible for it, the better it will be protected against a recurrence of the danger. The first safeguard is to insist upon a diplomatic method that is not swayed by temper or sentiment. War is never so much the result of a plan as the fortuitous detonating of an accumulation of rivalries, irritations, misunderstandings and offended pride.

No responsible person in or out of Parliament has disputed the necessity of diplomatic action upon the grounds contained in the British note. No objection could have been made to a note which did not raise our undoubted grievances in such way as to increase the difficulty of settlement. In drafting an ultimatum Lord Curzon unhappily chose the one means which risked a defiant reply from Russia aid was certan to divide opinion at home. All the opposition parties are agreed in their atttude, and sympathy wth it extends to the Goveriment side. None condones the facts and all condemn the method.

While we hope that the conversations between M. Krassin and Lord Curzon may have a peaceful outcome, there can be no kind of certainty about it. Lord Curzon is not only, like the rest of us, anti-Bolshevik—a fact that touches an issue of domestic politicsand no more—but he is also fundamentally anti-Russian. His incorrigibly setimental policy embalms some obsolete ideas from the nineteenth century, and tabes little count of the part which Britain's relations with Russia must play for the future in the shaping of Imperial and foreign relations. If Lord Grey, as Foreign Minister, had applied Lord Curzon's principles, he could not possibly have succeeded in developing that mutual friendliness between the two countries which, when it became a war alliance, saved Western Europe from defeat and ruin.

The Ruhr, like the Curzon note, exemplifies the contrast beteen intention and effect produced by those who are capable of studying policy only from their own end. The French public is geeraly uaware, perhaps less aware even than the British public, of what is taking place in the Ruhr.

No doubt the intention of "liberating" a section of the German people from Prussian domination was cordial and sincere on the part of a number of Frenchmen. France could justify, at least to herself, by her rights and her claims against Germany every step taken in pursuance of this object. The logic that succeeds in French fails, however, on traslation into Germany, and human terms. Seen from the Ruhr "injured France" looks even to neutrals like a fiction. No imputation is France quicker to resent than that of militarism. We need not doubt the sincerity of her resentment. Neither can we be surprised that the Germans under French occupation believe in French militarism implicity. They are contrary views, and they are both right.

The butt of a rifle and the flat of a sword can do, and are doing, more mischief in the invaded territory than bullet and thrust. The pettier the injury the more it smarts. The wholesale eviction of humble families, children and all, is the most effective anti-French propaganda which the French authorities have yet undertaken.

RY. MORTGAGES SHOW STRENGTH

(By The Associated Press)

NEW YORK, June 9—Railroad mortgages developed strength in the trading in bonds in today's session on the New York Stock Exchange. Otherwise the market was rather dull with industrial issues inclined to yield.

International and Great Northern sixes certificates jumped two points, four issues advanced more than a point and three St. Paul bonds moved up a point. Several others showed fractional gains. "Katy" new prior lien 5s lost 1 3-8.

Losses of a point by Liggett and Myers 5s and 1 5-8 by Armour 4 1-2s were the only outstanding changes in the industrial division.

United States government bonds were quiet and price changes small. The four liberty issues declined very slightly, while the tax exempt 3 1-2s and the Treasury 4 1-2s moved slightly upward. A gain of 1 3-8 by Zurich 8s was the only important change in the foreign group.

Cook while you play—is the "Direct Action" way. The Lorain regulator makes cooking like a vacation. Come and see. Clements Chism and Parker.
6-10 R and S

Police Station Welcome Haven

(By Chicago Tribune Service.)

CHICAGO, June 10.—Vincent Oliver, aged 38, an alleged Moron, had never enjoyed seeing or being in a police station until today, when he admitted it was a welcome haven.

Elizabeth Dix, six years old, complained to her father, Roger H. Dix, that Oliver was annoying her with indecent talk and actions. The enraged parent did not wait to summon the police. He promptly sought out Oliver, who is an elevator operator at a fashionable Lake Shore building, knocked him down a few times and then dragged him by the ears and scruff of his neck to the Des Plaines street station, a distance of a mile and a quarter.

People who witnessed the strange performance, assisted Dix in his task, after the cause had been explained, by accelerating Oliver's movements by a few well directed kicks. Oliver was ready to kiss the floor of the police station when Dix finally flung him inside and left him to the more tender mercies of the police.

AUCTION SALE OF VALUABLE FARM LAND.

I will offer at public auction Saturday, June 16, at 11 a. m., on the premises "The Annie L. Jordan Place," (230 acre farm); 1 1-2 miles of Semora, N. C., on Milton, N. C.-Semora, N. C., highway. Farm consists of 6 room residence, fine well, 4 tobacco barns and out houses, 100 acres of hardwood and pine timber of which about 500,000 ft. is of commercial pine lumber. Farm is 1 1-2 miles of churches and good high school. Will be sold separately in tracts at first and then as a whole or part. Terms of sale 1-3 cash, balance 6 months and 12 months from date.

6-9R&B5t. W. T. BRYANT, Comr.

FORD MAKES 40 MILES on one gallon of gasoline. Most amazing auto-invention just out. For particulars and special offer write to VIRGINIA DISTRIBUTING CO.
(Incorporated.)
ALEXANDRIA, VA.
Agents and Dealers wanted everywhere.

HER PENCHANT FOR BUYING NETS 16,000 ARTICLES

TOP SHOWS REAR OF THE LEE HOME. IN THIS ROOM THOUSANDS OF PIECES OF VALUABLE CHINA AND CUT GLASS WERE FOUND. BELOW: THE DEAD WOMAN, MRS. EMMA LEE.

By ROY GROVE
(Special to The Bee.)

GALLION, O., June 11.—Mrs. Emma Lee had a passion for buying. Whatever she liked—whether government bonds or onions, pocketbooks or galvanized tubs—she bought. And in wholesale lots!

Mrs. Lee, aged about 75, said to have been the divorced wife of a wealthy Missouri manufacturer, died recently. But not until now has it been revealed to what lengths her purchasing craze carried her.

Sixteen thousand articles were jammed in a house which from the outside looks decidedly ramshackle. Three big four-poster beds were so filled with articles, she had been forced at times to sleep on the floor!

Here are a few of the things administrators of her estate—which, by the way, is valued at $75,000—found:

Thirty-six new pocketbooks.

Ninety-nine galvanized tubs for washing. (And she had all her laundry done outside!)

A box of peppermint candy, bearing the slogan: "Grant for President." (Like the novelty candy hearts of today with name printed in red thereon.)

A hundred chairs. (And she lived alone.)

A cupboard of china and cut glass it took three days to wash.

Two thousand five hundred cakes of soap.

Eleven mixing bowls.

Twelve granite stew kettles. (She ate practically all her meals in a restaurant.)

One hundred and ninety silver spoons.

Mrs. Lee also left money and securities. But these, too, were either in strange forms, or in strange places in her house. For instance:

Eight hundred dollars in $20 gold pieces. (These were found in a can wrapped with burlap.)

Three hundred and sixty silver dollars.

Nine thousand eight hundred dollars in government bonds.

Bank stock worth $12,000. (This was in a tiny double closet on the second floor. It was impossible to get to the stock until the room had been entirely emptied.)

People here tell of her goodness.

Every Christmas she would obtain names of all poor of the town, and each one would receive a big basket of fruit and other food, from an "unknown" friend.

About ten years ago, the one constant companion she had since her divorce, died. It was a parrot.

Mrs. Lee was not a recluse. She liked to talk with people, and to have some few friends visit her.

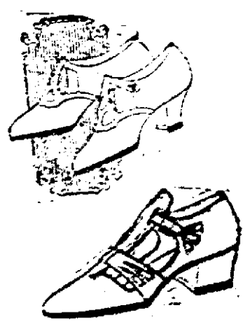

And all have none but kind words for her memory.

SMART WOMEN'S SHOES

FOR THE SUMMER

White kid cutout fancy front strap, Spanish heel. Specially priced
$12.00

Genuine Red Kid Sandal, Specially priced
$10.00

H. E. PHILLIPS CO.
434 Main Street.

Great Reduction Sale
OF ALL
SILK DRESSES

For Monday and Tuesday Selling

UNUSUAL VALUES AND STYLES AT VERY PERCEPTIBLE SAVINGS.

Garments That Originally Sold for $49.50 to $79.50 $39.75.
$35.00 to $47.50 $29.75.
$25.00 to $29.75 $19.75.

No one should miss the opportunity of selecting a Dress from this beautiful assortment of garments at such a marked reduction. "It is yours to Take advantage of."

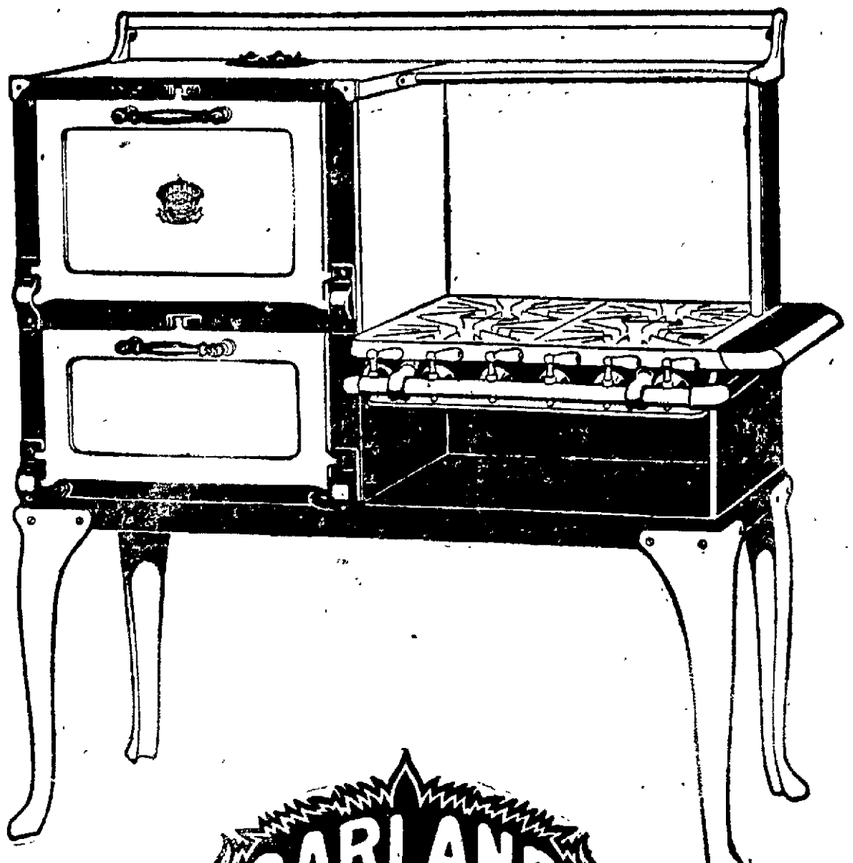

When Summer comes, fashion calls for cool frocks—Sheer cotton voils, cool linens are the acepted fabrics. Choosing is a pleasure from the wide-range of smart styles we are now featuring.

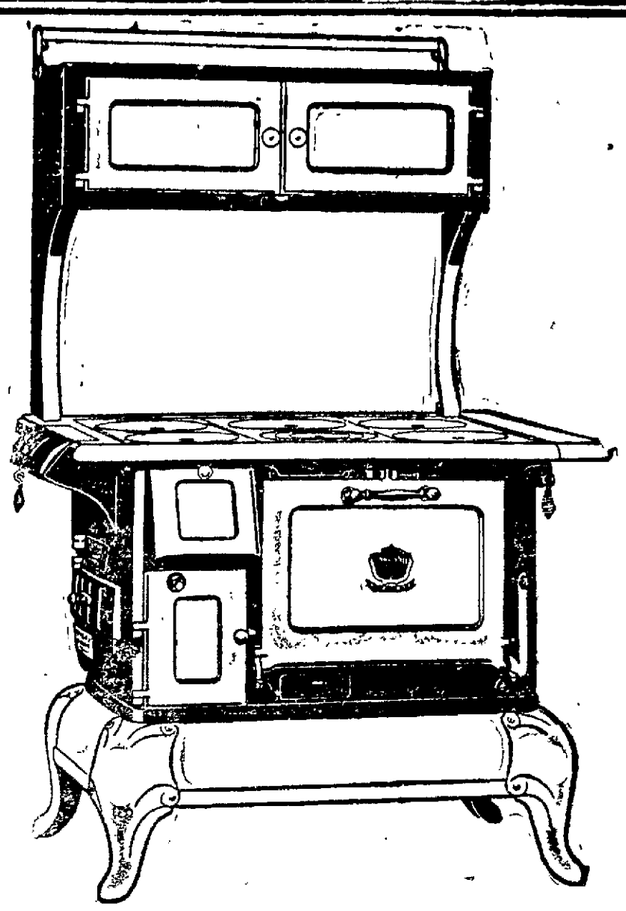

"EXCLUSIVE but not EXPERSIVE"

THE TEMPLE SHOP
THIRD FLOOR MASONIC BUILDING.

NEWSPAPERARCHIVE®
NEWSPAPERARCHIVE®

GARLAND STOVES AND FURNACES
"The World's Best"

COOKING DEMONSTRATION AND INSTRUCTION

We have been very fortunate in securing Miss Margaret Proctor, Instructor Domestic Science, Danville High School to take charge of the demonstration work. Miss Proctor has arranged a cooking menu for Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday. Come and sample the tempting dishes she will prepare. Miss Proctor will be assisted by a representative direct from factory who will be glad to assist you in any way.

AN OPPORTUNITY YOU CAN'T AFFORD TO MISS

Garland stoves represent the peak of value in gas stoves all the time. With the liberal supply of food products that we are giving with each stove sold during demonstration you can not afford to put off buying your stove now. In addition to the food products the first twelve persons making their purchase we will give a fine country cured ham weighing from ten to fifteen pounds. Come early.

The Garland Cooking School of Instruction

Held Under the Auspices of

BLEDSOE FURNITURE COMPANY

Beginning today and continuing through Wednesday, we, with the assistance of the well known pure food producers listed herewith will conduct a cooking school and an up-to-date demonstration of the advantages and economies of modern kitchen methods and equipment.

Here, from nine in the morning until five o'clock, we will give a constant demonstration of the superior cooking and baking ability of the newest 1923 models of the famous Garland Ranges including the beautiful full enamel patterns which are attracting such favorable comment everywhere.

All day long a skillful Cook will be busy making delicious foods and delicacies from the famous products illustrated on this page. These you are cordially invited to sample.

There will also be a lecture on the superior cooking and baking ability and the long lived economies of Garland Stoves and Ranges which have made them the choice of more than four million American homes.

Special Garland Introduction Offer

During the entire period of this school we are making a special offer of the newest Garland Ranges with their many added improvements and up-to-date economies which should appeal to every good housekeeper in the city. In addition to this exceptionally low introductory price, we are giving every purchaser a generous supply of all the famous foods advertised herewith, together with receipt books and many other aids which every housekeeper wants.

Come in to-day, bring your friends, and see for yourself how simple and economical it is to prepare the most delicious foods when you prepare them the Garland way and please remember that no matter how large or small your kitchen is, you will find a Garland model here built to its exact dimensions.

Every day the rest of this week, from 9 a. m. to 5 p. m., you are cordially invited to come and bring your friends.

Bledsoe Furniture Co.

246 - 248 Main Street

LARABEE'S BEST FLOUR

THE FACT that Larabee's Best Flour really is superior in food value and flavor, and more economical in use is undoubtedly the reason for its increasing popularity.

Ask Your Grocer For It

SUNMAID RAISINS

THE WORLD'S GREATEST BAKING POWDER

SALES 2½ TIMES AS MUCH AS ANY OTHER BRAND

DR PRICE'S VANILLA

Use it and know its true value

Wheatena all wheat, nut-brown and sweet

EVERYBODY likes it. Its delicious, nut-brown flavor is relished by millions every day. Wheatena has been a prime favorite of the family breakfast table since 1879.

It has all the great body-building, health-giving elements of choicest whole wheat. Easily and quickly prepared. Recipe book, free, tells many dainty and economical ways to serve Wheatena. All good grocers have it or will get it for you.

The Wheatena Company, Wheatenaville, Rahway, N. J.

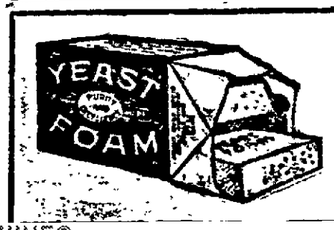

TOWLE'S

LOG CABIN

SYRUP

At your grocer's in three sizes

YEAST FOAM

To have a sweet, light dough in the morning, set your bread the night before with Yeast Foam.

AUNT JEMIMA PANCAKE FLOUR

So economical!

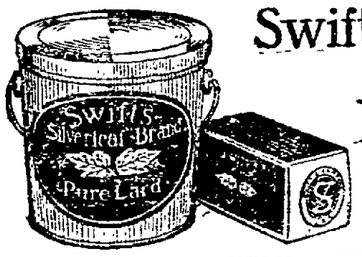

So rich you need no eggs. Milk is already in it. You just add water! Aunt Jemima Pancake Flour at your grocer's. 20-oz. cartons or 4-lb. sacks.

"T'se in town, Honey!"

Beech-Nut
Macaroni and Spaghetti

Real honest-to-goodness Macaroni and Spaghetti—made in the glistening sun-flooded Beech-Nut kitchens—the last word in American cleanliness. Kneaded from the Semolina, or heart, of the choicest Durum Wheat. Beech-Nut Macaroni is rich in nutrition but will not become pasty when cooked.

Swift's "Silverleaf" Brand Pure Lard

"Best to buy for bake or fry"

Swift & Company, U.S.A.

H-O OATS

Steam Cooked for HEALTH

Pan Toasted for FLAVOR

MORTON SALT

when it rains—

IT POURS

The sure foundation of a perfect cup of coffee—

CHASE & SANBORN'S SEAL BRAND

ONE BOX

Garland Easy Black

—FOR STOVES—

and All Kinds of Metal

also will be given away with every Garland Range purchased

NEWSPAPERARCHIVE®
NEWSPAPERARCHIVE®

TEN

High Point Wins Over Greensboro

HIGH POINT, June 9.— The Furniture Makers nosed out victorious over Greensboro here this afternoon by the close count of 10 to 9. High Point had been leading throughout the game but Greensboro staged rallies in the last two innings but they fell short one run of tieing the score Thrasher got a homer in the fourth with two out and no one on base. The box score follows:-

Greensboro	AB	R	H	PO	A	E
Shay cf,	5	2	3	2	1	0
Pierre c,	5	3	0	5	1	1
Teague 2b,	5	2	2	2	4	0
Cox 1b,	5	1	3	8	1	1
Conley rf,	5	0	2	2	0	1
O'Hara lf,	4	1	1	1	0	0
Carroll 3b,	5	1	1	0	3	0
Magrann ss,	3	0	0	4	1	0
Crews p,	1	0	0	0	0	0
O'Quinn p,	3	0	1	0	1	0
TOTALS	41	9	13	24	12	3

High Point	AB	R	H	PO	A	E
Irby cf,	5	1	2	3	0	0
Kane 3b,	5	2	2	0	2	2
Schmidt ss,	4	1	1	2	1	1
Tolbert rf,	2	1	1	3	0	0
McCullough 1b,	4	0	1	11	0	0
Dowis 2b,	3	1	2	1	7	1
Thompson c,	4	0	1	5	1	0
Frenick p,	4	0	0	0	0	0
Mott x,	0	0	0	0	0	0
TOTALS	35	10	14	27	11	4

Greensboro ..... 213 000 012— 9
High Point ..... 420 112 00x—10 x ran for Dowis in 7th.

Summary:

Stolen bases: Kane, Teague. Sacrifice hits: Schmidt, Tolbert. Two-base hits: Thrasher, Thompson, McCullough, O'Hara, Teague, Conley, O-Quinn. Three-base hits: Schmidt, Dowis. Home run: Thrasher. Hits off: Crews 9 in 1 2-3 innings. Struck out by Frenck 4; by: Crews 2, by: O'Quinn. Bases on balls off: Crews 1. Hit by pitched ball: Dowis by O-Quinn. Losing pitcher: O'Quinn. Time of game: 2:4. Umpires: Osborne and Morgan. Attendance 2 000.

KABUL NOW HAS TELEGRAPH

KABUL, Afghanistan, June 9.— The first telegraph line connecting Afghanistan with the outside world has been officially opened. It runs from Kabul, the capital, to the city of Peshawar in northwestern India. Formal greetings between the Amir of Afghanistan and the King-Emperor of India, George V, were the first messages sent over the new wires.

Standing of the Clubs

PIEDMONT LEAGUE

Club—	Won	Lost	Pct.
High Point	28	14	.667
Greensboro	24	15	.615
Winston-Salem	20	23	.465
Danville	17	23	.436
Durham	17	25	.405
Raleigh	16	24	.400

AMERICAN:

Club:	Won	Lost	Pct.
New York	31	16	.660
Philadelphia	26	20	.565
Cleveland	26	22	.542
Detroit	23	25	.479
St. Louis	21	25	.457
Washington	21	26	.447
Boston	17	23	.425
Chicago	17	25	.405

NATIONAL:

Club:	Won	Lost	Pct.
New York	34	14	.708
Pittsburg	27	25	.574
Brooklyn	26	21	.543
Cincinnati	25	22	.532
St Louis	25	23	.521
Chicago	25	24	.510
Boston	17	33	.347
Philadelphia	13	35	.271

SOUTH ATLANTIC

Club—	Won	Lost	Pct.
Charlotte	34	19	.642
Greenville	32	21	.604
Augusta	29	21	.586
Spartanburg	30	22	.577
Macon	17	36	.321
Columbia	16	37	.302

VIRGINIA

Club—	Won	Lost	Pct.
Norfolk	23	18	.561
Richmond	24	19	.558
Rocky Mount	24	21	.532
Wilson	23	21	.523
Portsmouth	20	24	.455
Petersburg	16	25	.390

TOMMY ABBOTT AS PINCH HITTER

Tommy Abbott who managed the Tobacconists last season is now being used as pinch hitter by the Richmond club of the Virginia League. In the last six times that he has been sent to the bat in an emergency case he has delivered—six hits in six times at the plate

Tommy is also being used as second string catcher by the Colts.

CAN YOU BEAT IT!

By Maurice Ketten

Copyright, 1923 (New York Evening World). Press Publishing Company

BOSTON PLAYER OUT OF GAME

(By The Associated Press)

CHICAGO, June 9. — Waldon Cruise, Boston National outfielder, sustained a hernia yesterday when he fell at first base in the ninth inning of the game with the Chicago Cubs.

Cruise said tonight it had not been decided whether an operation would be necessary but that he probably would be out of the game for some time.

Cruise, sent in as pinch hitter singled and upon reaching first base fell. He was assisted from the field and later to a hospital.

COLLEGE BASEBALL

At Atlanta: University of North Carolina 4; Georgia Tech 1.

At South Bend: Notre Dame 14; Illinois 2.

At Easton, Pa.: Lafayette 15; Rutgers 0.

At New York: Columbia University 2; University of Pennsylvania 8.

At Worchester, Mass.: Holy Cross 1; Harvard 0.

At Chicago 5; Indiana 4.

At New Haven: Yale 4; Crescent Athletic Club 6.

At Collegeville, Pa.: Franklin and Marshall 6, Ursinus 2.

At Princeton 4; Gettysburg 1.

At Swathmore 8; Muhlenberg 3.

At Lewisburg, Pa.: Bucknell 6, Susquehanna 2.

At Penn State 2; Pittsburgh 6.

TO KEEP WORKMEN

SEATTLE, June 9. —Local building projects will keep skilled workmen employed for the remainder of the year according to officers of the Master Builders Association of Seattle. There is a shortage of labor in the plumbing trades today, as there are only 230 plumbers here.

Yesterday's Results

International:

Rochester 5-1; Buffalo, 7-2.
Baltimore 6; Reading, 1.
Newark 6-11; Jersey City 5-3.
Syracuse 2-0; Toronto 1-15.

American Association:

Columbus ; Kansas City 4.
Louisville 2; Minneapolis 3.
Toledo 3-4; Milwaukee 4-3.
Indianapolis 2; St. Paul 4.

Southern

Memphis-Mobile, rain.
Chattanooga 4; Atlanta 2.
Only three games scheduled.
New Orleans 4; Nashville 1.

American

Washington 5; St. Louis 3.
New York 8; Cleveland 7.

National.

Chicago, 3; Boston 0.
Cincinnati 2, Brooklyn, 1.
St. Louis-Brooklyn, Rain.

DEMPSEY'S CUT MAY BE SERIOUS

(By Chicago Tribune Service.)

GREAT FALLS, Mont., June 9.— The cut which Jack Dempsey received when butted during a workout by a sparring partner on Wednesday developed a serious aspect today. It was learned that several stitches had been taken in the cut. It was said the blow received Wednesday opened up an old cut.

Manager Jack Kearns said that while Dempsey would be delayed in taking up the heavy boxing program planned to put him into shape for his bout with Tommy Gibbons at Shelby, July 4, no trouble was expected from Dempsey's injury.

The heavy title holder posed for several pictures but carefully turned a profile view hiding his wound. This morning he rested in camp playing ball with news writers. In the afternoon Dempsey went for a row on the Missouri river.

At Shelby, Tommy Gibbons did not start training today but expects to begin a long grind tomorrow or Monday.

Oriental

Nellie Sullivan doesn't come from the orient, but that didn't prevent her from taking first honors at an oriental dancing contest in Atlanta, Ga. Nellie also goes in for marathon dancing and has a record of 7 hours and has issued a challenge to the country to outstep her.

Golfers Undergo Final Practice

TROON, Scotland, June 9.—The best of the world's golfers, drawn to Troon from three continents by the lure of the British open championships, took their final practice rounds today for that struggle, which begins Monday. The three courses on which the qualifying and championship rounds will be played will have a day of rest tomorrow, although Scotland has reverence for golf, Scotland does not reverse it as a way in which to spend the Sabbath.

On Monday 222 golfers, among them the open champion of six nations, will begin a two days' qualifying competition, in which all but eighty must fail These eighty players with the lowest scores over 36 holes will begin on Thursday a 72 hole contest for the final crown of victory.

Three of the 12 American entrants are numbered among the select circle of favorites. They are Walter Hagen, Gene Sarazen and Jim Barnes. A fourth American, MacDonald Smith of San Francisco, is regarded as a dark horse, possibly very dangerous. His perfection in practice has been amazing, twice he had a card of 68 over the old course on which the championship will be played and once 69. Moreover, he has astounded statisticians still further in practice over the new course, on which part of the qualifying test will be made, by turning in a card of 64. Today Smith was said to be off his game, yet his score was 74.

In the opinion of close students of golf, four rounds in the average of 74 will be good enough to win the championship.

Walter Hagen has had no very low scores, but has been spending his time traveling about Scotland giving exhibitions. He is believed to be capable, however, of tightening up his game in an emergency and few would be surprised if he again won the British title, which he captured last year at Sandwich. Sarazen's game is remarkable, precise and powerful.

The American entrants, received a shock tonight when informed they would not be allowed to use their corrugated, grooved or slotted club. The decision to bar clubs of this nature was reached late tonight at a special meeting of the Royal and Ancient Rules Golf Committee, and as a consequence all the American and a few of the British contestants will probably spend part of Sunday filing these clubs to make them conform with the requirements. The Americans were plainly troubled by the decision but declared it would not interfere with the achievement of their ambitions.

The statement of the Committee says in part:

"The rules committee have decided that clubs of corrugated, grooved or slotted patterns constitute a substantial departure from the traditional accomplishments and makes of golf clubs, and accordingly are not permissable in a competition played under the rules of the Royal and Ancient Rules xax consequently they are not permissable in the open championship.

NEW DEVELOPMENT IN THE SLAYING OF MISS DRACHMANN

(By The Associated Press)

YOUNGSTOWN, O., June 9—Clues pointing to the writer of the "death note," received by an admirer of Miss Helena Drachmann, whose body was found stuffed into a culvert near the city limits Thursday, caused Youngstown police to believe that they were closing their net around the slayer.

With this new development in the slaying of Miss Drachmann, whose body bore 14 knife wounds, three women held for investigation, were released tonight. Four men, all taxi-men or private chauffeurs are still being held.

ADMIRAL ANDREWS COMMANDS FORCES IN EUROPEAN WATERS

(By The Associated Press)

NEW YORK, June 9—Rear Admiral Phillip Andrews sailed for Europe today on the steamship President Harding with his wife and several members of his staff to replace Vice Admiral Long as commander in chief of the naval forces in European waters. Vice Admiral Long will be returned to Washington as chief of the bureau of navigation.

British piano trade is now employing nearly 10,000 hands.

American League

(SUNDAY'S GAMES)

N. Y. DEFEATS CLEVELAND BREAKING LOSING STREAK

NEW YORK, June 10.—The New York Americans broke their losing streak today, defeating Cleveland 8 to 7. Cleveland made four home runs off Hoyt in the early innings, but offset this work at bat with four errors in the sixth. Hofman cleaned the bases with a two bagger in the sixth. Smith, former Cleveland player, batted for Scott in the eighth and tied the score with a homer. The game was won by Ward's single in the ninth following three passes. He injured his leg sliding to the plate on the second one and was forced to leave the game. Score:

Cleveland .. ..003 121 000—7
New York .....002 004 011—8

Coveleskie and Wyatt; Hoyt, Jones and Hofman.

THE SENATORS HIT HARD AND DOWN THE BROWNS

WASHINGTON, June 11.—Washington bunched hits off Vangilder in the fourth inning and took the second game of the series from St. Louis 5 to 3. Zachary was touched for 12 hits but was strong in the pinches Washington made three double plays. Score:

St Louis .. ..010 000 011—3
Washington .. ..000 301 10x—5

Vangilder and Severeid; Zachary and Ruel.

(SATURDAY'S GAMES)

ST. LOUIS 5; WASHINGTON 4

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, June 9—Feeble fielding behind Zahniser allowed St. Louis to defeat Washington today, 5 to 4. The visitors scored three runs in the fourth inning after two were out. Washington got to Shocker in the first and eighth innings for two runs each:

Score		R.	H.	E.
St. Louis	010 310 000	5	8	0
Wash.	200 000 020	4	8	4

Shocker and Severeid; Zahnizer, Drillheart, Warmouth and Ruel.

CLEVELAND 13; NEW YORK 3

(By The Associated Press)

NEW YORK, June 9.—Cleveland won an easy victory from the New York Americans today 13 to 3. The Yankees now have lost six of their last seven games. Bush was wild and unsteady, and after he was taken out with the bases filled in the sixth, Mays walked Wamby and Speaker then cleaned with a home run into the right field bleachers. Uhle pitched well for Cleveland and double plays aided him in keeping down New York's score.

Score		R.	H.	E.
Cleveland ..	000 307 003	13	12	1
New York ..	200 00 100	3	9	0

Uhle and O'Neill, Bush, Mays, Pipgrass and Hoffman.

DETROIT 8; PHILADELPHIA 6

(By The Associated Press)

PHILADELPHIA, June 9.—Pounding Naylor and Heimach for 12 hits Detroit walked off with the first game of the series from the second place Athletics today by a score of 8 to 6. Starting their attack in the 2nd inning the Tigers hit Naylor hard in every inning until the sixth when he retired with his first defeat of the 1923 season chalked up against him. During this time Heilmann and Cobb had homers.

Score		R.	H.	E.
Detroit	011 122 010	8	12	3
Phila.	000 111 102	6	15	4

Holloway and Bassler; Naylor, Heimach and Perkins.

PRIVACY IN COMMUNICATION

NEW YOORK, June 9.—Privacy has been made possible in radio telephonic communication through a device that "scrambles" words at the sending end, so that to any one listening in they are unintelligible and clarifies the tones to the person for whom the message is intended, was announced today by the American Telephone and Telegraph company.

The invitation has been used successfully it was said, over a 30 mile stretch of ocean between Los Angeles and Catalina islands.

The problem of obtaining privacy in radio conversation was solved by Engineers of the Bell System, it was asserted, partly as a result of the post-war scarcity of cables for underseas service.

"The wireless talk bridge," said an engineer of the company, "which has given satisfactory transmission across 30 mile gap of water night and day since 1920 was designed to permit two way talking between th emainland and the island."

Birds are as sensitive to colors as are human beings, but fish respond most readily to green and yellow lights.

Wilde to Meet Villa in N. Y. On June 18th

(By Chicago Tribune Service.)

NEW YORK, June 10.—The next big boxing championship bout will be held at the Polo grounds, Monday evening, June 18. Jimmy Wilde, the flyweight champion of the world, will face Pancho Villa, the rugged Filipino and former holder of the American title in the same division. Villa blew his title to Frankie Genaro several months ago, but he has hopes of beating the Englishman, thereby outranking Francis so far as titular honors go. Of course Wilde is going to have a whole lot to say about that and the little brown fighter had better not bank too heavily on upsetting that Britisher.

The fans are speculating on whether Wilde is the great fighter he was several years ago. Wilde at his best is one of the best flyweight or bantam boxers who ever toed the mark. Rather frail in stature, Wilde packs the sock of a middleweight.

In Villa, the Englishman is going to meet a ripping, tearing, hard swiping kid, who is always on top of his man. Villa might be easy to hit, but he never lets the other fellow set for a hard sock. Wilde will probably try to keep him off with his long left, but he will find Pancho plunging in at every step.

It should be a good bout.

At the Velodrome next Wednesday night there will be five bouts. K. O. Kaplan fights Pete Latzo in the main go of 12 rounds.

"Babe" Herman of California and Louis "Kid" Kaplan of Meriden are scheduled to battle 12 rounds in the feature attraction at the Queensboro stadium in Long Island City, on Tuesday evening.

Bantam Champion Joe Lynch, who has been laying up for the past few months, will swing into action against Bobby Wolgast in an eight-round bout at the Philadelphia National Leaue baseball park on July 9.

Harry Wills, challenger for Jack Dempsey's heavyweight title, and Paddy Mullins, his manager, left yesterday for Shelby, Mont., to see the Dempsey-Gibbons bout.

Winston Defeats Raleigh 18 to 13

RALEIGH, N. C., June 9.— In a game in which both sides hit the ball hard and often, Winston managed to pile up the most runs for a victory over Raleigh, the final count being 18 to 13. It was a slugfest for both teams until after the seventh and then the storm cleared and not another run was scored. The visitors used three pitchers and the locals four. The following box score will give further details:

Winston-Salem	AB	R	H	PO	A	E
Long rf,	6	2	4	2	0	0
Leard 2b,	4	3	2	3	5	1
Black 3b,	6	2	3	0	0	0
Clarke cf,	6	3	4	4	0	0
Anderson 1b,	3	3	2	8	0	0
Carter lf,	5	0	1	2	0	0
Hamby c,	5	1	1	5	0	0
Faber ss,	5	1	1	2	4	3
Ellington p,	4	2	3	0	0	0
La Cloustra p,	0	0	0	0	0	0
Hengehold p,	0	0	0	1	0	0
TOTALS	44	18	21	27	9	4

Raleigh	AB	R	H	PO	A	E
Carey 2b,	7	1	2	3	4	0
Lennox ss,	5	1	2	1	6	0
Duncan rf,	5	2	2	2	0	0
Smith 3b,	5	1	1	1	1	0
Waldrop lf & p,	6	1	3	2	2	0
Graves cf,	5	2	2	4	0	0
Sessions 1b & lf,	6	2	2	9	0	1
Siner c,	4	1	3	0	1	0
Valentine p,	0	0	0	0	0	0
Gibson p,	0	0	0	0	0	0
Edwards p & 1b,	4	2	1	5	0	0
TOTALS	47	13	18	27	14	1

Winston ..... 461 005 100—18
Raleigh ..... 220 041 400—13

Summary:-

Sacrifice hits: Carter, Anderson. Two-base hits: Clarke, Leard (2), Black. Three-base hits: Long, Anderson (2), Duncan, Siner (2), Smith. Double plays: Carey to Lennox; Black to Faber to Anderson. Hits off: Valentine 3 in 1-3 innings, off: Gibson 5 in 1 innings; off: Ellington 16 in 6 2-3 innings. Off: LaCloustra 1 in 0 innings. Struck out by: Waldrop 1. By: Hengeholt 3. Bases on balls off Ellington 4. Off: Valentine 1. Off: Hengeholt 3. Off: Edwards 2. Off: Waldrop 1. Winning pitcher—Ellington. Losing pitcher—Valentine. Left on bases: Raleigh 15; Winston 6. Wild pitch: Hengeholt. Time of game: 2:28. Umpires: McDonald and Ferguson. Attendance: 900.

CHALLENGE ISSUED

At a meeting of the American Legion held Friday night a challenge was issued to the Rotary, Kiwanis and Lions clubs for a baseball game to be played here July 4.

C. O. McCormick, district committeeman of the American Legion, attended the meeting.

Quench Your Thirst with Food

Beer

THE BEVERAGE

The all-year-'round soft drink

The drink that athletes train on — the choice of out-of-door people everywhere — because it does more than satisfy thirst — a refreshing body-building and pure nourishment of the finest kind — Bevo, liquid food!

ANHEUSER-BUSCH, INC., ST. LOUIS

10¢

Tate & Thomas

Wholesale Distributors

Danville, Va.

And "SPARK PLUG"

Every Day In THE BEE

BRING ON THAT VACATION!

These two British girls are all ready for their 6000-mile tour of Canada and the United States. Their 6-foot railway ticket seems to afford them much pleasure. Thousands of people just now are looking forward to just the same thrills as these two, shown aboard the Canadian Pacific steamer Empress of Britain, en route to the west.

NEWSPAPERARCHIVE®
NEWSPAPERARCHIVE®

National League

(SUNDAY'S GAMES)

CHICAGO, SHUTS OUT BOSTON, 3 TO 0

CHICAGO, June 10.—Vic. Aldridge bested Joe Genewich in a pitching duel today and Chicago shut out Boston, 3 to 0. Genewich had one bad innig, the second when the locals bunched four of their six hits, which included two triples and scored all their runs. Aldridge kept the Braves' hits scattered and struck out nine men. He was given great support, the fielding of Grantham being especially good. Score:

Boston	000 000 000—0
Chicago	030 000 00x—3

Genewich, Oeschger and E. Smith, Aldridge and O'Farrell.

LUQUE HURLS SUPERBLY AND REDS BEAT PHILS

CINCINNATI, June 10.—Luque's effective pitching enabled the Reds to take the second game of the series from Philadelphia today 2 to 1. Glazner also pitched well except in the third inning, when three hits and an error by Sand gave the home team its only runs. An error by Caveney, followed by two hits saved the visitors from a shut out in the fourth. It was the seventh victory for Luque out of eight starts this season. Score:

Philadelphia	000 100 000—1
Cincinnati	002 000 00x—2

Glazner and Wilson, Luque and Wingo.

(SATURDAY'S GAMES)

BROOKLYN 2; ST. LOUIS 0

(By The Associated Press.)

ST. LOUIS, June 9.—St. Louis' winning streak of six games ended today when Brooklyn took the first game of the series, 2 to 0. Vance held the Cardinals to four hits. Toporcer made ten assists. It was "Fourneir Day" and the former Cardinal was presented with a floral wreath and a traveling bag before the game began.

Score	R.	H.	E.
Brooklyn ... 000 010 010	2	9	1
St. Louis 000 000 000	0	4	1

Vance and DeBerry; Doak, North and McCurdy.

CINCINNATI 12; PHILLIES 2

(By The Associated Press)

CINCINNATI, June 9.—The Reds enjoyed a holiday at the bat at the expense of 3 Philadelphia pitchers today and easily won the last game of the series, 12 to 2. Benton pitched effectively except in the third inning.

Score	R.	H.	E.
Phila. 002 000 000	2	8	4
Cincinnati .. 411 002 04x	12	16	1

Mitchell, Head, Bishop and Henline, Benton and Hargrave.

CHICAGO 4; BOSTON 3.

(By The Associated Press)

CHICAGO, June 9.—Statz' smash to left field sent Heathcote across the plate in the 9th inning, breaking a tie and giving Chicago its second victory over Boston today four to 3 Hartnett, however, almost repeated the famous Merkle play of failing to touch second base.

With Heathcote on third and Hartnett on first and two out Statz shot a drive to left field, scoring Heathcote, but Hartnett started for the clubhouse. The Chicago players rushed toward him, waving, shouting and pointing to second base Hartnett reached the base just before the ball was relayed to the bag.

Score	R.	H.	E.
Boston 000 100 020	3	5	1
Chicago 100 101 001	4	11	1

Benton, McNamara and O'Neil; Kauffman and O'Farrell.

NEW YORK 6; PITTSBURG 0

(By The Associated Press)

PITTSBURGH, June 9.—Bentley was in great form today and New York won from Pittsburgh six to 0, before one of the largest crowds ever jammed into Forbes Field. The crowd overflowed onto the field, making ground rules necessary. It was the first time this season that a left-hander started against the Pirates and won.

Score	R.	H.	E.
New York .. 002 100 003	6	12	0
Pittsburgh .. 000 000 000	0	7	1

Bentley and Snyder; Meadows and Gooch.

RUDDY LIGHT WINS STAKES

(By The Associated Press)

LATONIA, Ky., June 9.— Ruddy Light, from the Nevada Stock Farm Stable, won the $5,000 Clipsetta stakes for two-year-old fillies here this afternoon over a distance of five furlongs. The winner's time was 59 3-5.

Irle Hour Stock Farm's Bob Mary and Cherokee Lee, runing in the colors of Milam and Ferguson, was third. Ten Lec, representing the L. Viau Stable, was returned the winner of the quickstep handicap defeating Fair Phantom, Audley Farm entry, by one and a half lengths, in the fast time of 1:11 1-5. E. B. McLean's Comixia, was third, Actuary, Sweetheart, Jimmy Daw, Dr. Clark, General Thatcher and Audacious also ran.

The race was run over the six furlong route and carried an added value of $5,000, $800 of which went to the 2nd horse and $400 to the third. The time is a new record for the event.

CONQUEROR OF MRS. MALLORY

This is the latest action picture of Miss Mabel McKane, considered England's foremost woman tennis player. She recently overwhelmed Mrs. Molla Bjurstedt Mallory, American champ.

THE "MET" GOLF CHAMPIONSHIP

By Burris Jenkins Jr.

Copyright, 1923 (New York Evening World), Press Publishing Company

Where They Play Today

AMERICAN LEAGUE

Philadelphia at St. Louis
Boston at Chicago
Washington at Detroit
New York at Cincinnati

NATIONAL LEAGUE

St. Louis at Philadelphia
Pittsburgh at Brooklyn
Chicago at New York

PIEDMONT LEAGUE

Raleigh at Danville
Greensboro at Durham
Winston at High Point

TAX EXPERTS TO INVESTIGATE BOXING MATCH

(By The Associated Press)

CHICAGO, June 9.—The government tax experts will arrive in Chicago next week to investigate the recent Mitchell-Leonard boxing match and other pugilistic encounters held here in recent months under the guise of charitable benefits by which they claimed exemption from paying the federal amusement tax. This became known today when Mrs. Mabel Reinecke, collector of internal revenue, returned from a visit to Washington, where she conferred with Acting Commissioner C. R. Nash, concerning conditions here. Only about $25 was left for Charity after eBnny Leonard, lightweight champion and Pinkie Mitchell, who lost on a technical knockout had been paid and other expenses settled.

Leonard yesterday made an offer to return to Chicago and fight for nothing for the benefit of the West Side Boys Club, which was the announced beneficiary in the Leonard Mitchell contest.

The tax experts, after investigating the situation here will proceed to Shleby, Mont., to look over the government's chances for revenue from the Dempsey-Gibbons fight there on June 4th.

"DAYS OF '49" DANCE HALL IS NABBED

(By The Associated Press)

SHELBY, Mont., June 9.— A raid was made on "The days of '49" dance hall by local and federal officers and the properitor, Dick Williams, was arrested charged with selling liquor. Thirteen bottles of beer were found, it was said. County Attorney W. W. Thorne concluded that the "Days of '49" and the "Chicken Shack" were not names to have as outside signs of two dance halls of the suburbs and ordered that the names be changed to something "less suggestive" of hooch."

Danville Hurlers Are Hit Hard and Bulls Win Game

DURHAM, N. C., June 9.— The locals slammed Danville hurlers to all parts of the field and defeated them easily this afternoon by the score of 14 to 4. Pitcher Allen held the visitors to seven hits, pitching superb ball until the ninth when the Danville staged a rally which netted them three runs. However, the Bulls had an eleven run lead, having hammered the Virginian pitchers unmercifully after the fourth inning.

Murphy sent in Lefty Wilson as his choice of the mound. Wilson went good for three innings but in the fourth Stringfield tripled and scored a moment on a sacrifice fly. This seemed to rattle Wilson for in the following frame four hits off him netted three runs, thus sending him to the showers. Harris was called to the rescue but was even worse and in the sixth he allowed six runs off five hits. Gray was thn called to the mound in an effort to stop the terrific pounding of the Bulls. He allowed two runs in each of the other two innings.

Danville found Allen a puzzle until the ninth when three hits and Sadler's error let in three runs. The only other run of the Virginians came in the third. Regan had walked. Cochlin hit sharply to Resco, who threw wild to second to catch Regan. Regan went to third and scored a moment later on Dorman's singled. Benson played a great game at second for Durham. He ran behind second base and took a ball off the bat of Allison and threw him out at first. Trexler also made a great catch for Danville off the bat of Benson. The box score follows:

DANVILLE	AB	R	H	PO	A	E
Dorman ss, ...	4	0	2	2	3	1
Overton 2b, ...	4	0	0	3	6	0
Murphy 3b, ...	4	1	1	0	0	0
Trexler lf, ...	4	0	1	2	0	0
Brown rf, ...	3	0	0	1	0	1
Gray p, ...	1	1	1	0	0	0
Allison 1b, ...	5	1	2	10	0	0
Regan cf, ...	2	1	0	2	0	1
Cochlin c, ...	4	0	0	3	0	0
Wilson p, ...	2	0	0	0	2	0
Harris p & rf, ...	1	0	0	0	0	1
TOTALS	34	4	7	23	11	4

Durham	AB	R	H	PO	A	E
Heine 3b, ...	5	2	3	2	4	1
Stringfield ss, ...	4	2	3	0	5	0
Dannielly cf, ...	4	2	1	3	0	0
Benson 2b, ...	3	1	1	1	4	0
Rodgers lf, ...	3	0	1	2	0	0
Kearney c, ...	4	2	0	1	0	0
Resco 1b, ...	4	2	2	16	0	1
Sadler rf, ...	4	1	1	2	0	1
Allen p, ...	4	2	2	0	2	0
TOTALS	35	14	14	27	15	3

DANVILLE	001	000	003—4
Durham	000	136	22x—14

Summary:

Stolen bases: Heine, Dannielly. Sacrifice hits: Regan, Benson. Two-base hits: Stringfield, Rodgers, Resco. Three-base hits: Stringfield, Sadler, Resco. Double plays: Overton to Dorman; Benson to Resco. Hits off: Wilson 7 in 4 1-3 innings. Off: Harris 5 in 1 2-3 innings. Struck out by: Allen 1. By: Wilson 2. By: Harris 1. Bases on balls off: Allen 1. Off: Wilson 1. Off: Gray 3. Losing pitchr: Wilson. Left on bases: Danville 4; Durham 0. Wild pitch: Harris. Time of game: 1:48. Umpires: Tandy and Alexander. Attendance 1,000.

JOIE RAY FAILS TO LOWER MARK

(By The Associated Press)

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., June 9.— A heavy track, chilly temperature and a drizzling rain conspired against Joie Ray today and ruined his chances and hopes to break the world's record for the mile at the open handicap track meet conducted at the Harvard Stadium under the auspices of the Harvard Athletic Association.

The little Chicagoan covered his distance in four minutes, 27 3-5 seconds, as compared with the mark of four minutes, 12 3-5 seconds established on the same track in 1915 by Norman S. Taber.

Two Harvard men W. L. Chapin and W. N Watters, finished ahead of Ray. Chapin had a 125 yard handicap while Watters had 100.

In their crazy for beauty, Parisian women are even having their noses "broken" and re-set in a different shape.

Saturday's Results

PIEDMONT LEAGUE

At Raleigh 13; Winston-Salem 18.
At High Point 10; Greensboro 9.
At Durham 14; Danville 4.

VIRGINIA LEAGUE

At Norfolk 2; Wilson 3, (13 innings)
At Petersburg 11; Rocky Mount 4.
At Richmond 10; Portsmouth 11.

SOUTH ATLANTIC

At Macon 4; Charlotte 7 (first game.)
At Spartanburg 7-4; Augusta 5-7.
At Columbia 4-3; Greenville 10-6.
At Macon 3, Charlotte 2 (second game).

AMERICAN

New York 3; Cleveland 13.
Philadelphia 6; Detroit 8
Washington 4; St. Louis 5.
Boston-Chicago, rain.

NATIONAL

Pittsburgh 0; New York 6.
Cincinnati 12, Philadelphia 2.
Chicago 4; Boston 3.
St. Louis 0; Brooklyn 2.

INTERNATIONAL

At Toronto 4-3; Rochester 3-4.
At Jersey City 4; Newark 3.
At Baltimore 8; Reading 6.
At Syracuse 5-4; Buffalo 3-3.

SOUTHERN ASSOCIATION

At Atlanta 12; Birmingham 3.
At Memphis 2; New Orleans 2. (called 7th inning rain).
At Chattanooga 0; Nashville 5.
At Little Rock 9, Mobile 5.

APPALACHAIN LEAGUE

At Morristown 3; Johnson City 8.
At Knoxville 1; Bristol 2. (12 innings).
t Greenville 6; Kingsport 9.

AMERICAN ASSOCIATION

At Louisville 3; Minneapolis 5.
At Columbus 3; Kansas City 6.
At Toledo 3; Milwaukee 2.
At Indianaopis 7; St. Paul 4.

Energetic speaker at political meeting: "And are you going to take this lying down?"

Voice from the audience: "No, the reporters are doing that!"

United States is using four times as much timber annually as it is growing.

"Youth"

Felix Borowski, president of Chicago Musical College, won a $1000 prize for his orchestral composition "Youth," in a competition at the North Shore Musical Festival, Chicago. Fifty-seven other composers competed. Borowski was born in England of Polish parents, but has lived in Chicago for 25 years.

Willard-Firpo Fight at Boyle's Thirty Acres

(By Chicago Tribune Service)

NEW YORK, June 9.—In announcing definitely today that the Jess Willard-Luis Firpo fifteen round bout will be held at Boyle's thirty acres on Thursday night, July 12. Tex Rickard let it be known that the evening's program would include forty rounds of heavyweight boxing.

In addition to the feature bout, Floyd Johnson, Iowan, will go up against Jack McAuliffe, Detroit heavyweight, in a twelve round melee. As originally planned this bout was to go only eight rounds, but it has been thought better to extend it. Both fighters were on the milk fund card and both were knocked out. McAuliffe succumbed to Firpo after three rounds and Johnson stood up against Jess Willard until the twelfth round.

Cliff Kramer, of California, will mix with Jim (Tiny) Herman of Omaha in an eight round contest. Young Bob Fitzsimmons will meet Tom Roper in the other eight round bout. Fifteen dollars will be the maximum seat price. Rickard has announced that there will be 45,000 seats available at prices ranging from $1 to $3.

Jimmy Wilde put in a hard day of training today at the People's Palace in Jersey City in preparation for his fifteen round bout with Pancho Villa at the Polo Grounds, June 18, when he will defend his title of flyweight champion of the world. Wilde expect to enter the ring at 110 pounds.

Soldier Bartfield started to work in earnest today for his bout with the former welterweight champion Jack Britton. Jack will start his training tomorrow. Their ten round clash on next Thursday night will feature the opening of Brooklyn's largest outdoor boxing arena, that of the Kingsboro Sporting Club.

Babe Herman of California and Lou (Kid) Kaplan of Meriden, Conn., who put up a great scrap when they clashed in the final number following the Kilbane-Criqui scrap at the Polo Grounds last Saturday afternoon have been rematched to travel the 12 round distance at the Queensboro stadium, Long Island city next Thursday night.

NEW YORK TEAM WINS TENNIS CUP

(By The Associated Press)

FOREST HILLS, N. Y., June 9.—Despite the spectacular playing of William T. Tilden, 2nd, national champion, Philadelphia's tennis forces went down to defeat today before New York's well balanced team of stars in the final round of competition for the Church Cup, emblematic of the tri-city championship. The Philadelphians, who had displayed formidable strength yesterday in eliminating the other cup contender, Boston, eight matches to one, failed to come up to expectations in the title series and were swept aside by the decisive score of six matches to three.

Outside of Tilden, the Quakers offered little opposition to the cup holders, who won the trophy for the fifth time in the six years it has been in competition and for the fourth year in succession.

The national champion was in fine form, vanquishing Vincent Richards 5-7, 6-4; 6-4, in the most spectacular match of the afternoon while, paired with Wallace F. Johnson, he was the outstanding star of the Quakers' triumph in the doubles over Richards and Francis T Hunter, the Wimbledon pair, in another three set struggle, 6-3, 3-6; 6-3.

Kinks o' the Links by PRO

A player and his opponent are approaching to the green. The opponent's mashie falls dead and rolls to the cup. The flag stick is in the way and the ball strikes it, lodging on the edge of the cup, keeping it from falling into the hole. Can the opponent take the flag away, allowing his ball to fall into the cup? Is the situation considered as holeing out or is there a penalty attached for striking the pin in the first place?

It is best to have the flagstaff removed upon approaching the putting green and carried to a safe distance. In match play there is no penalty for striking the flagstaff while it is in the hole, striking it after your opponent or his caddie have removed it, but if you strike it after you or your caddie has taken it out, you lose the hole. If your ball lodges against the flagstaff you must remove the pin to see if the ball will fall in. Should it fall into the hole you save a stroke. If it stays on the green, you must putt again. If in medal play the ball played from within twenty yards of the pin strikes the flagstick, in or out of the hole, it will cost you two strokes.

How should a ball be played that is lying in water on the putting green?

If your ball is lying in casual water on the putting green or the water is lying between your ball and the hole, you may putt it as it lies or lift it and place it behind the water, within two club lengths of where it lay, or in a position, not nearer the hole, that will enable you to putt without interferrence.

21 YEARS IN GAME, BUT BEALS BECKER STILL PLAYS BALL

KANSAS CITY, Mo, June 9. — Twenty-one years in the game and still going well. That's Beals Becker, outfielder of the Kansas City club in the American Association.

Becker, because of his long career, has been dubbed "King Tut" by fans of his home city.

Only one other player in the American Association has approached the length of active service on the diamond that Becker has seen. That player is Charlie Hall, with the St. Paul club. He is playing his twentieth season.

It was in 1902 that Becker, just out of a military school at Lexington, Mo, reported to the Oklahoma City club in the Western League.

For five years he pitched and then became an outfield fixture.

He went from Oklahoma City to Little Rock, Ark, and thence to Wichita, Kas. It was there that he was shifted from the mound to the outfield. Jack Holland was the manager who picked him for an outfielder.

In 1907 Becker was purchased by the Pittsburg club and from there he went to the New York Giants for three seasons.

Becker shared in the world series money in 1911 and 1912. From the Giants he drifted to Cincinnati and in 1916 went to the American Association in Kansas City.

Beals says the two best pitchers he ever played with or against were Christy Matthewson and "Three-Fingered" Brown.

With President Harding

—On—

Alaskan Trip

WARREN G HARDING

David Lawrence

Special Register Correspondent Will Accompany President Harding, Giving Register Readers Daily Reports of this Interesting Trip.

Mr. Lawrence will accompany the president on the trip covering the more important speeches and sending messages daily to The Register, just as he did when he was with the President in Florida. The impression made by Mr. Harding, the significance of his appeal to various sections of the country, will be of unusual interest to Register readers and Mr. Lawrence's usual effort will be directed to cover every phase of this important tour of the President on the Pacific Coast, its bearing on coming political events, in which the whole country is interested.

The Danville Register

Gives to its readers all the news worth while. With the Full Associated Press, Chicago Tribune Service, Consolidated Press, with all the more important features and comics, daily, gives to its readers, a full measure of newspaper value.

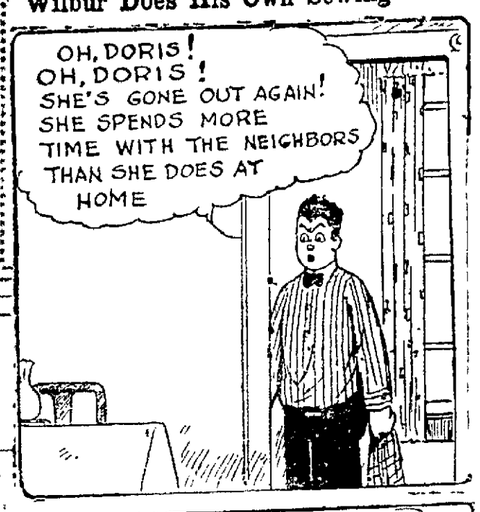

If you are not getting The Register—Phone 21—keep in touch with everything of interest, in local, national and international affairs.

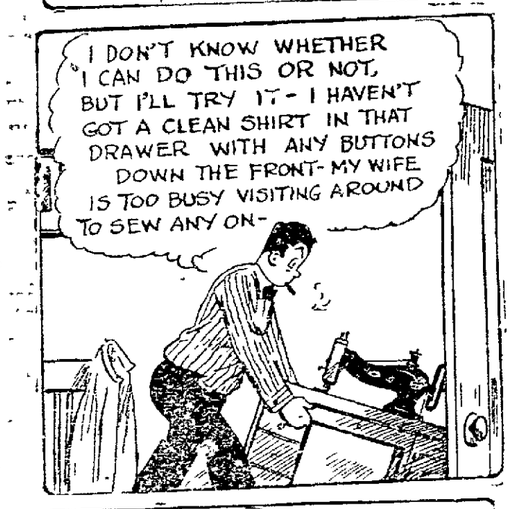

NEWSPAPERARCHIVE®
NEWSPAPERARCHIVE®

A Page of The Funniest Comics Daily Before You In The Bee

THE DUFFS — By Allman

Wilbur Does His Own Sewing

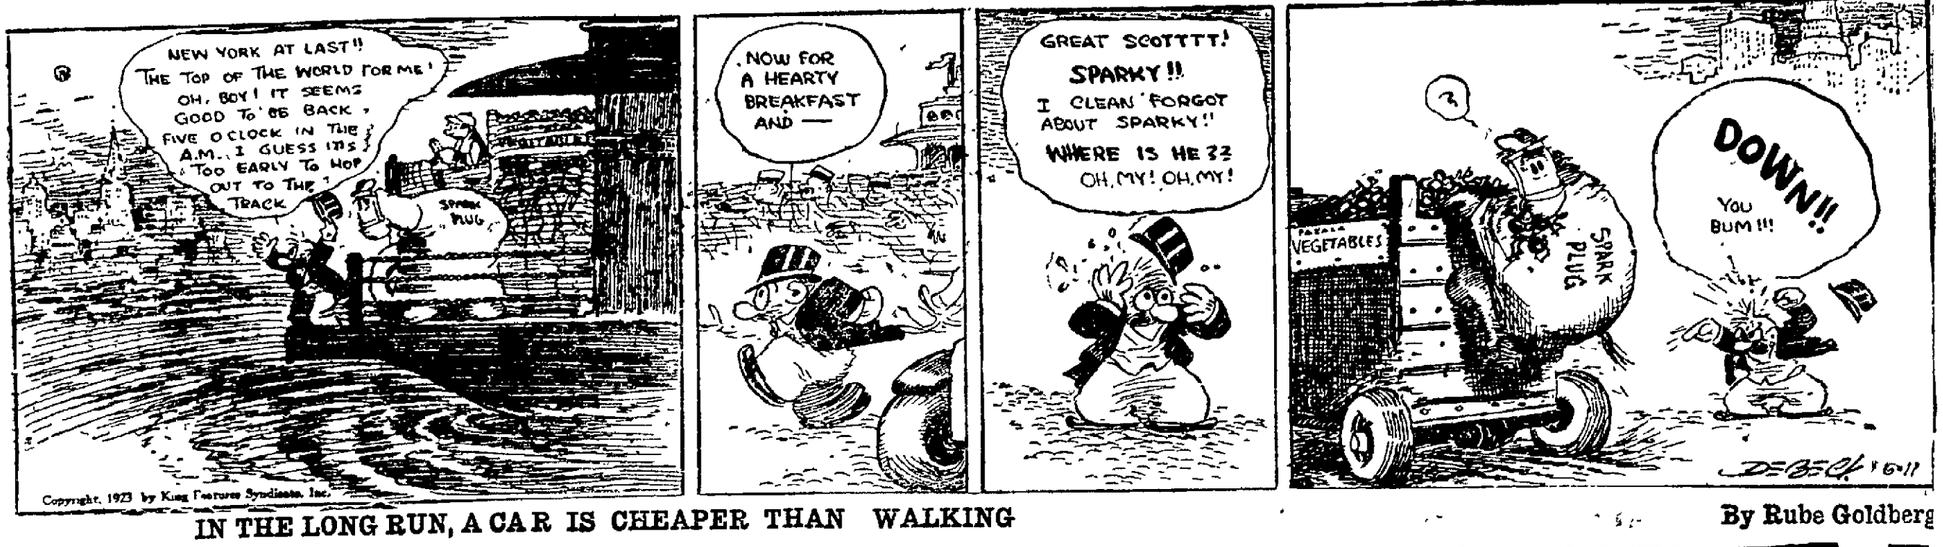

PAGE OF COMICS DAILY IN THE DANVILLE REGISTER

BARNEY GOOGLE — Sparky Breakfasts When He's Sure of It — By De Beck

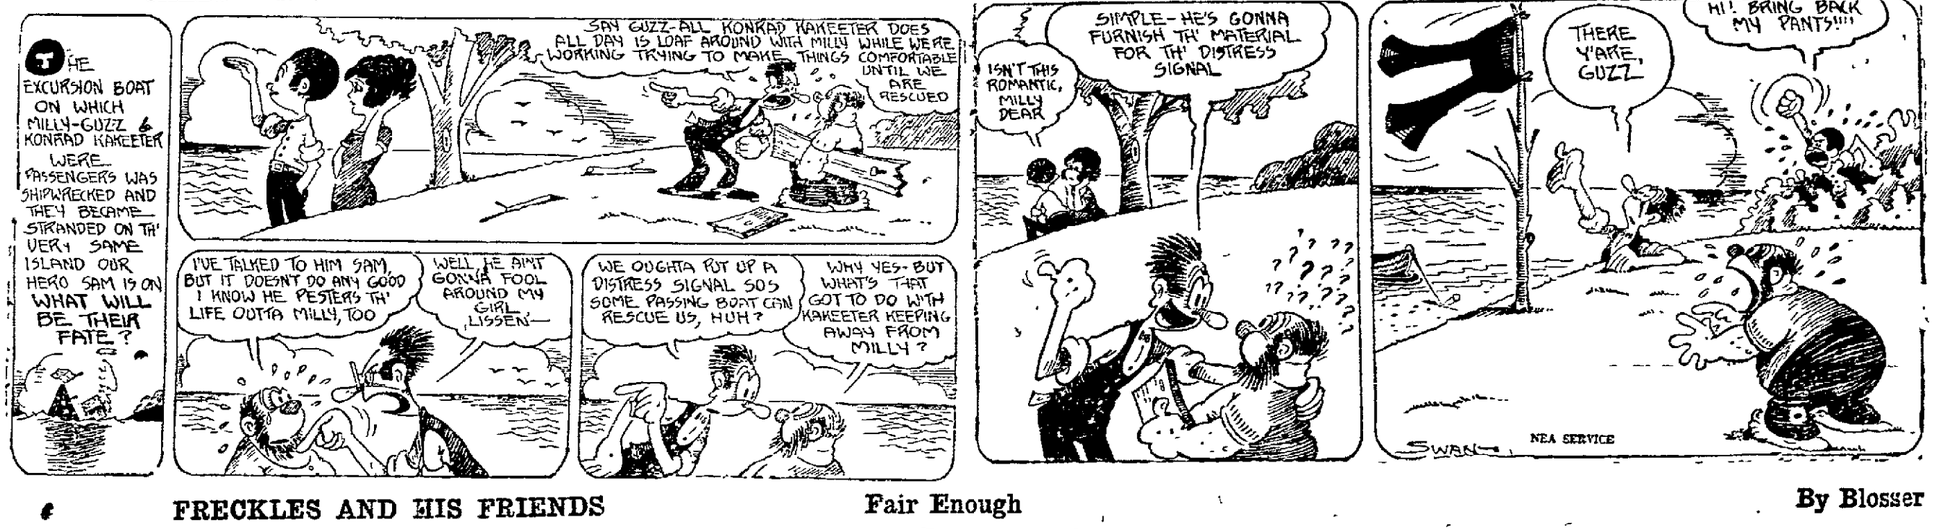

IN THE LONG RUN, A CAR IS CHEAPER THAN WALKING — By Rube Goldberg

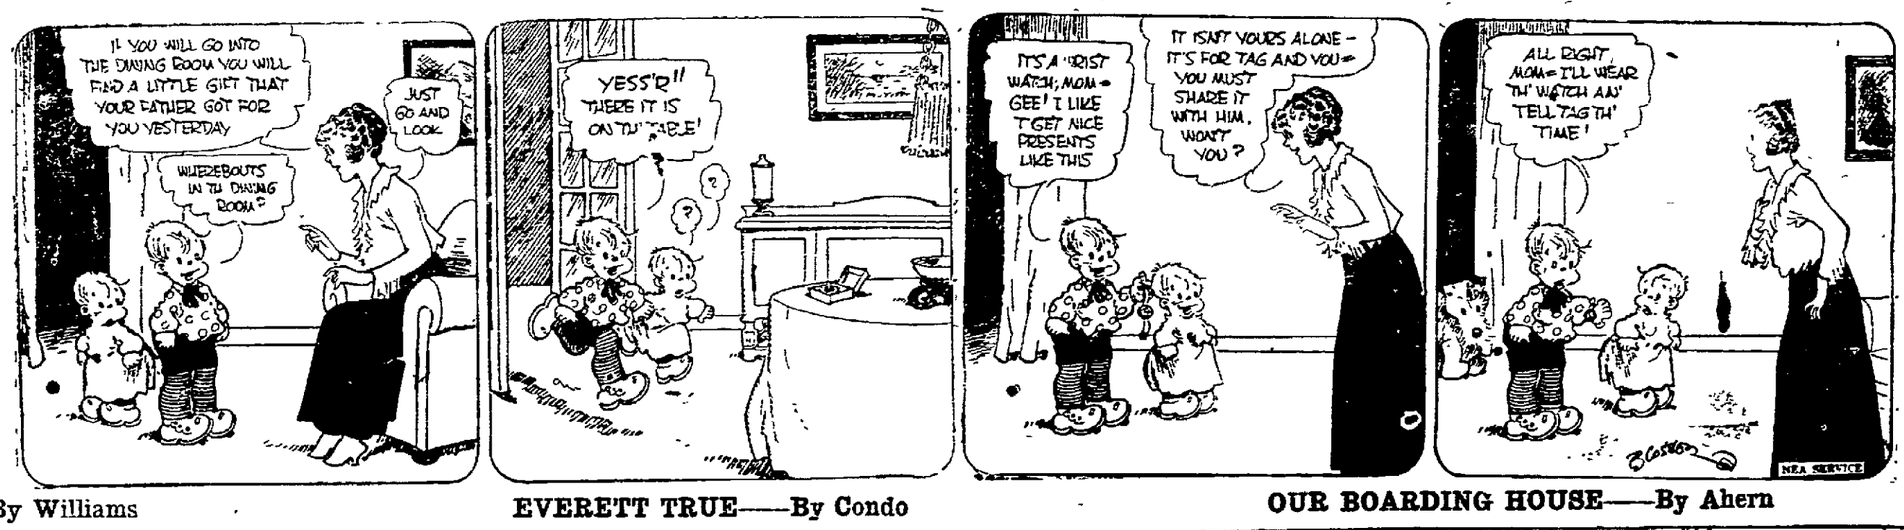

STEVE HIMSELF

$ALESMAN $AM — Kakeeter Is Stranded — By Swan

FRECKLES AND HIS FRIENDS — Fair Enough — By Blosser

OUT OUR WAY — By Williams

EVERETT TRUE — By Condo

OUR BOARDING HOUSE — By Ahern

NEWSPAPERARCHIVE®
NEWSPAPERARCHIVE®

Use Bee Wants Daily

Want Ad Rates

THIS SIZE TYPE

1¼c a Word Register or Bee
2c a Word Register and Bee

THIS SIZE TYPE

15c a Line Register or Bee
25c a Line Register and Bee

MINIMUM CHARGE:

Register or Bee 25c
Register and Bee 40c

DISCOUNTS:

10 Times .....5 per cent.
26 Times .....10 per cent.
6 Months .....15 per cent.
12 Months .....20 per cent.

Combination Rates and Discounts apply to consecutive insertions only.

All Want Ads are payable in advance.

Want Ads the cheapest way to reach all the people. The Register and Bee have over

75,000 Daily Readers

ANNOUNCEMENTS

GET YOUR SUMMER SUIT AND straw hat at Dodson's—Our prices are right. Dodson's Shoe Store, Union St 6-1 R&B 1mo

ROBERT F. FARLEY, PLUMBing and heating—20 years experience. Prompt service, Phone 1945-W. 5-22R&B1mo

W. R. EDMUNDS & COMPANY, Heating and Plumbing, 321 Craghead Street. Phone 2137 and 1311. R&Btf

LET US MAKE A PICTURE OF your baby on post card. Pictures taken day or night. People's Studio, Union street. 6-8R&B1mo

MY ENTIRE STOCK OF JEWELry reduced in price. G C Taylor, 119 Market street, phone 1841-J. 6-8R&B1mo

GUNNELL TRANSFER COMPNAY Phones 1731 and 704. 6-6R&B1mo

CALL ON REYNOLDS AND RICHardson for best prices on staple groceries, feed and shoes. Phone 62, 130 N. Union St 6-5R&B1mo

IF INTERESTED IN BUYING fan, call 538 Wells Electric Co. Delivery can be made in ten minutes. 6-5R&B1mo

DANVILLE-GREENSBORO BUS Line. Schedule-Leave Burton Hotel 8 a. m. & 2 p. m. Connecting at Greensboro with Cars for High Point and Winston-Salem. 6-1 R&B 26t

WHEN IN TROUBLE CALL DODson and King. Phone 463 Rear Leeland hotel We employ real automobile mechanics. 6-5 B&R 1 mo

DON'T BEAT YOUR WIFE IF she can't cook. Keep her for a pet and dine at the Leeland Cafeteria. 6-5R&B1mo

THE BEST IS ALWAYS the cheapest. Call 150 Farley Plbg. & Heating Co. Contractors and Engineers. R&B tf

J. D. THROWER, FORMERLY with Dan Valley Motor Co., and C G. Thompson, formerly with Crowell Auto Co., are now located at 514 Loyal street, same building with Auto Tire Sales Co. We repair all makes. Thompson-Thrower Motor Co., Phone 520. 6-7R&B2w

KEEP COOL AT A SMALL COST. Electric fans $5.00. Union Hardware Co. 6-7 B&R 1 mo

FRED D. ANDERSON
Estimates free

All kinds of heating and plumbing Arcolas, a specialty. 300 Bridge St. Phone 708. 1-10 B&R 1 yr

YOU DON'T TROUBLE US BY telling us your tire troubles. Most up-to-date vulcanizing shop in town We sell Firestone tires. Danville Vulcanizing Co. 6-7R&B1mo

NOTICE, AUTOMOBILE OWNERS —The law requires that you take property damage and public liability insurance on your car before July 1st. We will be glad to serve you. Phone 1732. Ramey & Ashworth. 5-9 B wed fri mon 4 wks.

FLOUR

One hundred barrels of Jefferson and Imperial flour in staves, very cheap to make room. R. L. Campbell & Co. 206 Craghead St. 6-11 B&R 3t

185 hard brick	$2.00
70 pounds cement	.50
2 sheet iron heaters (used) each	1.00
1 $11 00 lawn mower slightly used	8.00
6 joints 6-in. terra cotta, per foot	.20
1 wheelbarrow, slightly used	4.00
1 bedstead, second-hand	3 00
1 12-foot Babcock step-ladder, slightly used	7.00
1 plain ladder	1.00
40 quart fruit jars, each	.05

195 Chatelain Ave

FOR SALE—PERFECTLY NEW Columbia Graphonola. Cost $100.00 will sell for $65.00 cash or on easy terms. Phone 805 6-11 B&R 3t

FOR SALE—HAVING MOVED TO the country I am selling my Direct Action gas stove with Loraine oven heat regulator, can be seen at Clement Chism & Parker's. N Lee Isenhour. 6-11 B&R 3t

NOTICE SUBSCRIBERS CITY & SCHOOLFIELD

If for any reason you fail to receive your copy of THE REGISTER daily Phone 21 between 8 and 9 a. m., and another copy will be sent free of charge. The publisher is anxious that every subscriber receive their paper daily and wants to know whenever there is any irregularity in the delivery of THE REGISTER.

ANNOUNCEMENTS.

INDEPENDENT AUTO RADIATOR Co. Radiator and fender repairing. Ask the man we did the work for. Back of Commercial Bank. 6-1 R&R 26t your shoes to match your dress, Main street Shoe Repair.

WE PAINT

DANVILLE SHU FIX.
Phone 941, 110 South Union. We call for and deliver. 1-10. R&B 1 yr

LOOK
If you want a good used refrigerator at a reasonable price come to our store.

Clutter Furniture Co.
209 N. Union St. 6-8 B fri mo R sun

GENUINE BUICK PARTS AND service, using factory flat-rate prices. Dan Valley Motor Co. Craghead St. Phone 204 6-8 B&R 1mo

SPECIAL SUMMER COURSES: We offer special intensive courses in shorthand, typewriting, bookkeeping, etc, to all enrolling before June 18. You will be interested in our three months proposition. Ask us about it. Danville Commercial College. 6-7Rthu-su B mon

WE HAVE IT
What? A large and varied stock of furniture of good quality and priced right. A warm welcome and a cool breeze awaits you here. Let us serve you.

Clutter Furniture Co.
209 N. Union St. 6-8 B fri mo R sun

SAVE OUR TICKETS AND GET free work. We do all family wash. Phone 921 for wagon. Wet Wash Laundry. 6-7 B tf

FOR GOOD EATS
and service, try the White House Cafe, 116 Market St. 100 per cent. American 5-17 B mo

CLOTHES WASHED 5c
lb. Sent for and delivered. Phone 1332. Danville Damp Laundry. 518 N. Union St. We give S. & H. stamps. 12-27 Btf

MOVED
Auto Tire Sales Co.,
Now located 514 Loyal St Tires, tubes accessories, gas, oil, repairing and storage
9-30-22 B 1 yr.

FURNITURE REPAIRING—UPholstering and refinishing M. C Thacker, Phone 1471-W 6-6 B3t

WANTED—SITUATIONS

WANTED POSITION IN CLOTHing store or any kind of work. Can give satisfactory references J M B, care Register. 6-9R1B2t

WANTED—BOARDERS

WANTED BOARDERS—REASONable rates home cooking, American Style Guarantee plenty to eat. Union Cafe, 214 N. Union St. F. R. Kirks, Prop 6-1 R&B 12t

FOR RENT—STORES

FOR RENT: DEPARTMENT space in good store on Main street. Busy section, with front show case. P. O. Box 696. 6-6R&B6t

WANTED—BOARDERS

WANTED — GIRL BOARDERS. Telephone 1558-W.

WANTED—HOUSES

WANTED — APARTMENT BY July 1st, 3 rooms, bath and kitchenette Address Box 400, care Register. 6-9 B3t

FOR RENT—HOUSES

UNFURNISHED APARTMENT— For rent second floor, 2 rooms, kitchenette and bath. 603 Jefferson St. Phone 111. 6-6 B5t

NEW 5-ROOM BUNGALOW, 3RD avenue, near reservoir. Water, electricity, act quick. Phone 1682-J. 6-6 B2t

FOR RENT—TWO COTTAGES ON Vance St. B H. Custer. 6-6 Btf

FOR RENT—NICELY FURNISHed 5 room apartment until September 2nd. Possession at once. Croxton Apartment No. 3. 6-5 B3t

FOR RENT—13-ROOM HOUSE, all modern improvements, hardwood floors, steam heat, 2 baths, etc. $100 per month. Apply Rippes. 5-22 B tf

FOR RENT — THREE-ROOM house on Claiborne St. Modern conveniences. Phone 1306-W.

LOST AND FOUND.

LOST—FOUNTAIN PEN IN FIRST National Bank. Please return to J. C. B Smith. 847 Main St.

MURDERER OF 30 PEOPLE WILL LODGE AN APPEAL

(By The Associated Press)

MOSCOW, June 9.—Vasili Komaroff, convicted Thursday of the murder of thirty three persons and sentenced, together with his wife, as his accomplice, to be shot within 72 hours, has decided to lodge on appeal to the government in behalf of himself and his wife. Previously Komaroff expressed a desire to be shot.

FOR SALE—MISCELLANEOUS

FOR SALE: 5 CHAIR SHOE shine stand. Apply Bobs Lunch. 6-9R&B2t

FOR SALE: ONE FIRELESS cooker gas range, slightly used. Jno. W. Graves, Phone 535. 6-1R&Btf

FOR SALE—SWEET POTATO slips. 1201 Claiborne St. Phone 1284-J. C C Cox 6-11 B&R

FOR SALE: OLD PAPERS ALSO waste white paper. 100 pounds for 80 cents. Will sell any quantity. 11 pounds 10 cents. The Register Pub. Co R&B tf

FOR SALE: LARGE ICE BOXES suitable for merchants. Jno. W Graves. Phone 535. 6-1 R&B tf

FOR SALE — SHOE SHINING stand, shining chair, two folding screens, wall shelf fixtures. Danville Shu-Fix, 108 S. Union St. Phone 941. 6-5 B&R 6t

FOR SALE—SHOE REPAIR SHOP good location. Bargain. Main Street Shoe Repairer, 318 Main St, Danville, Va 6-5 B&R 6t

FOR SALE—OLD PAper for wrapping purposes. Cheap. Bee Office. 5-16 B&R tf

FOR RENT—ROOMS.

FOR RENT—THERE OR FOUR unfurnished rooms All modern conveniences West Main St, near Mt Vernon church. Address Box 156, or phone 629. 6-10su-tuBmo-tu

FOR RENT — 2 FURNISHED rooms for light housekeeping Phone 902-W 617 Wilson St. 6-8 B6t

FOR RENT — 3 FURNISHED rooms or unfurnished rooms for light housekeeping. Apply in person, 742 Lee St. 6-7 B4t

FOR RENT 4 FURNISHER OR 3 unfurnished rooms in new house Phone 595-J. R&B

FOR RENT 2 UNFURNISHED rooms, first floor. Phone 1306-J. 6-8R&B2t

FOR SALE—REAL ESTATE

FOR SALE: 10 ACRES LAND near Danville on good road. Cheap Owner leaving town Call P H Dillard, 1062-W. 6-10R1tB4t

WANTED — MISCELLANEOUS

WANTED SECOND HAND OR rebuilt planer and matching machine R. C Vaden, Gretna, Va 6-10R&B3t

HELP WANTED

WANTED—10 FIRST-CLASS INside finish carpenters Report for work at once to J A Jones Construction Co, High Point, N C. 6 9 B4t

FIREMEN AND BRAKEMAN, BEginners $150-$250 monthly (which positions?). Write "Railway" The Register R sun 4t B. mon 4t

WANTED A LADY TO WORK IN cafe. Good wages Apply Hatcher's Cafe, corner Henry and Pickett Sts 6-8R&B6t

WANTED—A COLORED EXPERIenced seamstress, one can also do repair work on men's clothes and can help with books, steady job for right one Apply in person to U. S. Street. Reference wanted. Expert French Dry Cleaner and Dyer. 124 Market street.

WANTED—A COMPETENT COLcolored man to take charge of Ford truck for canvassing Steady job for right one. Apply in person to U. S Street, Expert French Dry Cleaner & Dyer 124 Market St

Didn't Need an Alarm Clock

Augusto Morisi, of Springfield, Mass., awoke the other morning long before the alarm went off. Six freight cars escaped from the yards and took a little joy ride which ended as most joy rides do. Morisi and six others, dropped to the cellar when the house was wrecked, escaped serious injury.

He Makes Home-Run Swatsticks

Joseph G. Kren in a little shop ni back of his home at Syracuse, N Y., makes the bats with which many of the home runs of the big leagues are poled out Among his patrons are Babe Ruth, Heine Groh, Rogers Hornsby, Irish and Bob Meusel and Curtis Walker.

WILL OF SMITH IS DISCLOSED

WASHINGTON COURT-HOUSE, Ohio, June9.—Under terms of the will of the late Jessie W. Smith, intimate friend and close political associate of Attorney General Daugherty, who committed suicide in Washington, D C, May 30th, the Attorney General is given a bequest of 25,000

The will probated here today, makes bequest aggregating $190,000. His former wife Rexy R. Stinson, will receive $25,000; Attorney General Daugherty and M S Daugherty $25,000 each; St. John, a cousin of Bristol, Tennesse, $75.000; Mrs, Ella St John, Bristol, Tennessee, $10,000, and two other relatives and friends the will provides for bequests of from $1.000 to $5.000, including $3,5000 to John G Price, of Columbus, former attorney general of Ohio A rosewood desk is given to Mr and Mrs. Edward B McLean of Wshington, D. C.

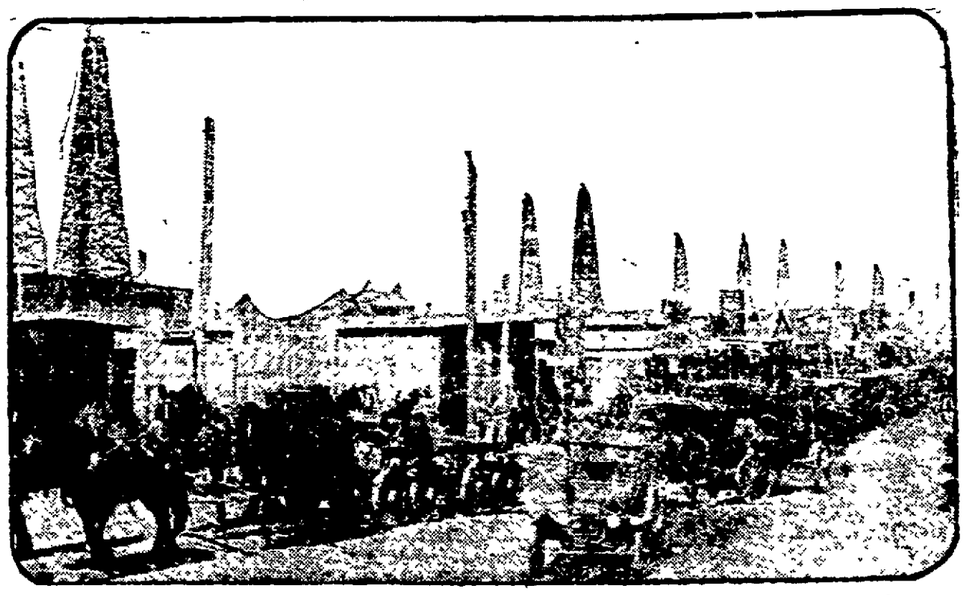

The instrument bears the date of May 11 1922 and makes Harry M. and Mrs Daugherty exrs.

He Got the Right of Way

The traffic cop gave the "block" to Fred St. Onge, prominent San Diego business man, when Onge majestically wheeled down the main thoroughfare in the fashion of the 80's. Yes, the citizens were startled!

LOOKS BUSY, EH? IT'S TYPICAL OIL TOWN

Three Sands, near the center of Tonkawa Pool, is a typical Oklahoma oil town It's one of the sort that sprang up almost over night. A score or more big derricks can be seen back of its one and only street. Three Sands, though it has a population of 5000, can boast of no city officers, no municipal laws, no Chamber of Commerce, schools or churches.

WEST MAIN ST. LOT FOR SALE

Below Market Price To Quick Purchaser.

WADDILL-HOLLAND CO., INC.

Hotel Burton Corner

ARNSTEIN'S FRENCH DRY CLEANING

Call Phone 80
Accordian, Knife and Box Pleating.
"Always the Best."

CHUMBLEY IS HELD FOR DEATH OF MEN

(By The Associated Press)

RICHMOND, Va., June 9— Geo Chumbley, local insurance man, was held responsible by a coroner's jury today for the death of R Culbor Smith, prominent young attorney, who was killed early last Sunday when the automobile in which Smith, Chumbley, T. Foster Witt, and William D Hopper, plunged into a creek on the mountain road near Glen Allen Chumbley was driving the car at the time of the accident.

The jury verdict declared that Chumbley was "careless" in driving the car No formal charges had been made against him late tonight.

The four men left the country club of Virginia, it was said, about four o'clock Sunday morning "for a ride." They drove out the mountain road, and in rounding a stiff curve, the automobile missed the bridge across the creek and plunged over the embankment

TO VOTERS OF PITTSYLVANIA

I beg to announce that I will be a candidate in the democratic primary in August next, for nomination for the office of commonwealth's attorney for this county. I will feel greatly indeoted and deeply grateful to every man and woman who may favor me with support. Respectfully yours,
GEORGE T. RISON.
Chatham, Va 3-28 B&R tf

NOTICE

Notice is herby given that the partnership lately existing between us, the undersigned, H. F. Walker and F D Anderson, under the style of Walker and Anderson Plumbing Company was dissolved on the 1st day of June, 1923 by mutual consent, and the business in the future will be carried on by the said F D Anderson alone, he will pay and discharge all debts and liabilities, and receive all moneys pay-able to the said late firm.
June 1, 1923
F. D. ANDERSON,
H. F WALKER.
6-3 R 7t B6t

NOTICE.

ATTENTION TANK CO., all members 29th Tank Co, Va. National Guard, are ordered to report at their armory at 7:45 o'clock, Monday evening June 11, inst. Semi-annual inspection and no excuse will be accepted.
By order of Capt. A. K Raine.
J. E. SAINTSING,
R&B 1st Lieut and Adjt

ORDER PUBLICATION.

Issued by order of the Clerk of the Corporation Court of Danville, entered on the 2nd day of June 1923.
VIRGINIA:—
In the Clerk's Office of the Corporation Court of Danville on the 2nd, day of June, 1923.
William L Satterfield .....Plaintiff against Nellie H. Satterfield .....Defendant
IN CHANCERY:
The object of this suit is to obtain from the said Court a decree divorcing the plaintiff, William L. Satterfield, a mensa et thoro from the said defendant, Nellie H. Satterfield, on the grounds of cruelty and desertion.
And an affidavit having been made and duly filed that the said defendant Nellie H. Satterfield, is a non-resident of the State of Virginia, it is therefore ordered that she do appear here within Ten days after due publication of this order once a week for four successive weeks in the Bee a newspaper published in the City of Danville, Virginia, and do what is ncessary to protect her interest in this suit.
A Copy Teste —
OTIS BRADLEY,
Clerk.
Carter & Williams, F C
6-4B mon 4t.

"ORDER PUBLICATION."

Issued by order of the Clerk of the Corporation Court of Danville, entered on the 26th day of May, 1923.
VIRGINIA:
In the Clerk's Office of the Corporation Court of Danville, on the 23rd day of May, 1923.
Daisy Dora Radcliff .....Plaintiff against Rufus E Radcliff .....Defendant
IN CHANCERY
The object of this suit is to obtain from the said Court a decree divorcing the plaintiff, Daisy Dora Radcliff, a vinculo matrimonii from the said defendant, Rufus E Radcliff, on the grounds of desertion.
And an affidavit having been made and duly filed that the said defendant Rufus E Radcliff whereabouts are unknown, and that due diligence has been used to ascertain in what county or corporation he is, but without effect, it is therefore ordered that he do appear here within ten days after due publication of this order once a week for four successive weeks in the Bee a newspaper published in the City of Danville, Virginia, and do what is necessary to protect his interest in this suit.
A Copy Teste
OTIS BRADLEY,
Clerk.
Harry Berman, F. C
5-28Bmon 4t.

12c WORTH OF NEWSPAPER WHICH GIVE VALUE?

12C FOR WEDNESDAY NEWS WITH FEATURE AND COMIC SECTION ON SALE THE FOLLOWING SATURDAY

—OR—

12C FOR THE BEE DELIVERED TO YOUR RESIDENCE OR OFFICE SIX DAYS A WEEK WITH "TODAY'S NEWS TODAY," ALL THE LOCAL NEWS AND THE BEST FEATURES. EVERY SATURDAY AN EIGHT PAGE FEATURE AND COMIC SECTION ADDITIONAL.

PHONE 21, CIRCULATION MANAGER OR BUSINESS MANAGER AND HAVE THE BEE STARTED IMMEDIATELY.

The Evening Bee

12C A WEEK DELIVERED

NEWSPAPERARCHIVE®
NEWSPAPERARCHIVE®

LAUNDRY WORK FOR LADIES

Is a specialty in which we excel and in which we take particular pride. No home work can equal ours in daintiness of finish or in care in handling. Garments entrusted to us will be returned immaculate and perfectly ironed and with no trace of injury even to the most delicate fabric. Shall our wagon call?

Home of the Snow-White Finish.

333 PATTON STREET

LAUNDRY CO.

PHONE NO. 85c.

THE HUB

House of Quality

307 Main St.

Headquarters For Men and Boys' Wear

'CHIROPRACTIC'

The Science that makes people Well and Happy. Why not investigate and become healthy and happy?

E. J. BINKLEY,

Palmer School Chiropractor.

Office Southern Amusement B'dg. Hours 9-12; 2-5; 7-8. Consultation Absolutely FREE. Phone 2021. Other hours by appointment.

SERVICE THAT COUNTS

Private Laying Out Rooms. Free Funeral Chapel

T. A. FOX & CO.

Funeral Directors

631 Main St. Phone 45

NOTICE REGISTER MAIL SUBSCRIBERS

If for any reason your paper fails to arrive regularly the publisher would appreciate it if you will notify him at once. THE REGISTER has secured more subscribers during the past eight weeks than any similar period during the seventy-six years it has been serving the public and it is most likely that a few of the papers have not been routed by the most direct route or the initials are incorrect.

U-Drive-It Company

Rent a Car and Drive it Yourself Fords, Hupmobiles, Studebakers Open Day and Night.

Phone 11 or 87. Danville, Virginia

TYPEWRITERS
WOODSTOCK DISTRIBUTOR
All makes cleaned, repaired or rebuilt. Rebuilt machines for sale. Ribbons for All Makes.
WOODSTOCK TYPE SALES CO.
119 Market St. Phone 1811-J.

F. L. Walker Coal Co.
Lynn St.
Telephone 92.

The Mutual Life Insurance Co.

of New York.

80 Years of Faithful Service.

H. A. CONNER, District Manager

No. 205 Masonic Temple.

WE APPRECIATE THE INCONVENIENCE of broken glasses, and are fully prepared to give you prompt service.

But why not take time by the forelock and get that extra pair before the accident occurs?

If made with tinted lenses they will answer a double purpose—for outdoor use and emergencies.

The S. Galeski Optical Co.

Manufacturing and Dispensing Opticians
208 MAIN STREET. KODAK HEADQUARTERS

PARKING SPACE

Presents a difficult problem for Danville. And yet however, there is plenty of space as well as safety in the COMMERCIAL BANK.

You don't need to park your money under the mattress, in the cooking stove, or in the old cracked teapot.

Let the money YOU have earned earn four per cent. for YOU here.

COMMERCIAL BANK

"The Bank With The Chime Clock."

Stock Report

Thomson & McKinnon (Noon Report.)

Atchison	103
Anaconda Copper	45½
Allied Chemical & Dye	70½
Amer. Smelting & Refining	61⅞
American Beet Sugar	37⅛
American Locomotive	141½
American Tel. & Tel.	124⅝
American International	21⅝
American Can	99¾
American Sugar	73
Amer. Tob., com.	148¼
American Woolen	92¼
Baldwin Locomotive	132
Bethlehem Steel "B"	53
Baltimore & Ohio	51⅝
Canadian Pacific	154⅜
Coca Cola	82½
Chesapeake & Ohio	65⅞
Cosden & Co.	46⅝
Corn Products	132½
Crucible Steel	74¼
Cerro de Pasco	43
Chile Copper	27½
Cuba Cane Sugar, com.	13¾
Cuba Cane Sugar, pfd.	49
Chicago, R. I. & Pac.	32⅝
Chicago, Mil. & St. Paul	23
do. pfd.	40¼
Chicago & N. W.	80¾
Consolidated Textile	9⅞
Endicott-Johnson	69⅝
Erie, com.	13¼
Erie, first pfd.	20⅞
Famous Players-Lasky	79
General Motors	15
General Asphalt	31¾
Great Northern, pfd.	74⅞
Gulf States Steel	84¼
Houston Oil	62
Hudson Motors	25¼
Int. Mer. Marine, pfd.	27½
International Paper	43½
Invincible Oil	13½
International Nickel	15
Kennecott Copper	36⅝
Kelly-Springfield Tire	43¾
Lima Locomotive	65⅞
Missouri Pacific, com.	15¾
Missouri Pacific, pfd.	41
Middle States Oil	8⅞
Mexican Seaboard	17½
Mont. Ward & Co.	23⅜
Miami Copper	26
Marland Oil	41⅞
Norfolk & Western	110
North American Co.	21
Northern Pacific	74
New York Central	101⅝
N. Y., N. H. & Hartford	18½
N. Y. Air Brake "A"	49
N. Y. Air Brake	37½
Pennsylvania	44
Pacific Oil	36
Pan-Amer. Petroleum	74
Phillips Petroleum	49
Pere Marquette	47
Producers & Refrs.	41
Penn-Seaboard Steel	3⅞
Royal Dutch, N. Y.	48
Reading	76⅝
R. J. Reynolds "B"	65
Ry Consolidated	13
Rep. Iron & Steel	50½
Sinclair Oil & Refining	28
Southern Pacific	91
Studebaker Corporation	111⅞
Standard Oil of Calif.	53½
Standard Oil of N. J.	33⅞
Sears Roebuck	78
Southern Railway, com.	36¼
Southern Railway, pfd.	67⅞
Skelly Oil	22⅝
Simms Petroleum	9¾
Tobacco Products	54
Texas Co.	44⅞
Texas & Pacific	23⅝
Texas Pac. C. & O.	14
Union Pacific	138
Utah Copper	64
United States Rubber	50⅞
United States Steel	96¼
Vanadium Corp.	33¼
Virginia Caro. Chem.	9½
do. pfd.	26½
Westinghouse Electric	56½
Wabash pfd. "A"	31¾
Union Carbide	57⅝

Sales to noon, 365,000 shares.

COTTON MARKET

(By The Associated Press)

NEW YORK, June 11.—Increasing alarm over new prospects resulting from reports of rain was responsible for sharp advances in the cotton market today. The advance began in Liverpool before local trading started and the opening was firm on an advance of 20 to 64 points. The higher cables were accompanied by Liverpool buying orders and there was heavy commission house buying which soon sent the active months 70 to 80 points above Saturday's closing figures with July at 28.60 and October 22.10.

Cotton futures opened firm:

July	26.20
October	24.85
December	24.15
January	22.82
March	23.75

COPS' PLANE FORCED DOWN

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J. June 9.—W. M. Sweet and Charles Kingston, both said to be connected with the New York Police Department, were forced to land their seaplane in the ocean, off Beach Haven, early this morning, when a leak was discovered in the gasoline tank.

he men told Federal coastguards at the Little Egg Harbor station that they were flying from Norfolk to New York when the accident happened to their machine. Neither was injured. They plan to remain at Beach Haven until th eplane, which was towed to a dock by the coastguards, is repaired.

City Fire Alarm Boxes

Look over the list of fire alarm boxes below memorige the number of the one neorest your house or business concern, also its location, so there will be no loss of time in finding it in event of fire in the neighborhood.

When the fire is detected and a telephone can be reached quicker than the alarm box, call "Fire Station."

12	Lynn and Wilson
13	Craghead and Newton
14	Craighead and Shelton
15	Bridge and Colquhoun
16	Bridge and Main
17	Main and Union
18	East Craghead
19	East Lynn
22	Loyal and Tazewell Alley
23	Union and High
24	Upper and Floyd
25	Grove and Gay
26	Main and Holbrook Ave
27	South Main and Gray
28	Holbrook and Gay
29	Mt. Vernon and West Main
32	Lee and Berryman Ave.
33	Monument and Cabell
34	Chestnut and Green
35	Five Forks
36	Paxton and Holbrook Ave.
37	Colquhoun
38	Lynn and Colquhoun
39	Stokes and Jefferson
42	Main and Jefferson
43	Ridge and Monroe
45	Ridge and Patton
64	Bread
65	W. Main Extension
123	Main and River
124	Reservoir Hill
125	McFall's Drug Store
126	Bellevue and Claiborne
128	Thomas and Claiborne
132	Sublett's Store, Main
134	Noble Ave. and E. Thomas
135	Washington and First
136	Campbell and Wiley
137	Scales and Cliff

TROUBLE

You are having in recognizing faces at a distance, threading a fine needle and reading smaller print, can easily be done away with by having me test your eyes and making glasses to suit your personal needs.

EYES TESTED WITHOUT CHARGE.

Phone 371-J Office No. 5 Entrance Market St.

DR. B. LEVINSON OPTICIAN

Over the First National Bank Danville, Va.

Unknown at Home, a Hit Abroad

Emma Redell was little known when she lived in Washington, D. C. She has just started o nan operatic career in Vienna and those who have heard her say she will soon be the sensation of Europe.

Connecticut Is Still Hoping

(By Chicago Tribune Service.)

HARTFORD, Conn., June 11.—Although a last ditch foe of consittutional prohibition from conviction, Connecticut is unable to make up its mind whether the Al Smith brew of moist hopes (not hops) is sure enough four per cent. or even 2.75 per cent. or just the same old one-half of one per cent. alcoholic content.

Connecticut is willing, nay eager, to be shown but just now Connecticut is a trifle bored by the antics of communities which find they rushed too rashly into national prohbition and now want to back rtack. Their hindsight was Connecticut's foresight and the nutmeg makers are now chorusing "We told you so."

Wrong in principle and an outrage on personal liberty Connecticut pronounced the 18th amendment from the start, and would have none of it. The State steadfastly has refused to ratify the amendment and with Rhode Island has declined to line up with the other forty-six in formal acceptance of the incorporation of prohibition into the organic law.

But when the Eighteenth Amendment becomes the law, Connecticut, without surrendering its convcitions of the law's impropriety and injustice, passed an enforcement act from a sense of duty, its legislators explained.

Thus it falls out that Connecticut is wasting no sympathy on New York and Maryland and Massachusetts, all of which ratified the Eighteenth Amendment but dont like it any more and refuse to enforce it by State law.

The Republicans are as wet as the Democrats in this State and all are hoping that the present reaction against the Volstead Act in the east is the beginning of a "return to sanity" on the part of the whole nation.

Hoping—but they fear forlornly so far as the 1924 election is likely to restore beer and light wines. It is more likely to take several years to get 2.75 per cent. beer legalized they suspect.

The wet Republican leaders opine that President Harding is going to be re-nominated and re-elected on a platform as dry as an anti-Saloon League pronunciamento and the wet Democratic leaders say they are going to the Democratic national convention to work for a wet plank and a wet candidate but they doubt that they will get either. In both camps there is the judgment that the country is still strongup committed to unmodified prohibition and that each party will trim its sails accordingly.

That the wets will gain strength in the next Congress the Connecticut leaedrs do not doubt, but they do not expect a majority for modification of the Volstead Act to be obtained in both houses until an election shall have carried on a specific party platform declaration therefore.

If, however, the democrats of the Solid South should show a disposition to back Governor Smith's application of their ancient theory of State's rights to the prohibition question the movement to write a wet plank into the Democratic platform next year would be given extraordinary impetus.

When it comes to candidates the Connecticut Democrats as one of their chieftains put it, are waiting until they are sure they can distinguish between a bandwagan and a hearse. If this uncertainty continues until next Spring they probably will play safe by indorsing their national committeeman, Homer Cummings, pending negotiations in the convention.

Senator Underwood, of Alabama, for whom Connecticut voted at first in the Baltimore convention, is still highly favored. He is satisfactorily wet. Al Smith also has a strong following in this State while McAdoo is too dry to suit. One Democratic leader, who is a Catholic, thinks it extremely unlikely that the party would nominate Smith, a Catholic, at a time when the Ku Klux Klan is a political factor. Because of his recognized pre-eminent qualifications as a vote getter, however, Smith might be nominated for vice-president, as running mate for McAdoo or some other western man, the theory being that Smith on the ticket would sweep the wet East into the Democratic column.

Testimony on all sides here is that Connecticut is enjoying a high degree of prosperity and that folks are not paying much attention to politics.

If the prosperity continues till election time next year it will be pretty difficult to beat President Harding. Democratic leaders concede. The Republicans appear to be unauimously for the re-nomination of the president but they are divided on the world court, with the majority probably supporting the irreconcilable position of Senator Brandegee.

—Troy and Walter Privett, of Liberty, N. C., spent the week-end in Danville with their aunt, Mrs. J. R. Fentriss.

THE BEE

12c A WEEK

ASSOCIATED PRESS

CHICAGO TRIBUNE SERVICE

N. E. A. SERVICE

Page Of Comics and Two Serial Stories Daily

Comic and Feature Section Every Saturday

THE BEE

12c a week delivered by independent carrier. Bee carriers completely cover the city daily. Phone 21 and enjoy reading the most accurate news account and the best features daily.

Daily Puzzle

A man and his sister were walking along the street. "That girl on the other side of the street," said the woman, "is my niece."

"But she is not my niece," said the man. Can you explain this curious relationship?

Yesterday's answer:
"Hottentot" can be formed from 13 vertical lines by the addition of 13 more straight lines.

Workmen Injured At Schoolfield

W. Moore, of Philadelphia, and J. Ballock, of Asheville, N. C., employees of the Johns-Manville Company, were severely injured Sunday morning about 10:30 at Schoolfield, when the scaffolding upon which they were working broke, dropping them a distance of about 15 feet upon a concrete floor. Moore's right leg was broken at the knee and Ballock's right arm was fractured and his back severely hurt. The injured men were carried to the General Hospital by Dr. C. W. Pritchett, where it was reported today that they were resting very well.

The two men were covering steam pipes with asbestos while the mills were at a standstill and one of the planks on the scaffold broke, causing their fall, it is reported.

STOCK MARKET

(By The Associated Press)

NEW YORK, June 11.—Prices displayed a strong tone at the opening of the stock market. Heavy rail buying particularly the low priced issues was the feature but a good demand was seen in steel equipment and other standard issues. Gains of a point or more were shown by Atlantic Coast Line, Northern and West Chicago and East Illinois, Colorado Southern, Corn Products and Crucible.

BROADWAY
ALWAYS A GOOD SHOW

—Today—

Betty Compson, Conway Tearle

ANNA Q. NILSSON,

—In—

"The Rustle of Silk"

—Also—

Aesops Fable Scenic Field & Streams "GOOSE"

AUTOMOBILE PAINTING

Now that the Easter rush is over let us figure with you on repainting and re-topping your car.

Snyder Painting and Trimming Co.

208 N. Main Phone 2202

PREST-O-LITE STORAGE BATTERIES AND SERVICE.

John R. Bendall, Vulcanizing at

O. K. Service Station

Phone 2002.
Patton, Bridge and Main.

FOR THE JUNE BRIDE

JEWELRY

Gifts that Last.

Our stock offers you a wide and pleasing selection in gold and silver Jewelry—Diamonds, Watches—We invite comparison.

P. P. BOOTH & CO.

Masonic Temple (1st. Door Below Entrance.)

WEST END LOTS FOR SALE

On College Ave. and Carolina Street.

Beautiful high location, good view, good neighborhood, lots lay well. In line of growth of best residential section.

CITY CONVENIENCES

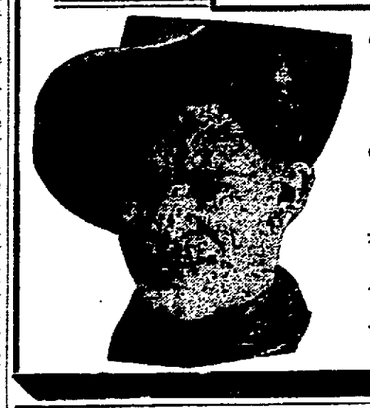

Sewer and Sidewalk Now Being Laid.

Buy now while prices are low. Only a limited number of these lots unsold. Easy terms if desired.

PHONE 3.

J. E. PERKINSON

5c—17c BIJOU Today

"BIG BOY" WILLIAMS

—In—

"THE COWBOY KING"

A Startling tale of the old West and two-fisted fighting men

There's a thrill in every foot.

Comedy—"Traffic."

Ford

THE UNIVERSAL CAR

THE FORD MOTOR COMPANY

On May 9, 1923, produced 6615 Ford Cars and Trucks, which means that one Ford Car was completed every FOUR SECONDS.

This statement alone is enough to convince you what car you should buy.

Place Your Order Today

Crowell Auto Co., Inc.

DANVILLE, VA.,

Craghead at Newton, Phone 2120

NEWSPAPERARCHIVE®
NEWSPAPERARCHIVE®